Professional accounts in foreign currency may be opened by (1) resident individuals, (2) Tunisian legal entities, and (3) foreign legal entities in Tunisia with foreign currency assets in connection with their activities. These accounts may be credited with (1) up to 100% of foreign exchange proceeds from the account holder’s exports and foreign currency loans contracted in under current regulations, (2) interest accrued on the balances of these accounts, (3) transfers from the account holder’s other professional accounts in the same foreign currency or any other foreign currency, and (4) deposits of banknotes imported by foreigners and declared at customers. Foreign banknotes are deposited on the basis of a copy of the foreign currency import declaration accompanied by the original. After signing off on the two documents and indicating the amount paid in foreign currency, the authorized intermediary returns the original to its holder. Credit operations on the account must be performed on the basis of appropriate documents (contracts, pro forma, final invoices, etc.). Accounts may be debited for (1) payment of current operations pertaining to the activity for which they were opened and (2) other transactions with general or specific authorization. Balances may be sold in the foreign exchange money market. Holders of professional foreign exchange accounts must first use the cash in their account and should retain in the account only amounts they actually need to pay their expenses in foreign currency. Any surplus must be surrendered for dinars in the foreign exchange market. Further, authorized intermediaries may sell foreign currency spot or through hedging to account holders with funds in their professional foreign exchange account(s) only to acquire funds for... payments exceeding the amount available in these accounts.
Foreign currency term deposits are deemed to be deposits available in the account.
Authorized intermediaries must require operators to certify that they do not have the necessary funds available in their professional foreign exchange accounts with another authorized intermediary before selling foreign exchange to them.

Residents may freely open foreign currency international trading accounts for payments related to their international trade and brokerage operations and associated expenses. These accounts may be credited with (1) the proceeds from exports of goods for which advance payment was received, (2) profits and/or commissions from international trade and brokerage operations, (3) foreign currency loans contracted to finance trade operations, (4) foreign currency from trade operations repurchased in the exchange market after it is sold in the market, and (5) interest generated by deposits in the account. They may be debited for (1) payments for purchases made within the framework of international trade operations and associated expenses, (2) settlement of expenses related to international brokerage operations, (3) repayment of foreign currency loans, (4) settlement of current operations carried out under exchange and foreign trade regulations and any operation carried out with general or special authorization, and (5) sales of foreign currencies in the exchange market.

Effective January 30, 2019, “start-up accounts in foreign currency” may be opened in the name of each resident company, with the “start-up” label issued in accordance with the regulations in force. The “start-up account in foreign currency” may be credited with: (1) foreign currency originating from export transactions of goods and services carried out by the start-up account holder; (2) foreign currency originating from (1) nonresident participation in the capital of the start-up, (2) acquisitions by nonresidents of bonds convertible into shares issued by the start-up, (3) advances in associated current accounts, and (4) in general any form of quasi-equity in the start-up’s foreign currency. The import of foreign currency for these operations must be the subject of investment forms drawn up in accordance with the regulations in force; (3) profits accruing to the start-up, made in respect of its investments referred to in paragraph (d) of Article 4 of Circular No. 2019-01; (4) interest earned on sums held in this account under the conditions set by the BCT for the foreign currency accounts of residents; (5) transfers from another “start-up account in foreign currency” of the same holder.

To pay their expenses in foreign currency, holders of professional foreign exchange accounts must first use the cash in their account and retain in the account only amounts they actually need. Surplus must be surrendered for dinars in the foreign exchange market. Further, authorized intermediaries may sell foreign currency spot or through hedging to account holders who have deposits in their professional foreign exchange account(s) only to acquire funds to make payments in excess of the amount available in these accounts. Foreign currency term deposits are deemed to be deposits available in the account. Authorized intermediaries must require operators to certify that they do not have the necessary funds available in their professional foreign exchange accounts with another authorized intermediary before selling foreign exchange to them.

PPR accounts in convertible dinars may be opened by resident individuals authorized to open PPR accounts in foreign currencies.

“Tourist travel” accounts in convertible dinars may be opened by resident individuals with the balance of a travel allowance not fully used up abroad. These accounts may be freely credited no later than 15 days after returning to Tunisia with (1) the unused amount of the allowance and (2) interest earned on the amounts deposited in the accounts. The accounts may be freely debited for (1) payments in Tunisia, (2) the purchase of foreign exchange or the issuance of an international payment card linked to the account of its holder for payment of living expenses abroad, and (3) payment from Tunisia of foreign hotel booking expenses on behalf of the account holder by means of an international payment card.

Nonresident Accounts

Foreign exchange accounts permitted Yes. Foreign accounts in convertible currency may be opened by all nonresidents, regardless of nationality. These accounts may be credited with (1) receipts in convertible foreign currency (banknotes must be declared at customs); (2) foreign exchange remitted to the account holder by a nonresident; (3) authorized payments by residents in favor of the account holder; (4) interest payable by authorized intermediaries on foreign exchange deposits in these accounts; (5) transfers from other foreign accounts; and (6) the proceeds of cashed checks, traveler’s checks, or drafts in convertible currency and made out by a nonresident to the order of the account holder. Other credits require BCT authorization, either directly or by delegation. These accounts may be debited freely for (1) payments of any kind in Tunisia; (2) transfers abroad or delivery of foreign currency to the account holder, another nonresident beneficiary, or residents who are permanent representatives or salaried employees of the account holder; and (3) transfers to other foreign accounts. Nonresident Libyans may open accounts in foreign exchange called foreign currency accounts of nonresident Libyans. These accounts may be credited with funds from (1) sales of foreign banknotes in any amount without customs declaration of importation, as set out in the foreign exchange notice published in the Official Journal of the Tunisian Republic of February 3, 2006, and Circular to Authorized Intermediaries No. 94-13 of September 7, 1994; and (2) interest on the account in accordance with BCT regulations. These accounts may be freely debited for (1) payments of any kind in Tunisia in dinars and (2) investment in currency in accordance with the regulations. Other debits and credits are subject to BCT approval. These accounts may not be overdrawn.
Domestic currency accounts Yes. Domestic nonresident accounts may be opened by authorized intermediaries in the name of nonresident individuals of foreign nationality residing temporarily in Tunisia. These accounts may be credited without authorization from the BCT with the following: (1) transfers of funds from abroad in convertible currency; (2) revenue of any kind accruing in Tunisia to the account holder; (3) liquid assets from estates settled in Tunisia; (4) proceeds from the repayment of loans in dinars by debiting the account; and (5) transfers from another domestic nonresident account opened in the name of the account holder. They may be debited for (1) support of account holders and their family in Tunisia, (2) payment of costs of managing property in Tunisia, (3) lending to residents, and (4) transfers to another domestic nonresident account opened in the name of the account holder.

Special dinar accounts may be opened freely by nonresident foreign enterprises with contracts in Tunisia. These enterprises are authorized to open for each contract a single special account in dinars, in which they may deposit the portion of the contract price payable in dinars to cover their local expenses. These accounts may also be credited with funds from a foreign account in foreign exchange or in convertible dinars, the dinar equivalent of any transfer in convertible foreign currency from abroad, and interest accruing on funds deposited in the account. The accounts may be freely debited for enterprises' contract-related expenses in Tunisia. These enterprises are free to retransfer dinar equivalents credited to their foreign exchange accounts, provided the funds available in the account are sufficient to cover the transfer. Any transfer operations from such accounts must be authorized by the BCT. Interest is paid at the same rates as those applied to resident demand accounts in dinars.

Capital accounts may be opened freely in the name of a nonresident individual of foreign nationality or by a nonresident legal entity. Subject to certain conditions, capital accounts may be credited, without the approval of the BCT, with the proceeds of sales on the stock exchange or the contractual or advance redemption of transferable Tunisian securities; the sales proceeds of real estate through an attorney at the Supreme Court, or of rights to real estate situated in Tunisia; and funds from another capital account. Capital accounts may be freely debited for the living expenses in Tunisia of account holders and their family, up to TD 100 a person a week, provided the total withdrawals from one or more capital accounts in a calendar year do not exceed TD 2,000. Such accounts may also be debited, subject to certain conditions, for expenses connected with the management of Tunisian securities; the maintenance, repair, and insurance of real estate and all taxes; and transfer for credit to another capital account. Balances on capital accounts are freely transferable between nonresidents of foreign nationality, with the exception of legal entities governed by public law. Subject to certain conditions, they may also be debited to assist the account holder’s parents and offspring residing in Tunisia, up to TD 50 a person a month. These accounts do not pay interest and may not be overdrawn.

Suspense accounts may be opened by all nonresidents regardless of nationality and may be used for crediting all proceeds accruing to nonresidents and awaiting use. These proceeds may, on general or specific approval, be used in Tunisia for specific purposes, transferred abroad, or transferred to other nonresident accounts. Suspense accounts may be debited, without the authorization of the BCT, for payments to the Tunisian government or public institutions.
or payment of the expenses for managing securities deposited in a suspense file opened in the name of the account holder. They may also be debited for settlement of living expenses in Tunisia by account holders and their family, up to TD 100 a person a week, provided the total withdrawals in any calendar year from one or more accounts do not exceed TD 2,000 a family. In addition, a suspense account holder traveling in Tunisia between November 1 and March 31 of the following year may withdraw from the account an amount equal to the foreign exchange imported for the trip and surrendered to the BCT, an authorized intermediary, or a subagency, provided the total withdrawals for the living expenses of account holders and their family do not exceed TD 2,000 a year.

Nonresident individuals of Libyan nationality may freely open accounts in Tunisian dinars. These accounts may be freely credited with funds from (1) cash payments in dinars made by the account holder or by any other nonresident individual of Libyan nationality; (2) the dinar equivalents of funds from convertible currency accounts of nonresidents; (3) convertible dinar accounts of nonresidents; (4) an account in dinars opened in the name of a nonresident Libyan; and (5) investment income from funds in the account as prescribed by the BCT for dinar accounts. These accounts may be debited freely for (1) payments in Tunisia in dinars, including for credit to dinar accounts of nonresident Libyans opened in the name of a nonresident Libyan; and (2) investment in dinars in accordance with the regulations. Other debits and credits are subject to approval by the BCT. These accounts may not be overdrawn.

Foreign accounts in convertible dinars may be opened by all nonresidents, regardless of nationality. These accounts may be freely credited with (1) the dinar proceeds from sales of foreign currency on the foreign exchange market (banknotes must be declared at customs); (2) proceeds from authorized payments by residents in favor of the account holder; (3) proceeds from the conversion of cashed checks, traveler’s checks, or drafts expressed in foreign currency and made out by a nonresident to the order of the account holder; (4) transfers from other foreign accounts; and (5) interest on balances in these accounts. No other amount may be credited to these accounts without BCT authorization, granted either directly or by delegation. These accounts may be freely debited for (1) payments of any kind in Tunisia and (2) purchases on the foreign exchange market of foreign currency either for transfers abroad or for delivery to the account holder, to any other nonresident beneficiary, or to residents who are representatives or salaried employees of the account holder.

Nonresident Libyans may open accounts in convertible dinars called “accounts in convertible dinars of nonresident Libyans.” These accounts may be credited with funds from (1) the sale of foreign banknotes, in any amount without customs declaration of importation, as set out in the foreign exchange notice published in the Official Journal of the Tunisian Republic of February 3, 2006, and Circular to Authorized Intermediaries No. 94-13 of September 7, 1994; and (2) interest earned on funds deposited in the account as determined by the BCT for foreign currency accounts of nonresidents. These accounts may be debited for (1) payments in Tunisia in dinars and (2) investment in convertible dinars in accordance with the regulations. Other debits and credits are subject to approval by the BCT. These accounts may not be overdrawn.

| Foreign exchange budget | No. |
| Financing requirements for imports | Yes. To pay their expenses in foreign currency, resident holders of professional foreign exchange accounts must first use the funds in their account and retain in the account only amounts they actually need. Surplus must be surrendered for dinars in the foreign exchange market. Further, authorized intermediaries may sell foreign currency spot or through hedging to account holders who have deposits in their professional foreign exchange account(s) only to acquire funds to make payments in excess of the amount available in these accounts. Foreign currency term deposits are deemed to be deposits available in the account. Authorized intermediaries must require operators to certify that they do not have the necessary funds available in their professional foreign exchange accounts with another authorized intermediary before selling foreign exchange to them. |
| Minimum financing requirements | No. |
| Advance payment requirements | Yes. Resident operators may make advance payments for their imports, provided they are issued with a first-demand bank guarantee. The issuance of such a guarantee is not required for the settlement of advance payments relating to the importation of products intended for direct use by the resident importer in the production cycle of goods or services of its business or of products necessary for the execution of a government contract, and this, within the limit of the quantities provided for by this contract. Effective February 4, 2020, Circular No. 2020-02 clarified and eased certain requirements for advance payment. The advance payment may not exceed 50% of the value of the import operation subject to the payment, except when the value of the imported products does not exceed TD 20,000. The advance payment must be made on submission of the commercial contract or a copy of the market contract. Advance payment of the price of imported goods is permitted, provided: (1) the imported goods are intended for direct use by the resident importer in the production cycle of goods or services of its business; (2) the value of the goods subject to the import operation is not more than TD 20,000 as stipulated in the commercial contract; (3) the advance payment is required by the supplier under the commercial contract. Sales prices may be settled by any means of payment, where the related contracts provide for payment terms of up to 60 days from the date of shipment of the goods. Sales for which the related contracts provide for payment terms ranging from 61 days to 360 days from the date of shipment of the goods are made freely when they meet one of the following conditions: (1) They are accompanied by a payment guarantee issued by a nonresident bank. (2) They provide for the opening of an irrevocable documentary credit or standby LC for the benefit of the resident exporter. (3) They provide for payment by a draft issued in the name of the approved intermediary or endorsed in its favor and endorsed by a nonresident bank. (4) They are covered by an export credit insurance policy. In addition, sales for which the related contracts provide for payment periods ranging from 61 days to 360 days from the date of shipment | of goods and which do not meet one of the conditions referred to in Article 11 paragraph 1 of Circular No. 2020-02 as well as sales providing for payment periods exceeding 360 days are subject to prior authorization of the BCT. For sales paid by documentary credit or documentary remittance against payment or acceptance, the exporter must submit to the Authorized Intermediary, on receipt of the goods by the carrier, the documents representing the goods (final invoice, transport document, etc.). Any direct delivery of these documents to the customer or the carrier is prohibited.

Exports and Export Proceeds

Repatriation requirements | Yes. | Export proceeds must be repatriated within 10 days of the payment due date. If no credit is extended, payment is due within, effective February 4, 2020, 60 days (previously 30 days) of the date of shipment. Nonresident companies exclusively engaged in exporting goods or services and covered by Law No. 2016-71 of September 30, 2016 relating to investment, as well as nonresident international trading companies and nonresident enterprises established in an economic business park, are not required to repatriate or surrender their export proceeds. Authorized intermediaries must repatriate to their CB accounts any positive balance on correspondent accounts related to residents’ foreign exchange transactions at the end of every business day. Balances resulting from nonresident transactions may be kept in correspondent accounts and invested abroad. Exports by nonresidents are subject only to customs declaration.

Surrender requirements | Yes. | Resident exporters may retain in their professional accounts up to 100% of their foreign exchange export proceeds and their foreign currency loans contracted in accordance with existing exchange regulations. To pay their expenses in foreign currency, holders of professional foreign exchange accounts must first use the funds in their account and should retain in the account only amounts they actually need. Any surplus must be surrendered for dinars in the foreign exchange market, potentially amounting to 100% of the proceeds repatriated.

Indicative limits/bona fide test | No. |

Investment-related payments | Yes. | Income from foreign capital invested in accordance with the laws and regulations in effect and interest on foreign currency loans contracted by residents in accordance with the regulations in effect may be transferred freely in accordance with the provisions of Article 1 of the Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Code and various BCT circulars. Rent from real estate purchased or constructed before 1956, owned by nonresidents, may be transferred. Rent from second homes owned by nonresidents and integrated into tourism projects is freely transferable.

Prior approval

Quantitative limits | No. |
Indicative limits/bona fide test | No. |

Payments for travel | Yes. | The annual allowance for tourism travel is TD 6,000 an adult and TD 3,000 a child under 10.
---|---|---

Quantitative limits | Yes. | The business travel allowance (Allocation Voyages d’Affaires—AVA) for exporters is 25% of export proceeds for the current year. Any unused portion of this allowance may be carried forward to subsequent years, provided the cumulative amount does not exceed the annual limit of TD 500,000.

Effective February 4, 2020, resident individuals or legal entities that have concluded contracts for studies, design, works, monitoring, control, and other services with a contracting authority based outside Tunisia may apply to approved intermediaries for business travel allowances for “Contracts Executable Abroad.” The amount of this allowance is set at 15% of the portion of the contract price payable in convertible currencies under which the granting of the allowance is requested. These individuals and entities can combine the “Exporter” business travel allowance and the “Contracts Executable Abroad” business travel allowance. Under no circumstances may the foreign currency receipts that have already been used for the calculation of the transfer rights under one of the two allowances be included in the foreign currency receipts accepted for the calculation of the transfer.

Previously, resident individuals and legal entities that had signed service or work contracts with nonresidents that could be fully or partially implemented abroad could receive an “Exporter” business travel advance based on the agreed amount payable in convertible foreign exchange indicated in the agreement, within the annual limit. Resident individuals and legal entities that do not receive “Exporter” or the “Contracts Executable Abroad” business travel allowances and that carry out a professional activity requiring travel abroad and that are among the activities listed in the list may apply to approved intermediaries for business travel allowances for “Other Activities.” The amount of the “Other Activities” business travel allowance is set at: 8% of the turnover excluding taxes of the previous year declared to the tax authorities with a ceiling of TD 50,000 a calendar year for the activities mentioned in numbers 1–25 of the list in Annex No. 2 to Circular No. 2020-03. The allowance is set at TD 400,000 a calendar year for banking activity.

Developers of new projects for which the execution requires travel abroad may receive a business travel allowance for “Other Activities” of TD 50,000.

Residents are required to repatriate promptly all income from investment abroad as well as all proceeds from the divestiture or liquidation of such investments.

Stocks in existing companies in Tunisia may be acquired freely with foreign exchange transferred from abroad by foreign nonresidents. Authorization from the Higher Investment Commission (HIC) for acquisition by foreigners of shares with voting rights when the foreign ownership in the capital of the companies is equal to or more than 50% is no longer required.

The following two operations are no longer subject to prior authorization from the BCT: (1) Acquisition, through outward payment of the relevant price, of stock or equity stakes in resident companies operating in Tunisia in accordance with the relevant legislation, by a nonresident individual or legal entity of foreign nationality from a nonresident individual or legal entity of foreign nationality; and (2) subscription by nonresidents to increase capital in companies established in Tunisia in accordance with the relevant legislation, by conversion of advances on their partner current accounts arranged in foreign exchange to capital stakes in accordance with the current foreign exchange regulations.

Nonresidents may sell freely shares of companies established in Tunisia. They may also transfer freely net real proceeds from the sale of shares that were purchased with foreign exchange transferred from... abroad for an investment made in accordance with the legislation in effect, pursuant to Article 1 of the Foreign Exchange and Foreign Trade Code and Circular No. 2018-14 of December 26, 2018, relating to investment in foreign currency by nonresidents in Tunisia.

Purchase abroad by residents

Yes. The acquisition of assets abroad by residents is subject to BCT authorization. However, resident exporters may transfer freely the equivalent of TD 100,000–1 million a year, or up to TD 3 million a year for those who use the foreign exchange export proceeds held in their professional accounts to finance equity participation in companies abroad. Nonexporting companies may transfer funds abroad for equity participation in the amount of TD 100,000– 500,000.

Sale or issue abroad by residents

Yes. Any act intended to dispose of or to change the composition of the assets of persons abroad and to reduce their rights to these assets is subject to the approval of the BCT.

All residents are required to declare to the BCT and to repatriate their foreign assets invested from Tunisia.

However, Tunisian nationals returning to Tunisia from abroad and foreign individuals in Tunisia are subject to the obligation to declare and repatriate their assets accumulated abroad before the date of change of residence.

Bonds or other debt securities

Yes.

Purchase locally by nonresidents

Yes. Subscription by nonresident foreigners of debt securities issued by the government or resident companies is subject to BCT approval, except (1) 20% of the estimated semiannual amount of treasury bond issues and (2) 20% of bonds issued by resident companies listed on the stock exchange or with a rating from a rating agency. Such bonds are not subject to a minimum holding period requirement.

Sale or issue locally by nonresidents

Yes. Transfers linked to the redemption of public securities are made on the basis of a notification of execution delivered by the intermediary authorized to engage in transactions involving such securities and after verification—with respect to the latter, as in the case of private securities—that the initial acquisition was financed by means of imported foreign exchange, pursuant to the provisions of Circular

The issue of bonds or other debt securities on the national market by nonresidents is subject to prior authorization.

Purchase abroad by residents

Yes. The acquisition of assets abroad by residents is subject to BCT authorization. However, the holders of PPR accounts in foreign currency may purchase securities abroad by debiting these accounts.

Sale or issue abroad by residents

Yes. Any act intended to dispose of or to change the composition of the assets of residents abroad and to reduce their rights to these assets is subject to the approval of the BCT.

All residents are required to declare to the BCT and to repatriate their foreign assets invested from Tunisia.

Imported foreign exchange.

The acquisition of assets abroad by residents is subject to authorization. However, holders of special accounts in foreign currency or in convertible dinars, exchange subagency accounts, service provider accounts, or Law No. 2007-41 special accounts may purchase securities abroad by debiting these accounts.

Sale or issue abroad by residents

Yes. Any act intended to dispose of or to change the composition of the assets of residents abroad and to reduce their rights to these assets is subject to the approval of the BCT. All residents are required to declare to the BCT, dispose of and repatriate their assets abroad. Investment income from PPR accounts of resident individuals is not covered by the disposal obligation.

On collective investment securities

Yes.

Purchase locally by nonresidents

Yes. Nonresidents may acquire freely shares of Tunisian mutual funds with foreign exchange transferred from abroad.

Sale or issue locally by nonresidents

Yes. Nonresidents may transfer freely net real proceeds from sales of Tunisian mutual fund shares acquired with foreign exchange transferred from abroad. The issuance of SICAV (Société d'investissement à capital variable—an open-ended collective investment scheme) and other collective investment securities on the domestic market by nonresidents is governed by Law No. 2009-64 of August 12, 2009, promulgating the code on financial services rendered to nonresidents.

Controls on derivatives and other instruments

Yes. Controls apply to all transactions in derivatives and other instruments. However, resident banks may engage in (1) foreign currency swaps maturing in up to 12 months with nonresident banks operating in Tunisia and with foreign correspondent banks; (2) foreign currency/dinar swaps maturing in up to 12 months among themselves and with resident enterprises, provided the transactions in question back actual commercial or financial transactions; and (3) foreign currency/convertible dinar swaps, by making spot purchases and forward sales of convertible dinars to nonresident banks operating in Tunisia, foreign correspondent banks, and nonresident enterprises operating in Tunisia. For the purposes of hedging against foreign exchange rate risk, resident and nonresident authorized intermediaries may enter into forward rate agreements for terms of up to 12 months with resident enterprises or with their foreign correspondent banks.

Purchase locally by nonresidents

These credits require BCT approval, except for credits in foreign currency granted on the money market to refinance import or export operations of nonresident industrial enterprises established in Tunisia. Authorized intermediaries may finance, out of resources from the foreign exchange money market, the imports and exports of nonresident service companies established in Tunisia, as well as exports of products of local origin by nonresident international trading companies established in Tunisia. These nonresident companies may also be granted operating loans against resources in the foreign exchange money market. In addition, resident banks may extend short-term dinar loans to nonresident companies to finance local operating expenses and to finance the purchase, on the local market, of products and merchandise necessary for the nonresidents’ operations.

Resident banks may extend operating loans against resources in the foreign exchange money market to nonresident service companies in Tunisia engaged in imports and exports as well as to nonresident international trading companies in Tunisia engaged in exports of products of local origin.

Resident exporting companies may have foreign currency credits on foreign currency money market resources for investment transactions.

Pursuant to Circular No. 2020-13, effective June 2, 2020, resident enterprises may, for their own business needs, contract foreign currency loans from nonresidents. Foreign currency loans whose repayment period does not exceed 12 months are freely contracted up to the following amounts: (1) TD 25 million a calendar year for banks and financial institutions approved within the framework of Law No. 2016-48; (2) TD 10 million a calendar year for other enterprises, including micro-finance companies. Foreign currency loans with a repayment period exceeding 12 months are freely contracted under the following conditions: (1) without limit of amount for the banks and financial institutions referred to in Article 3, listed on the stock exchange or having obtained a rating from one of the rating organizations appearing on the list in the appendix of the Circular; (2) up to a limit of TD 50 million a calendar year for other enterprises, including micro-finance companies referred to in Article 3, provided these enterprises are listed on the stock exchange or have obtained a rating from one of the rating organizations appearing on the list in the Annex of the Circular; (3) up to a limit of TD 30 million a calendar year for enterprises that do not meet the condition of listing on the stock exchange or rating.

Previously, resident credit institutions and other resident enterprises could freely contract foreign currency commercial loans from nonresidents up to the limit of TD 10 million and TD 3 million, respectively. Resident credit institutions and other enterprises with a rating from a credit rating agency or listed on the stock exchange could freely contract foreign currency commercial loans from nonresidents in maturities of more than 12 months without limit for the former and up to TD 10 million for the latter. Decree No. 77-608 of July 27, 1977 applies to credits outside the limits set by Circular No. 93-16 of October 7, 1993.

Resident banks may freely issue bid bonds, performance bonds, advance payment bonds, contract holdback bonds, or any other bonds on behalf of resident exporters of goods or services to guarantee their obligations to nonresidents.

They may also freely issue guarantees for the payment by residents, on the order of resident importers, with respect to their purchases from nonresident suppliers.

The same applies to the issuance and establishment of repayment guarantees for foreign currency loans freely contracted by residents.

At the request and with the counter guarantee of a nonresident bank, resident banks may grant the usual bank guarantees required of nonresident service providers by residents in connection with business contracts, work contracts, and service contracts executable in Tunisia.

Direct investment by residents abroad is generally subject to BCT approval. However, resident exporting companies may freely transfer the equivalent of TD 50,000–500,000 a year to finance representative or liaison offices abroad; TD 100,000–1 million a year for foreign investment in the form of branches, subsidiaries, and equity participation in companies; and up to TD 3 million a year for investments funded from foreign exchange export proceeds held in professional accounts. For nonexporting companies, the limit on transfers abroad for the same types of investment is TD 50,000–250,000 to finance representative or liaison offices and TD 100,000–500,000 for branches, subsidiaries, and equity participation abroad. Residents may freely participate in the capital of nonresident companies established in Tunisia, at the time either of incorporation or of a capital increase and through the purchase of shares or equity in such companies.

Transfer of assets

- Transfer abroad by emigrants: Yes. The transfer of the proceeds from assets not qualifying for the transfer guarantee is subject to approval by the BCT.

- Transfer into the country by immigrants: Yes. Nonresident Tunisian nationals returning permanently to the country must declare their assets or proceeds and revenue from their assets abroad.

- Transfer of gambling and prize earnings: Yes. The cash transfer of the proceeds of earnings from casino games duly authorized, including by the gaming commission, is not restricted. Such transfers are generally allowed as of the opening of the casino pursuant to an approval granted by the BCT.

Provisions Specific to the Financial Sector

Provisions specific to commercial banks and other credit institutions

- Borrowing abroad: Yes. Resident credit institutions may contract all types of foreign currency loans (for example, buyer credits, supplier credits, financial loans, financial leases) for their business needs from nonresidents, up to effective June 2, 2020, TD 25 million (previously TD 10 million) a year if the repayment period does not exceed 12 months. There is no limit on such loans if their maturity is longer than 12 months and they are contracted by credit institutions rated by a rating agency and by credit institutions listed on the stock exchange.

- Maintenance of accounts abroad: Yes. Resident banks may freely open correspondent accounts with foreign banks. Authorized intermediaries must repatriate to their CB account at the end of every business day any balance on their correspondent accounts related to residents’ foreign exchange transactions. Balances resulting from nonresident transactions may be kept in correspondent accounts and invested abroad.

- Lending to nonresidents (financial or commercial credits): Yes. BCT approval is required for loans granted by resident banks to nonresidents. However, resident banks may freely extend loans in the foreign exchange money market to nonresident industrial enterprises in Tunisia for operating expenses and to finance their imports and exports. Authorized intermediaries may finance, out of resources from the foreign exchange money market, the imports and exports of nonresident service companies in Tunisia, as well as exports of products of local origin by nonresident international trading companies in Tunisia. These nonresident companies may also receive operating loans against resources in the foreign exchange money market. Resident banks may extend dinar loans to nonresident companies to finance local (dinar-denominated) operating expenses and purchases of products and merchandise necessary for their operations. Such loans may not be used to purchase foreign exchange and must be placed in special accounts.

- Lending locally in foreign exchange: Yes. Resident banks may freely finance in the foreign exchange money market the import and export operations of resident entities. They may lend foreign exchange to exporting resident companies to finance investments made under current foreign exchange regulations. They may also freely lend their foreign currency surpluses to other resident banks and to their correspondent banks in exchange for loans with the same maturity in another currency.

- Purchase of locally issued securities denominated in foreign exchange: Yes. Purchases of locally issued securities denominated in foreign exchange are subject to BCT approval.

- Differential treatment of deposit accounts in foreign exchange: Yes.
Reserve requirements
Yes.
Tunisia does not impose reserve requirements on foreign currency deposit accounts. Only deposits in dinars are taken into account in the calculation of the reserve requirement at a rate of 1%. To determine the reserve requirement, a rate of 1% is imposed on demand deposits and other liabilities to customers.

Liquid asset requirements
Yes.
The liquidity ratio requirement takes foreign currency deposits into account and is calculated as the ratio between readily convertible assets and callable liabilities. The numerator is primarily composed as follows: cash and holdings with the BCT and banks (100%); short-term discount portfolio (60%); advances on deposit accounts, cash vouchers, and other financial income (100%); debtor accounts (7%); and collection portfolio and security holdings in portfolio and listed on the stock exchange (100%). The denominator of the liquidity ratio is primarily composed of the following, weighted as follows: borrowing from the BCT, banks, and specialized financial institutions (100%); required credit balance on the required reserve (100%); demand accounts (60%); special savings accounts (3%); time accounts; other financial instruments (13%); CDs (40%); and funds in transit (comptes exigibles après encaissement—accounts payable after cashing—100%).

Interest rate controls
Yes.
The remuneration on foreign exchange accounts is freely negotiated with banks. Dinar balances in suspense accounts and capital accounts do not earn interest.

The Central Bank of Tunisia’s (BCT’s) reference exchange rate is based on the results of foreign exchange auctions to allow for price discovery. Previously, a fixing arrangement (that is, the average of market participants’ quotes) determined the reference exchange rate published by the BCT. At the start of the business day, the most active banks in the market were consulted to get their dinar–US dollar quotes. The BCT calculated the average of these quotes and used the average rate obtained as the daily reference exchange rate. At the close of the business day, banks reported a second quote to the BCT.

Foreign exchange accounts permitted

“Start-up accounts in foreign currency” may be opened in the name of each resident company, with the “start-up” label issued in accordance with the regulations in force.
The “start-up account in foreign currency” may be credited with: (1) foreign currency originating from export transactions of goods and services carried out by the start-up account holder; (2) foreign currency originating from (1) nonresident participation in the capital of the start-up, (2) acquisitions by nonresidents of bonds convertible into shares issued by the start-up, (3) advances in associated current accounts, and (4) in general any form of quasi-equity in the start-up’s foreign currency. The import of foreign currency for these operations must be the subject of investment forms drawn up in accordance with the regulations in force; (3) profits accruing to the start-up, made in respect of its investments referred to in paragraph (d) of Article 4 of Circular No. 2019-01; (4) interest earned on sums held in this account under the conditions set by the Central Bank of Tunisia for the foreign currency accounts of residents; (5) transfers from another “start-up account in foreign currency” of the same holder.

Imports and Import Payments

Circular No. 2020-02 clarified and eased certain requirements for advance payment. The advance payment may not exceed 50% of the value of the import operation subject to the payment, except when the value of the imported products does not exceed TD 20,000. The advance payment must be made on submission of the commercial contract or a copy of the market contract.

Advance payment of the price of imported goods is permitted, provided: (1) the imported goods are intended for direct use by the resident importer in the production cycle of goods or services of its business; (2) the value of the goods subject to the import operation is not more than TD 20,000 as stipulated in the commercial contract; (3) the advance payment is required by the supplier under the commercial contract.

Sales prices may be settled by any means of payment, where the related contracts provide for payment terms of up to 60 days from the date of shipment of the goods.

Sales for which the related contracts provide for payment terms ranging from 61 days to 360 days from the date of shipment of the goods are made freely when they meet one of the following conditions: (1) They are accompanied by a payment guarantee issued by a nonresident bank. (2) They provide for the opening of an irrevocable documentary credit or standby LC for the benefit of the resident exporter. (3) They provide for payment by a draft issued in the name of the approved intermediary or endorsed in its favor and endorsed by a nonresident bank. (4) They are covered by an export credit insurance policy.

In addition, sales for which the related contracts provide for payment periods ranging from 61 days to 360 days from the date of shipment of goods and which do not meet one of the conditions referred to in Article 11 paragraph 1 of Circular No. 2020-02 as well as sales providing for payment periods exceeding 360 days are subject to prior authorization of the BCT.

For sales paid by documentary credit or documentary remittance against payment or acceptance, the exporter must submit to the Authorized Intermediary, on receipt of the goods by the carrier, the documents representing the goods (final invoice, transport document, etc.). Any direct delivery of these documents to the customer or the carrier is prohibited.

Payments for travel

02/04/2020 Resident individuals or legal entities that have concluded contracts for studies, design, works, monitoring, control, and other services with a contracting authority based outside Tunisia may apply to approved intermediaries for business travel allowances for “Contracts Executable Abroad.” The amount of this allowance is set at 15% of the portion of the contract price payable in convertible currencies under which the granting of the allowance is requested. These individuals and entities can combine the “Exporter” business travel allowance and the “Contracts Executable Abroad” business travel allowance. Under no circumstances may the foreign currency receipts that have already been used for the calculation of the transfer rights under one of the two allowances be included in the foreign currency receipts accepted for the calculation of the transfer. Previously, resident individuals and legal entities that had signed service or work contracts with nonresidents that could be fully or partially implemented abroad could receive an “Exporter” business travel advance based on the agreed amount payable in convertible foreign exchange indicated in the agreement, within the annual limit. The amount of the maximum annual allowance is set at TD 100,000 for any resident company having obtained the “Startup” Label in accordance with the regulations in force.

Pursuant to Circular No. 2020-13, resident enterprises may, for their own business needs, contract foreign currency loans from nonresidents. Foreign currency loans whose repayment period does not exceed 12 months are freely contracted up to the following amounts: (1) TD 25 million a calendar year for banks and financial institutions approved within the framework of Law No. 2016-48; (2) TD 10 million a calendar year for other enterprises, including micro-finance companies.

Foreign currency loans with a repayment period exceeding 12 months are freely contracted under the following conditions: (1) without limit of amount for the banks and financial institutions referred to in Article 3, listed on the stock exchange or having obtained a rating from one of the rating organizations appearing on the list in the appendix of the Circular; (2) up to a limit of TD 50 million a calendar year for other enterprises, including micro-finance companies referred to in Article 3, provided these enterprises are listed on the stock exchange or have obtained a rating from one of the rating organizations appearing on the list in the Annex of the Circular; (3) up to a limit of TD 30 million a calendar year for enterprises that do not meet the condition of listing on the stock exchange or rating.

Previously, resident credit institutions and other resident enterprises could freely contract foreign currency commercial loans from nonresidents up to the limit of TD 10 million and TD 3 million, respectively. Resident credit institutions and other enterprises with a rating from a credit rating agency or listed on the stock exchange could freely contract foreign currency commercial loans from nonresidents in maturities of more than 12 months without limit for the former and up to TD 10 million for the latter. Decree No. 77-608 of July 27, 1977 applies to credits outside the limits set by Circular No. 93-16 of October 7, 1993.

Provisions Specific to the Financial Sector

Resident credit institutions may contract all types of foreign currency loans (for example, buyer credits, supplier credits, financial loans, financial leases) for their business needs from nonresidents, up to TD 25 million (previously TD 10 million) a year if the repayment period does not exceed 12 months.

For the implementation of the UNSC Resolution No. 1267 and its successor resolutions related to individuals and entities associated with Al-Qaida, Taliban, and Da’esh, and UNSC Resolution No. 1373 related to combating terrorism and the financing of terrorism, Turkey maintains an asset freezing mechanism under provisions of the Law No. 6415 on the Prevention of Financing of Terrorism (Official Gazette No. 28561 of February 16, 2013). Turkey maintains the following exchange measures in accordance with EU regulations: Iraq, the Islamic Republic of Iran, Liberia, certain individuals associated with the previous government of the former Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, and Zimbabwe. Turkey maintains security restrictions imposed by the following UNSC resolutions: (1) Resolution No. 1737, which bans the supply of nuclear-related materials and technology, and calls for a freeze of the assets of key individuals and companies related to the Iranian nuclear program; (2) Resolution No. 1747, which imposes an arms embargo and expands the freeze on Iranian assets; (3) Resolution No. 1803, which extends the asset freeze and directs states to monitor the activities of Iranian banks, inspect Iranian ships and aircraft, and monitor the movement of individuals involved with the program; (4) Resolution No. 1929, which bars Iran from activities related to ballistic missiles, tightens the arms embargo, imposes travel bans on individuals involved with Iranian shipping lines, and recommends that countries inspect Iranian cargo, prohibit servicing of Iranian vessels involved in prohibited activities, closely watch Iranian individuals and entities when dealing with them, prohibit Iranian banks from opening on their territory and entering into relationships with their banks if it could contribute to the nuclear program, and prevent financial institutions operating in their territory from opening offices and accounts in Iran; and (5) Resolutions Nos. 1970 and 1973, which impose an arms embargo on Libya, freeze assets, and impose a travel ban on those listed in the annexes of the resolutions.

The de jure exchange rate arrangement is free floating. Under the current regime, the foreign exchange supply and demand is mainly determined by economic fundamentals, the monetary and fiscal policies implemented, international developments and expectations. The Central Bank of the Republic of Turkey (CBRT) has no nominal or real exchange rate target. Nevertheless, if the exchange rates are at odds with economic fundamentals or excessive volatility poses risk to financial stability, the CBRT will not remain indifferent to these developments. If the exchange rate movements permanently affect price stability, the CBRT will change its monetary policy stance and give the necessary reaction. The CBRT will continue to closely monitor exchange rate developments and any risk factors related to it and will take necessary measures and use the relevant instruments to make sure that the foreign exchange market operates efficiently. The CBRT announced the general framework of the monetary and exchange rate policies envisaged for 2019 in a presentation titled “Monetary and Exchange Rate Policy for 2019” on December 5, 2018. The CBRT applies a reserve option mechanism (ROM) as a monetary policy tool. In this framework, the CBRT allows banks to hold a fraction of their mandatory reserves for lira liabilities in foreign currency and gold. The CBRT may increase or decrease the reserve option coefficients (ROCs), the amount of foreign currency or gold required to meet one unit of Turkish lira required reserves (RR). Typically, the ROC is an increasing function of different tranches of lira RR; the tranches of the mechanism and the corresponding levels of ROC are determined by the CBRT. The ROM has been used as an active policy tool by the CBRT and has contributed to stabilization of capital flow volatility, indirectly influencing exchange rate movement. In 2018, the CBRT contributed to banks’ foreign exchange liquidity management through the instruments it used. The CBRT provided foreign exchange liquidity... to the financial system via the reserve requirement ratios (RRRs) and ROM. Accordingly, the CBRT reduced foreign exchange and Turkish lira (TL) RRRs, and lowered the upper limit for the foreign exchange maintenance facility under the ROM, thereby providing approximately US$13.4 billion of liquidity to the financial system. The CBRT continued to conduct Foreign Exchange Deposits against Turkish lira deposits auctions, and with revisions made throughout the year, the auction amount was reduced to US$500 million from US$1.5 billion, the highest level in 2018. With a view to providing depth in foreign exchange markets and contributing to the corporate sector’s management of exchange rate risk, the CBRT continued to hold Turkish lira-settled forward foreign exchange sale auctions, which were launched in November 2017. In addition to these auctions, on August 31, 2018, the TL-settled forward foreign exchange transactions were also launched at the Derivatives Market (VIOP) operating under BIST to contribute to the effective functioning of the foreign exchange markets. Total position amount of Turkish lira-settled forward foreign exchange transactions against TL at the CBRT and BIST VIOP has recently registered a decline. On November 1, 2018, TL currency swap market was opened at the CB to enhance banks’ efficiency in TL and foreign exchange liquidity management. Moreover, CBRT, in line with its current monetary policy, conducts swap transactions in the BIST Swap Market. The CBRT continued with the efforts to bring out domestic gold savings into the financial system in this period as well. At the same time, transactions at the gold against foreign exchange market were launched, and banks were provided with the location swap facility in gold transactions. In 2018, the foreign exchange demand of US$7.2 billion of energy-importing state-owned enterprises was met by the CBRT. Given the CBRT’s policy focus on limiting exchange rate volatility through the various instruments used, the de facto exchange rate arrangement is classified as floating.

Free floating

Yes. There is no official exchange rate determined by the CBRT. However, there is an indicative rate, which is determined through six CBRT observations between 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m., at one-hour intervals, taking the average value of the averages of the buying and selling rates as quoted by banks in the interbank foreign exchange market for US$1. The arithmetic average of the six observed values thus obtained is the CBRT’s midrate for US$1. The buying and selling rates for US$1 are calculated based on the midrate. Similarly, the respective cross-rates of the currencies for which the CBRT announces indicative exchange rates are collected between 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. at one-hour intervals. The indicative exchange rates are announced at 3:30 p.m. and used for accounting transactions and some branch transactions of the CBRT, but there are no mandatory rates for individuals or entities.

By abandoning intermediation, the CBRT aimed to enhance the depth of the foreign exchange market to allow for pricing that fully reflects risk perception. However, CBRT has temporarily resumed intermediation in several instances since then, to enhance foreign exchange liquidity in the interbank market. Most recently, the CBRT resumed its intermediary function at the Foreign Exchange Deposit Market from August 13, 2018. From September 27, 2018, the selling rate for foreign exchange deposits at one-week maturity was increased from 2.75% to 4.25% for USD and from 1.25% to 2% for EUR and the selling rate for foreign exchange deposits at one-month maturity was increased from 3% to 5% for USD and from 1.4% to 2.5% for EUR. Effective August 1, 2019, the selling rate for foreign exchange deposits at 1-week maturity was reduced from 4.25% to 4% and at 1-month maturity from 5% to 4.75% for USD. Also, when deemed necessary, without any need for a press release, these rates, the rates applied to banks’ borrowings of the USD and EUR from the CB as a last resort facility, may be adjusted in either direction at 9:30 a.m. on business days and will be valid for the same business day. The rates are announced through Anadolu Agency DV006, Reuters CBTJ, and Bloomberg CBT pages.</td>

To support the foreign exchange liquidity, the transaction limits of the banks in the CBRT Foreign Exchange and Banknotes Markets were increased by approximately 130% to US$50 billion (as calculated by current EURUSD parity) on September 1, 2015.

The CBRT accepts foreign exchange deposits as a collateral, and on November 11, 2016, the limits were set as US$20 billion and EUR 7.2 billion. From August 13, 2018, collateral foreign exchange deposit limits for Turkish lira transactions of banks were raised to 20 billion euros from 7.2 billion euros. The buying rate on collateral foreign exchange deposits for the USD was raised to 2% (from 1.50%) from September 27, 2018, and to 2.25% from December 24, 2018, for 1-week, 2-week, and 1-month maturities. Effective August 1, 2019, the buying rate on collateral foreign exchange deposits for the USD was reduced from 2.25% to 2% for 1-week, 2-week, and 1-month maturities. The buying rate on collateral foreign exchange deposits for the EUR remains at 0%.

From November 1, 2018, TL currency swap market was opened to enhance banks’ efficiency in TL and foreign exchange liquidity management. These transactions are conducted at one-week maturities via quotation method with banks, and the maximum amount for these transactions is limited to 10% of the banks’ predetermined transaction limits at the Foreign Exchange and Banknotes Market. Currently, the amount of TL swap transactions against foreign exchange is at US$295 million as of November 30, 2018.

The CBRT, in line with its current monetary policy, conducts bilateral transactions in the BIST Swap Market at various maturities.

The CBRT may intervene directly or through flexible auctions in the market, in case of unhealthy price formations because of speculative behavior stemming from a loss in market depth. The CBRT has issued the following auction guidelines for Foreign Exchange Buying-Selling Auctions against Turkish lira: (1) Only banks authorized to operate in Foreign Exchange and Banknotes Markets in the CB may participate in intraday auctions. (2) The number and other details of the auction are announced through Reuters CBTQ, Bloomberg CBT/Foreign Exchange Auctions, and Anadolu Agency DV007 pages. Following the announcement of the auction, banks may submit their offers within 15 minutes. (3) Offers may be sent via the CBRT Payment Systems Auction System (IhS). (4) Auctions are held under the multiple price method. (5) The results of the auctions are announced through Reuters CBTQ, Bloomberg CBT/Foreign Exchange Auctions, and Anadolu Agency DV007 pages within 15 minutes of the deadline for submission of the offers. (6) The minimum offer amount is US$1 million and larger amounts in multiples thereof. (7) The maximum bid amount for each bank is limited to 10% of the total auction amount. (8) Banks may not change their offer amounts and/or prices during the auction. (9) The full amount of offers received is met up to the auction amount. (10) If there is more than one offer at the price at which the auction is finalized, the distribution is made on pro-rata basis. (11) Banks that do not fulfill their obligations arising from the auctions are subject to the sanctions specified in the Implementation Instructions of the Foreign Exchange and Banknotes Markets.

Between February 2015 and April 2016, the foreign exchange auction selling amount was set on a daily basis depending on the conditions in the foreign exchange market. The CBRT suspended the foreign exchange sale auctions from April 28, 2016. CBRT did not conduct foreign exchange buying or selling transactions, neither directly nor via auctions since then. However, the CBRT continues to supply foreign exchange to energy state-owned enterprises (SOEs) which started in December 2014.

With the aim of enhancing flexibility and instrument diversity of the Turkish lira and foreign exchange liquidity management within the current monetary and exchange rate policy framework, the CBRT held foreign exchange deposits against Turkish lira deposit auctions between January 18, 2017, and March 22, 2019, and conducted Turkish lira-settled forward foreign exchange sale auctions between November 20, 2017, and December 31, 2018.

Fixing

Interbank market

Yes. Banks may carry out foreign exchange transactions according to Decree No. 32 and the Banking Law. There are no limitations on foreign exchange transactions among banks. The main participants in the foreign exchange market are banks and authorized institutions. As of December 31, 2019, there were 52 banks (including two banks under management of the Savings Deposit Insurance Fund (SDIF) and six branches of foreign banks) and 748 authorized institutions in the foreign exchange market. Regulations on foreign exchange transactions are issued by the Ministry of Treasury and Finance.

Over the counter

Yes. There is a functioning OTC foreign exchange market in which banks may engage in foreign exchange transactions.

Brokerage

Yes. The foreign exchange market usually operates on the basis of an electronic broker system such as Reuters or some other brokers. Banks also provide foreign exchange quotes via Reuters page IYIX directly and update them throughout the day. The pricing is continuous in the market, with quotes given from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. throughout the day on Reuters page IYIX or by brokers. After the domestic market closes, quotes continue to be provided by brokers in the international markets.

No.

Forward exchange market

Yes. Banks may carry out forward transactions according to Decree No. 32 on the Protection of the Value of Turkish Currency. From September 20, 2018, banks which are authorized in accordance with BIST regulations and the CBRT may trade on BIST Swap Market. In the market, swap transactions are carried out aiming the exchange of Turkish lira and US dollar, Turkish lira and euro currencies with each other in the determined conditions. Orders are placed only on House accounts. Takasbank provides central counterparty service for the Market and guarantees the settlement termination by acting as buyer to the seller and seller to the buyer for any transaction executed. Previously, banks carried out foreign exchange swap transactions over the counter.

Official cover of forward operations

Yes. The CBRT may carry out swap, forward, and derivatives transactions with respect to its reserve position in light of the exchange rate policy.

Intermediary institutions dealing in precious metals may obtain gold credits from abroad on their own behalf and/or on behalf of their customers. However, unprocessed gold obtained and brought into Turkey as a credit must be transferred to the BIST within three days. Travelers may import and export ornamental articles of precious metals and stones valued at not more than the equivalent of US$15,000. Articles exceeding this value may be exported only if they were declared on arrival or with proof that they were purchased in Turkey.

According to the provision of Article 16 of the Law No. 5549 on Prevention of Laundering Proceeds of Crime (Official Gazette No. 26323 of October 18, 2006), travelers making a physical cross-border transportation of Turkish currency, foreign currency, or payment instruments, must disclose them fully and accurately on the request of Customs Administration. In case no explanations are made or are false or a misleading explanation is made on the request by the authorities, values carried along by the travelers must be sequestrated by the Customs Administration. The Customs Administration shall impose an administrative fine equal to one tenth of the amount carried along on travelers who do not make a disclosure and one tenth of the difference between the value carried along and the value disclosed on travelers who make a false disclosure about the amount. Besides, the case must be considered as suspicious and must be conveyed to MASAK (Mali Suçları Araştırma Kurulu—the Financial Crimes Investigation Board) and other related authorities. The provisions of this paragraph may not apply to the differences up to TRY 1,500. (According to Article 28 of the Law No. 5549 on Prevention of Laundering Proceeds of Crime, fixed amounts, which is stated in the Articles 13 and 16 of this Law, are applied at the beginning of each year by increasing the rate of revaluation determined in accordance with the Tax Procedure Law No. 213 of April 1, 1961, for the previous year. The amounts up to ten new Turkish liras are not considered in the calculations. According to calculations, the amount for 2019 is TRY 4,400.)

Besides, the Ministry of Trade issued a Circular No. 2016/1 about the implementation. Accordingly, passengers entering or leaving Turkey are obliged to disclose their cash that they are carrying with them when they are officially invited to disclose.

Travelers may freely take abroad up to TRY 25,000 (Amendment to the Decree No. 32 on the Protection of the Value of Turkish Currency by the Decree No. 2015/7603 – April 14, 2015). Amounts permitted to be freely taken out of the country in cash were changed to TRY 25,000 for national currency and €10,000 or its equivalent for foreign currencies.

According to Decree No. 32 on the Protection of the Value of Turkish Currency (as amended) the limits for a person taking out foreign currency banknotes and Turkish currency abroad without any obligations are as follows: for Turkish currency, the equivalent of TRY 25,000; for foreign currency banknotes, the €10,000 or its equivalent.

Decree No. 32 on the Protection of the Value of Turkish Currency, published in Official Gazette No. 29578 of June 11, 2015, was amended to authorize the ministry to set principles for taking out Turkish currency greater than TRY 25,000 and foreign currency banknotes greater than €10,000 or its equivalent abroad.

Communique No. 2008-32/34 attached to the Decree No. 32 Regarding the Protection of the Value of Turkish Currency, published in Official Gazette No. 29578 of December 30, 2015, was amended. to set principles for taking out Turkish currency and foreign currency banknotes as follows: taking out foreign exchange greater than €10,000 or its equivalent or Turkish currency and payment instruments denominated in Turkish currency greater than TRY 25,000, accompanied by a traveler must be declared to customs authorities with cash declaration form issued by the Trade Ministry. The obligation to declare is not fulfilled if the traveler makes no declaration or if the information provided is incorrect or misleading. In the event of failure to comply with the declaration obligation, cash must be sequestrated and the matter reported to MASAK, the Financial Crimes Investigation Board as suspicious case. Also, it must be reported to the public prosecution office to impose a fine for failure to comply with the declaration obligation.

Besides, the Ministry of Trade issued a Circular No. 2016/1 about the implementation. Accordingly, passengers entering or leaving Turkey are obliged to disclose their cash that they are carrying with them when they are officially invited to disclose.

Imports of certain items are restricted or prohibited for environmental, security, health, or public morality reasons or in accordance with international obligations. These items include certain carcinogenic dyes, chemicals used in the production of chemical weapons or other arms and ammunition, counterfeit labels, gambling instruments, narcotics, and ozone-depleting substances. Import licenses, which are issued by the relevant authorities, are required for a limited group of items, including some machinery, motor vehicles, and chemicals, and a number of items related to civil aircraft. Imports of old, used, renovated, faulty, or obsolete goods are subject to permission from the Ministry of Trade.

With the expiration of the WTO Agreement on Textiles and Clothing, quotas on textiles and clothing under that agreement, and those implemented to harmonize Turkey’s import policy with that of the EU, were abolished. Quotas remain in place for one non-WTO member.

Turkey applies the EU’s GSP (except some countries as India, Vietnam, Indonesia, etc., and GSP+) the GSP rates that are indicated in List II and List III of the Import Regime. In this context, preferences are granted for all industrial products and industrial components of processed agricultural products covered by the EU’s GSP program. Least developed countries have duty- and quota-free access to the Turkish market for all industrial products under Chapters 25–97 (except Chapter 93) and for processed agricultural products in terms of industrial components covered by the customs union between Turkey and the EU. In accordance with the EU’s GSP program, for developing economies duties have been suspended or reduced in accordance with the sensitivity of the product. Beneficiary countries are announced annually in annexes to the import regime decree. The simple average tariff rates that apply to imports of (1) industrial products are 4.2% and (2) agricultural products listed in Annex 1 of the Import Regime are 58%. Turkey also provides additional market access possibilities to countries with which it has preferential agreements. Duty rates that are lower than MFN rates are applied for industrial and certain agricultural products originating in these countries. From December 31, 2017, India, Indonesia, and Vietnam were excluded from GSP of Turkey.

CBRT is the sole importer of special types of paper used for printing banknotes and similar valuable papers, treasury bills, and securities issued by the Privatization Administration.

Exports and Export Proceeds

From September 4, 2018, Communiqué No. 2018-32/48 Regarding the Decree No. 32 on Protection of the Value of Turkish Currency was put into force for 6 months. Effective March 3, 2019, the validity period of the regulation was extended to one year with the Communiqué No. 2018-32/53 Amending the Communiqué No. 2018-32/48 Regarding the Decree No. 32 on Protection of the Value of Turkish Currency (published on March 3, 2019, at Official Gazette No. 30703). In other words, the regulation was in force until September 3, 2019. According to the regulation, export proceeds relating to export transactions carried out by residents in Turkey must be transferred or brought to the intermediary bank directly and without delay following the importer’s payment. The period of bringing export proceeds to country cannot exceed 180 days from the date of actual export. At least 80% of the export proceeds must be sold to a bank.

According to Decree No. 32 on the Protection of the Value of Turkish Currency, purchases and sales of domestic securities and other instruments by nonresidents and of foreign securities by residents are free of restrictions. However, securities transactions must be carried out through banks and intermediary institutions authorized under the capital markets legislation, and all related transfers must be carried out through banks (including participation banks). Securities and derivative instruments issued or offered to the public by resident legal persons other than public institutions may be freely sold abroad if the prospectus or issue documents are approved by the CMB. According to Communiqué No. III-37.1 on Principles Regarding Investment Services, Investment Activities and Ancillary Services,
On capital market securities  Yes. Securities transactions must be carried out through banks and intermediary institutions authorized under the capital markets legislation.

Istanbul Clearing, Settlement and Custody Bank Inc. (Takasbank) is authorized to provide cash and securities settlement transactions as the central clearing and settlement institution to BIST equities, debt securities, foreign securities, derivatives, and precious metals markets. Securities delivery/receipt as well as cash obligations of BIST members arising from the buy-sell transactions in the related markets are executed via Takasbank.

Additionally, rights related to dematerialized capital market instruments are monitored by the Central Registry Agency. Central Registry Agency is the central securities depository for capital market instruments which are decided by CMB to be dematerialized.

Shares or other securities of a participating nature  Yes.

Purchase locally by nonresidents  No. Purchases of domestic securities and other instruments by nonresidents are free of restrictions, except for investments in (1) mining, except through a company established in Turkey; (2) exploration and exploitation of petroleum by enterprises controlled or owned by foreign countries, unless authorization is granted; (3) radio and television broadcasting, whose foreign partner share may not exceed 50%. Further, Law No. 6112 on the Establishment of Radio and Television Enterprises and Their Media Services Article 19f reads as follows: “A foreign real or legal person can directly become a partner of maximum two media service providers. If foreign real or legal persons hold shares in companies that are shareholders of media service providers and become an indirect partner of the broadcasters, the chair, the deputy chair and the majority of the Board of Executives and the general director of the broadcasting enterprises have to be the citizens of Republic of Turkey, and the majority of the votes in the general assemblies of broadcasting enterprises should belong to real or legal persons having Turkish citizenship. In main contracts of such corporations, the arrangements ensuring these provisions must be stated clearly”; (4) the accounting sector; (5) transportation, in accordance with cabotage rights; and (6) electricity, in the scope of privatization activities; foreign individuals and legal entities may not have a controlling market share in electricity generation, transmission, and distribution. Securities transactions must be carried out through banks and intermediary institutions authorized under the capital markets legislation, and all related transfers must be carried out through banks.

Sale or issue locally by nonresidents  Yes. Foreign capital markets instruments and related terms are defined in the CMB Communiqué on the Foreign Capital Market Instruments, Depository Receipts and Foreign Investment Funds (VII-128.4) as follows: “Foreign capital market instruments” refers to securities issued by foreign corporations or foreign states and local administrations, except for foreign investment fund units, as further defined in subparagraph (§) of first paragraph of Article 3 of the Capital Market Law (No. 6362); a “Foreign corporation” refers to a corporation or, an establishment issuing capital market instruments according to laws of the relevant country, out of persons resident abroad, as defined in the Governmental Decree on Protection of Value of Turkish Currency No. 32 and “Foreign investment fund units” refer to securities which are issued by a foreign investment fund classified as a collective investment scheme founded abroad, and are considered as other capital market instruments.

The issuance, public offering, private placement, and sale of foreign capital market instruments, fund units, and depository receipts by nonresidents are subject to the provisions of the capital markets legislation. Under New Capital Markets Law No. 6362, nonresident and resident issuers must submit the prospectus to the CMB for approval before a public offering. The principles regarding public offering, private placement, sales to qualified investors, and sales must conform to the provisions of the relevant Communiqué appropriate for the nature of the relevant capital market instrument, unless specified otherwise by the regulations of the CMB. Under the CMB Communiqué on the Foreign Capital Market Instruments, Depository Receipts and Foreign Investment Funds (VII-128.4, published in the Official Gazette of October 23, 2013, along with annulment of Communiqué Serial VII, No. 14, on Principles Regarding the Registration with the Board and Sale of Foreign Mutual Funds), issuers must apply to the CMB for approval of prospectus or issue documents prepared for foreign capital market instruments and depository receipts for the following transactions: (1) public offerings of foreign capital market instruments and depository receipts; (2) sales of foreign capital market instruments and depository receipts through private placement and/or to qualified investors; (3) shares issued by foreign corporations whose shares are traded on the stock exchange through capital contributions and capital contributions to be paid from equities. Further, the Communiqué (1) modifies the requirements for public disclosure, auditing, and independent auditing reports of foreign corporations in line with the new Capital Market Law and related subregulations; (2) establishes a new tool of public disclosure called the Investor Information Document that replaces the circular to inform investors; (3) sets the minimum requirement for net asset value of the fund at €10 million or the equivalent in other currencies and stipulates that they must have been traded for at least three years; (4) indicates that controversy among representative and foreign fund units may be solved through arbitration; and (5) requires that foreign investment fund units sold in Turkey be recorded collectively or individually by rightful owners in accounts opened in the name of the fund representative in the organization of registry where ownership records are kept abroad. In addition, foreign investment fund units must be registered electronically but separately for rightful owners in a subaccount of the fund representative in the Central Registry Agency. Foreign capital market instruments offered to the public must comply with the following: (1) They must not have been rejected for trading on an exchange of the country of issue by the exchange or capital market authority for protection of investors or on similar grounds. (2) The foreign capital market instruments must have been drawn up in liras or foreign currency whose daily exchange rates are announced by the CBRT. (3) Foreign debt instruments must have received an investment rating for long-term... demand according to the rating scale of the rating agency of the issuing partnership. This rating must be received one year before application to the CMB. (4) In case of public offering of foreign capital market instruments, foreign companies must appoint a representative agent whose qualifications and obligations are set by Communiqué No. VII-128.4. (5) The financial reports to be drawn up by foreign corporations (financial statements, annual report of the board of directors, statement of responsibility reports) and their preparation must comply with the accounting standards accepted in CMB regulations for corporations whose shares are traded on the stock exchange or, if deemed appropriate by the CMB, with internationally accepted accounting standards. (6) Foreign corporations are subject to the same principles as corporations whose shares are traded on the stock exchange, in terms of independent audit obligations of financial statements. The independent auditing of financial tables must be conducted by an independent auditing firm included on the list of authorized independent auditing firms of the CMB or an international independent auditing firm to which these firms belong, in compliance with internationally accepted independent auditing standards. (7) Foreign corporations must fulfill all obligations concerning public disclosure to which similar corporations in Turkey are subject.

There are no restrictions with regard to assets, except when these assets are to form part of the cover of the technical reserves of an insurance company. Insurance, reinsurance, and pension companies may invest their technical reserves in securities issued by residents of OECD countries to cover their risk held outside Turkey. Securities transactions must be carried out through banks and intermediary institutions authorized under the capital markets legislation, and all related transfers must be carried out through banks (including participation banks).

The sale, issuance, and public offering of capital market instruments abroad by resident legal entities, except public institutions and establishments, are not restricted, provided the document regarding the issue is submitted to and approved by the CMB, pursuant to the capital markets legislation. The Capital Markets Law regulates the registration of capital market instruments. Securities transactions must be carried out through banks and intermediary institutions authorized under the capital markets legislation, and all related transfers must be carried out through banks (including participation banks).

Nonresidents (including investment partnership and investment funds abroad) may purchase all kinds of securities and other capital market instruments through banks and intermediary institutions that are authorized under the capital market legislation.

Foreign capital markets instruments and related terms are defined in the CMB Communiqué on the Foreign Capital Market Instruments, Depositary Receipts and Foreign Investment Funds (VII-128.4) as follows: “Foreign capital market instruments” refer to securities issued by foreign corporations or foreign states and local administrations, except for foreign investment fund units, as further defined in subparagraph (§) of the first paragraph of Article 3 of the Capital Market Law (6362); a “Foreign corporation” refers to a corporation or, an establishment issuing capital market instruments according to laws of the relevant country, from persons resident abroad, as defined in the Governmental Decree on Protection of Value of Turkish Currency No.32, and “Foreign investment fund units” refer to securities issued by a foreign investment fund classified as a collective investment scheme founded abroad, and are considered as other capital market instruments.

The issuance, public offering, private placement, and sale of foreign capital market instruments and depository receipts by nonresidents are subject to the provisions of the capital markets legislation. Nonresident and resident issuers must apply to the CMB for the approval of the prospectus before public offering. The principles regarding public offering, private placement, sales to qualified investors, and sales must be carried out within the framework of the provisions of the Communiqué appropriate for the nature of the capital market instrument, unless specified otherwise by the regulations of the CMB. In accordance with the CMB Communiqué on Foreign Capital Market Instruments, Depository Receipts and Foreign Investment Funds (VII-128.4), issuers must apply to the CMB for approval of the prospectus or issuance document of the following foreign capital market instruments and depository receipts: (1) public offerings of foreign capital market instruments and depository receipts, (2) sales of foreign capital market instruments and depository receipts through private placement and/or to qualified investors, and (3) shares issued by foreign corporations whose shares are traded on the stock exchange through capital contributions and capital contributions to be paid from equities.

Foreign capital market instruments offered to the public in Turkey (1) must not have been rejected for trading on the exchange of the country of issue by the exchange or capital market authority on protection of investors and on similar grounds; (2) must have been drawn up in liras or foreign currencies whose daily exchange rates are announced by the CBRT; (3) must have received an investment rating for long-term demand according to the rating scale of the rating agency of the issuing partnership; this rating must be received one year before application to the CMB; (4) in case of public offering of foreign capital market instruments, foreign companies must appoint a representative agent whose qualifications and obligations are set by Communiqué No. VII-128.4; (5) must have financial reports drawn up by foreign corporations (financial statements, annual report of board of directors, statement of responsibility reports) prepared in compliance with the accounting standards accepted in CMB regulations for corporations whose shares are traded on the stock exchange or, if deemed appropriate by the CMB, with internationally accepted accounting standards; (6) are subject to the same principles as corporations whose shares are traded on the stock exchange, in terms of independent audit obligations of financial statements; independent auditing of financial tables must be conducted by the independent auditing firms listed by the CMB or the international independent auditing firms of which they are members, in compliance with internationally accepted independent auditing standards; and (7) must fulfill all obligations concerning public disclosure to which similar corporations residing in Turkey are subject.

There are no restrictions with regard to assets, except when these assets are to form part of the cover of the technical reserves of an insurance company. Insurance, reinsurance, and pension companies may invest their technical reserves in securities issued by residents of OECD countries to cover risk held outside Turkey. These assets are also held as collateral, provided they are at TAKASBANK (Istanbul Settlement and Custody Bank Inc.). Securities transactions must be carried out through banks and intermediary institutions authorized under the capital markets legislation, and all related transfers must be carried out through banks (including participation banks).
Sale or issue abroad by residents

Yes. The sale, issuance, and public offering of capital market instruments abroad by resident legal entities, except public institutions and establishments, are not restricted, provided the document regarding the issue is approved by the CMB, pursuant to the capital markets legislation. The Capital Markets Law regulates the registration of capital market instruments. In addition to the regulations governing shares or other securities of a participating nature, issuers are required to submit the issue document regarding the issued capital market instrument to be approved by the CMB pursuant to the Communiqué Prospectus and Issue Document (II-5.1).

On money market instruments

Yes.

Purchase locally by nonresidents

No. Purchases of domestic securities and other instruments by nonresidents are free of restrictions. However, securities transactions must be carried out through banks and intermediary institutions authorized under the capital markets legislation, and all related transfers must be carried out through banks (including participation banks).

Sale or issue locally by nonresidents

Yes. Controls apply to the issuance and public sale of money market securities, except for securities that are not regulated under the current legislation on capital markets, such as certificates of deposit (CDs) and bankers’ acceptances. Commercial paper, bank bills, and bank-guaranteed bills with a maturity of less than one year are subject to CMB regulations. Nonresidents are required to apply to the CMB for approval of the prospectus and offer these securities to the public according to Communiqué on Foreign Capital Market Instruments Depository Receipts and Foreign Investment Funds (VII-128.4).

Purchase abroad by residents

Yes. There are no restrictions with regard to assets, except when these assets are to form part of the cover of the technical reserves of an insurance company. Insurance, reinsurance, and pension companies may invest their technical reserves in securities issued by residents of OECD countries with regard to their risk held outside Turkey. Securities transactions must be carried out through banks and intermediary institutions authorized under the capital markets legislation, and all related transfers must be carried out through banks (including participation banks).

Sale or issue abroad by residents

Yes. Commercial paper, bank bills, and bank-guaranteed bills with a maturity of less than one year are subject to the regulations of the CMB. Issuers must apply to the CMB for the approval of the issue document before issuing these securities in a foreign capital market.

On collective investment securities

Yes.

Purchase locally by nonresidents

No.

Sale or issue locally by nonresidents

Yes. Pursuant to Communiqué No. VII-128.4, the sale through active marketing or issuance of these instruments is subject to CMB legislation. Foreign collective investment companies are required to apply to the CMB for approval of fund rules just as domestic collective investment companies must do, before offering their securities to the public. Foreign collective investment companies must have a representative that is a bank or a broadly authorized intermediary institution in Turkey. Public offerings are made by this representative and/or through banks or intermediary institutions authorized by the representative. Fund representative must apply to the CMB for approval of prospectus.

Purchase abroad by residents

Yes. There are no restrictions with regard to purchase of assets abroad by residents, except when these assets are to form part of the cover of... the technical reserves of an insurance company. Insurance, reinsurance, and pension companies may invest their technical reserves in securities issued by residents of OECD countries with regard to their risk held outside Turkey.

Resident collective investment funds may invest up to 20% of the fund’s net asset value in foreign exchange-traded funds.

Sale or issue abroad by residents  Yes.

According to Capital Markets Law No. 6362, national collective investment companies must apply to the CMB for approval when issuing or selling securities in Turkey or abroad.

Controls on derivatives and other instruments  Yes.

Purchases of derivatives and other instruments by nonresidents are free of restrictions. However, securities transactions must be carried out through banks and intermediary institutions authorized under the capital markets legislation, and all related transfers must be carried out through banks (including participation banks).

Purchase locally by nonresidents  No.

Purchases of derivatives and other instruments by nonresidents are free of restrictions. However, securities transactions must be carried out through banks and intermediary institutions authorized under the capital markets legislation, and all related transfers must be carried out through banks (including participation banks).

Sale or issue locally by nonresidents  Yes.

According to Capital Markets Law No. 6362, the performance of investment services and activities as a regular occupation, business, or a professional activity requires permission from the CMB. Investment services and activities may only be performed by investment firms, which are defined as intermediary institutions as well as other capital market institutions established to perform investment services and activities, the establishment and operation principles of which are designated by the CMB, and banks. Sale and issuance of derivatives are regarded as investment service and activity, which require permission of the CMB. The only exception is noncommercial or nonoccupational sale and purchase of derivative instruments by natural or legal persons among themselves without intermediation of an investment firm.

Sale and issuance of derivatives are regarded as investment service and activity, which require permission of the CMB. The only exception is noncommercial or nonoccupational sale and purchase of derivative instruments by natural or legal persons among themselves without intermediation of an investment firm.

According to Communiqué No. III-37.1 on Principles Regarding Investment Services, Investment Activities and Ancillary Services, investment services and activities obtained by persons residing in Turkey, including from investment firms on their own initiative and from financial institutions abroad, accounts opened at such institutions, cash and other assets transferred to such accounts, and transactions in these accounts are beyond the scope of this Communiqué, provided activities such as promotion, advertisement, and marketing are not intended for persons residing in Turkey.

Purchase abroad by residents  Yes.

There are no restrictions with regard to assets abroad, except when these assets are to form part of the cover of the technical reserves of an insurance company. Insurance, reinsurance, and pension companies may invest their technical reserves in financial institutions established in OECD countries to cover their risk held outside Turkey. There are no controls on derivatives traded abroad whose underlying instruments are the same as those traded in local derivative exchanges. According to Decree No. 32, leveraged transactions and derivative transactions determined to be subject to the same provisions as the former must be conducted by the people resident in Turkey only through competent institutions authorized by the CMB.

Starting March 13, 2017, leveraged transaction of foreign exchange, precious metals, and other assets designated by the CMB must only be conducted by resident through competent institutions authorized by the CMB.

Leveraged transactions are defined as “sale and purchase transactions through leverage of the foreign exchange, precious metals, and other assets designated by the CMB, on an electronic platform, in consideration of collateral deposited” in the Communiqué No. III-37.1.
Furthermore, Article 99 of the Capital Markets Law states that unauthorized leveraged transaction activities which have been carried out via Internet and directed to persons residing in Turkey by companies abroad must be banned by blocking off the access to the relevant website by the Information and Communications Technologies Authority on the request of the CMB.

Credits extended by nonresidents with a maturity of more than one year that are obtained by the public sector or guaranteed by the Treasury must be registered in the External Financing Information System maintained by the Ministry of Treasury and Finance. All other credits are monitored by the CBRT for statistical purposes.

Restrictions apply only to commodity credits of more than two years for exports of nondurable goods and of more than five years for exports of other goods.

Residents may freely obtain Turkish lira credits from abroad, provided they use such credits through banks (including participating banks). With an amendment to Decree No. 32, the authority to determine the maximum maturity period for pre-financing credits is delegated to the Ministry of Treasury and Finance. These credits can be utilized to finance exportation.

An amendment on foreign exchange legislation has been put into force from May 2, 2018 (Official Gazette No. 30312 of January 25, 2018). With the new legislation, in general Turkish residents, who do not have income in foreign currency, cannot take loans in foreign currency domestically or from abroad. The rule will be applied to all Turkish residents apart from those which have some special conditions. For residents that have income in foreign currency who have foreign exchange liabilities less than US$15 million, can borrow in foreign exchange according to a limit which does not exceed the sum of their foreign exchange income of the last three fiscal years. Previously, no such limit was in place. Natural persons resident in Turkey cannot use foreign currency credits domestically or from abroad. Residents in Turkey cannot use foreign currency indexed credits domestically or from abroad.

By residents to nonresidents

Banks, financial leasing companies, factoring companies, financing companies resident in Turkey, and other persons determined by the ministry can extend foreign currency and Turkish lira loans to nonresidents. Residents may extend financial credits in foreign exchange and liras to their parent companies, group companies, affiliates, and subsidiaries abroad. There are no restrictions with regard to assets abroad, except when these assets are to form part of the cover of the technical reserves of an insurance company. Insurance, reinsurance, and pension companies may invest their technical reserves in financial institutions established in OECD countries to cover their risk held outside Turkey.

Controls apply to investment in (1) mining, except through a company established in Turkey; (2) exploration and exploitation of petroleum by enterprises controlled or owned by foreign countries, unless authorization is granted; (3) radio and television broadcasting, whose foreign partner share may not exceed 50%. Further, Law No. 6112 on the Establishment of Radio and Television Enterprises and Their Media Services Article 19f reads as follows: “A foreign real or legal person can directly become a partner of maximum two media service providers. If foreign real or legal persons hold shares in companies that are shareholders of media service providers and become an indirect partner of the broadcasters, the chair, the deputy chair and the majority of the Board of Executives and the general director of the broadcasting enterprises have to be the citizens of Republic of Turkey, and the majority of the votes in the general assemblies of broadcasting enterprises should belong to real or legal persons having Turkish citizenship. In main contracts of such corporations, the arrangements ensuring these provisions must be stated clearly”; (4) the accounting, auditing, and bookkeeping services sector; (5) transportation, in accordance with cabotage rights; (6) electricity, in the scope of privatization activities; foreign individuals and legal entities may not have a controlling market share in electricity generation, transmission, and distribution; (7) education; foreign real or legal persons may not set up education institutions unless all students are foreigners. International private education institutions may be set up by real or legal persons on authorization of the Council of Ministers. For tertiary education institutions, the majority in the administrative bodies must be Turkish nationals; (8) aviation; no more than 49% equity participation by foreigners is allowed. Licenses to operate airlines are only granted to locally incorporated companies whose management is under the control of Turkish citizens and the majority of voting shares are owned by Turkish citizens. Airlines, of which the majority of shares are controlled by foreigners, are not permitted to carry passengers from one national airport to another. To obtain ground handling services licenses (A and C Group Licenses), the majority authorized administration and representation of the company must be Turkish. The contract of such a company has to guarantee that the votes of its majority shareholders belong to Turkish nationals; (9) fishing; foreign persons may not obtain a fishing license. Enterprises that are established in Turkey in conformity with the legislation on FDI are subject to prior authorization and license requirements of the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry. According to Communiqué No...
2012/66 of August 18, 2012, on Regulation of Fish Hunting, foreign persons cannot operate in tuna fishing by renting Turkish vessels; (10) banking; permission to establish a bank, which has to be founded in the form of a joint-stock company, or to open the first branch of a foreign bank in Turkey, shall be given by the Banking Regulation and Supervision Board; (11) port services; port services are provided under concession agreements; (12) advisory services on foreign and international law by foreign lawyers in the Turkish territory; except for establishment in the form of “foreign attorney partnership (yabancı avukatlık ortaklığı)” and based on reciprocity; (13) health-related services; foreign persons can only establish private hospitals with the permission of the Ministry of Health; (14) pharmaceuticals and medical products; an enterprise, which will produce pharmaceuticals or medical products, has to be managed by a responsible director who must be Turkish National.

Controls on liquidation of direct investment
No. Proceeds may be transferred abroad freely but must be reported to the CBRT.

Controls on real estate transactions
Yes.

Purchase abroad by residents
Yes. There are no restrictions with regard to assets abroad, except when these assets are to form part of the cover of the technical reserves of an insurance company. Insurance, reinsurance, and pension companies may invest their technical reserves in real estate located in OECD countries to cover their risk held outside Turkey.

Purchase locally by nonresidents
Yes. There is no reciprocity requirement in real estate acquisitions of foreign real persons, and the Council of Ministers, in compliance with legal restrictions, bilateral international relations, and national interests, is authorized to determine the countries authorized to acquire real estate in Turkey. The total area of the real estate acquired by foreign real persons may not exceed 10% of the privately owned land in the town and 30 hectares a person across the country. The Council of Ministers may also authorize an increase of 30 hectares not more than twice.

If a foreign real or legal person acquires vacant land, a project must be developed within two years and submitted to the relevant ministry for approval. The project must be monitored by the same ministry. These restrictions for foreign real and legal persons do not apply to the pledge on real estate.

In case of national interest, the Council of Ministers may limit, suspend, or prohibit the acquisition of immovable and/or limited rights in rem of foreign real and legal persons in terms of country, person, geographic area, duration, number, ratio, sort, qualification, area, or quantity. In principle, foreign capital companies established in Turkey may freely acquire and use real estate to conduct business activities listed in the articles of association of their companies. Within this context, companies controlled by foreign investors (the companies in which foreign shareholders own at least 50% of the shares or have the authority to assign or dismiss the majority of the managers), willing to acquire immovable and/or limited rights in rem in Turkey, must apply to the Provincial Planning and Coordination Directorate (Prefecture Office) at the location of the property by presenting the required documents. Moreover, acquisitions in military zones and special security zones require permission from the Turkish military authorities and province governorships, respectively.

These restrictions for foreign capital companies do not apply to the pledge on real estate, liquidation of such pledges, acquisitions of real estate within the context of mergers and divisions of the companies, acquisitions in specific investment areas such as organized industrial zones, technology development zones, or free zones, and acquisitions of banks for the collection of their receivables. However, the banking regulation stipulates liquidation of such properties within a specific time frame.
Golden visa scheme is in place with the amendment of the Regulation on the Implementation of the Turkish Citizenship Law such that foreign persons may acquire Turkish citizenship by purchasing real estate of at least US$1 million, which is validated by the Ministry of Environment and Urbanization.

Provisions Specific to the Financial Sector

Provisions specific to commercial banks and other credit institutions

Borrowing abroad No.

Banks and financial leasing companies, factoring companies, and financing companies, which are resident in Turkey, can freely use foreign currency credits from abroad.

Maintenance of accounts abroad No.

Lending to nonresidents (financial or commercial credits)

Yes.

Banks, financial leasing companies, factoring companies, financing companies resident in Turkey, and other persons determined by the ministry operating in Turkey may extend credit in foreign exchange to nonresidents. Such credit may also be extended in liras.

Lending locally in foreign exchange

Yes.

In an attempt to contain risks associated with resident foreign exchange borrowing, an amendment on foreign exchange legislation has been put into force from May 2, 2018 (Official Gazette No.
30312 of January 25, 2018). With the new legislation, in general Turkish residents, who do not have income in foreign currency, cannot take loans in foreign currency domestically or from abroad.
The rule will be applied to all Turkish residents apart from those which have some special conditions. For residents that have income in foreign currency who have foreign exchange liabilities less than US$15 million, can borrow in foreign exchange according to a limit which does not exceed the sum of their foreign exchange income of the last three fiscal years. Previously, no such limit was in place. Natural persons resident in Turkey cannot use foreign currency credits domestically or from abroad. Residents in Turkey cannot use foreign currency indexed credits domestically or from abroad. With the amendment, most of the exceptions in the former regulation were preserved. However, according to previous regulation, banks could extend foreign exchange credit to residents without considering whether they have foreign currency income or not, if the credit has an average maturity exceeding one year and is in an amount not less than US$5 million. With the new regulation, this exception was removed and the rule of borrowing in foreign currency according to a limit which does not exceed the sum of foreign currency income of last three fiscal years has been put into practice for ensuring the firms borrow prudently and manage their foreign exchange risk efficiently.

Purchase of locally issued securities denominated in foreign exchange No.

Reserve requirements Yes.

Banks (including participation banks) and financing companies must maintain reserve requirements at the CBRT for deposits and other liabilities. RRRs of financing companies have been 0% effective June 14, 2019 (previously, these RRRs were the same as those of banks subject to RRRs). RRRs on Turkish lira liabilities were changed as follows:

Demand deposits, notice deposits, private current accounts, and deposits and participation accounts with maturities up to one month and three months:
(1) As announced August 13, 2018, and took effect July 27, 2018, decreased from 10.5% to 8%.
(2) As announced February 16, 2019, and effective February 8, 2019, decreased from 8% to 7%.

Deposits and participation accounts with maturities up to six months:
(1) As announced August 13, 2018, and took effect July 27, 2018, decreased from 7.5% to 5%.
(2) As announced February 16, 2019, and effective February 8, 2019, decreased from 5% to 4%.

Deposits and participation accounts with maturities up to one year:
(1) As announced August 13, 2018, and took effect July 27, 2018, decreased from 5.5% to 3%.
(2) As announced February 16, 2019, and effective February 8, 2019, decreased from 3% to 2%.

Deposits and participation accounts with one year or longer maturity:
(1) As announced August 13, 2018, and took effect July 27, 2018, decreased from 4% to 1.5%.
(2) As announced February 16, 2019, and effective February 8, 2019, decreased from 1.5% to 1%.

Other liabilities up to one-year maturity (including one year):
(1) As announced August 13, 2018, and took effect July 27, 2018, decreased from 10.5% to 8%.
(2) As announced February 16, 2019, and effective February 8, 2019, decreased from 8% to 7%.

Other liabilities up to three-year maturity (including three years):
(1) As announced August 13, 2018, and took effect July 27, 2018, decreased from 7% to 4.5%.
(2) As announced February 16, 2019, and effective February 8, 2019, decreased from 4.5% to 3.5%.
Other liabilities longer than three-year maturity:
(1) As announced August 13, 2018, and took effect July 27, 2018, decreased from 4% to 1.5%.
(2) As announced February 16, 2019, and effective February 8, 2019, decreased from 1.5% to 1%

The CBRT raised the RRRs of foreign currency noncore liabilities of banks and financing companies as a way to incentivize maturities of longer than three years as noted below.
The RRRs on foreign currency liabilities (including gold deposit accounts) were changed as follows:

Demand deposits, notice deposits, private current accounts, and deposits/participation accounts up to one-month, three-month, six-month, and one-year maturities:
(1) As announced May 9, 2019, and effective May 3, 2019, increased from 12% to 13%.
(2) As announced May 27, 2019, and effective May 17, 2019, increased from 13% to 15%.

Deposits/participation accounts with one-year or longer maturity:
(1) As announced May 9, 2019, and effective May 3, 2019, increased from 8% to 9%.
(2) As announced May 27, 2019, and effective May 17, 2019, increased from 9% to 11%.

Other liabilities up to one year (including one year):
(1) As announced August 13, 2018, and took effect July 27, 2018, decreased from 24% to 20%.
(2) As announced May 9, 2019, and effective May 3, 2019, increased from 20% to 21%.

Other liabilities up to two-year maturity (including two years):
(1) As announced August 13, 2018, and took effect July 27, 2018, decreased from 19% to 15%.
(2) As announced May 9, 2019, and effective May 3, 2019, increased from 15% to 16%.

Other liabilities up to three-year maturity (including three years):
(1) As announced August 13, 2018, and took effect July 27, 2018, decreased from 14% to 10%.
(2) As announced May 9, 2019, and effective May 3, 2019, increased from 10% to 11%.

Other liabilities up to five-year maturity (including five years):
(1) As announced May 9, 2019, and effective May 3, 2019, increased from 6% to 7%.

Other liabilities longer than five-year maturity:
(1) As announced May 9, 2019, and effective May 3, 2019, increased from 4% to 5%.

According to the Press Release No. 2016/2, development and investment banks’ borrower funds were subject to reserve requirements and RRRs for these liabilities are equal to RRRs of “Demand deposits, notice deposits, private current accounts, and deposits and participation accounts with maturities up to one month and three months.”

With the aim of narrowing the cost differential of meeting the lira reserve requirements in liras or foreign exchange, the ROM was launched September 16, 2011. The ROM expresses the structure that allows banks and financing companies to keep a certain ratio of lira reserve requirements in foreign exchange and standard gold and from September 1, 2016, wrought or scrap gold collected by banks from residents.

As announced May 7, 2018, and took effect April 20, 2018, the upper limit for the foreign exchange maintenance facility within the ROM was lowered to 45% from 55%, the first six tranches were reduced by 5 points, and the last five tranches were dropped.
As announced August 6, 2018, and took effect July 27, 2018, the upper limit for the foreign exchange maintenance facility within the ROM has been lowered to 40% from 45%.

As announced August 13, 2018, and took effect July 27, 2018, in addition to US dollars, euro can be used for the maintenance against Turkish lira reserves under the ROM.

As announced February 16, 2019, and effective February 22, 2019, the upper limit of the facility of holding standard gold converted from wrought or scrap gold collected from residents has been increased from 5% to 10% of Turkish lira reserve requirements.

As announced May 9, 2019, and effective May 3, 2019, the upper limit for the foreign exchange maintenance facility within the ROM has been lowered from 40% to 30%.

RR for banks and finance companies must be held in US dollars for liabilities in US dollars, and in US dollars or euros for liabilities in other foreign currencies.

Gold deposit accounts are subject to a reserve requirement. Total RR for precious metal deposit accounts may be maintained as standard gold. Domestic currency reserve requirements are maintained on a two-week-average basis. Banks may carry over 5% of excess or deficiency of their lira RR in one maintenance period to be used or made up only in the following maintenance period; the RR for foreign exchange liabilities must be held in special accounts with the CBRT; 4% may be maintained on a two-week-average basis.

In case of noncompliance with the required reserve obligations, banks and financing companies must hold non-interest-bearing deposits with the CBRT. The deposit must be twice the deficient amount of domestic currency RR and three times the deficient amount of foreign exchange RR and must be in liras and US dollars, respectively.

From October 23, 2018, the CBRT pays interest on banks’ and financing companies’ foreign exchange component of RR at 2% for US-dollar-denominated RR (increased from 1.5%) and 0% for euro-denominated RR.

Effective March 6, 2020, but announced March 7, 2020, the CBRT made changes to the reserve requirement framework to channel loan supply towards productive and production-oriented sectors. Accordingly, banks will be able to benefit from reserve requirement incentives under the following conditions:

For banks with a real annual loan growth rate above 15%: If their adjusted real loan growth rate, which is calculated by deducting the entire real changes in loans with a longer-than-two-year maturity extended to selected sectors and housing loans with a five-year and longer maturity from the numerator of the growth rate formula, is below 15%.

For banks with a real annual loan growth rate below 15%: If their adjusted real loan growth rate, which is calculated by deducting 75% of the real change in retail loans excluding housing loans with a five-year and longer maturity and the entire TL loans extended -starting from 9 March 2020 to facilitate early repayment or early restructuring of FX cash loans from the numerator of the growth rate formula, is above 5%.

Selected sectors have been determined according to the Statistical Classification of Economic Activities in the European Community (NACE) as follows:
Section A: Agriculture, Forestry and Fishing
Section B: Mining and Quarrying
Effective June 12, 2020, but announced June 20, 2020, the CBRT made further changes to the reserve requirement framework to provide banks with flexibility in meeting the loan demand specific to the pandemic by temporarily (until the year end) suspending the enforcement of the rule of having adjusted real loan growth rate below 15% for the banks with a real annual loan growth rate above 15% in order to be able to benefit from reserve requirement incentives.

Liquid asset requirements

Yes. Foreign currency deposits/participation funds are treated as less stable deposits/participation funds and 10% run off rate is applied to foreign exchange retail deposits, whereas 5% run off rate is applied to national currency deposits. This implementation is in compliance with Basel III LCR Framework. The two LCRs deposit and participation banks must maintain are such that the total LCR must be at least 90% (previously 80%) (in line with the transition rules of the Basel III LCR standard) and foreign currency LCR must be at least 70% (previously 60%), from January 1, 2018. Effective January 1, 2019, total LCR requirement is 100% and foreign exchange LCR requirement is 80%.

The opening of branches or representative offices, establishment of companies, and participation in existing companies abroad by banks founded in Turkey are subject to Banking Regulation and Supervision Agency (BRSA) approval, on the condition of compliance with the corporate governance and protective provisions set forth in the Banking Law and the principles established by the BRSA.

In banks by nonresidents

Yes.

Acquisition of shares that results in one person directly or indirectly owning shares representing 10% or more of the capital of a bank; acquisition of shares that results in one person owning capital shares exceeding 10%, 20%, 33%, or 50% of the capital of a bank; and transfers of shares that result in one person’s capital shares falling below these limits are subject to BRSA approval. Transactions that result in a reduction in the number of shareholders to fewer than five, or in shares being assigned without permission, may not be registered. These rules apply to the acquisition of voting rights and establishment of rights to usufruct in connection with shares. The assignment and transfer of preferential shares that confer the right to promote a member to the board of directors or audit committee or issue new shares require BRSA approval, regardless of the above... limits. In the application of these regulations, there is no distinction between residents and nonresidents.

Open foreign exchange position limits  Yes. The BRSA regulates, supervises, and monitors all banks’ open foreign exchange positions. All foreign-exchange-indexed assets and liabilities must be accounted for fully as foreign assets and foreign liabilities. Banks are required to maintain a balance in their foreign exchange assets and liabilities and maintain foreign exchange positions that are in line with their own funds. The absolute value of the weekly arithmetic mean of daily ratios between net foreign exchange positions and own funds must be no greater than 20%. If the maximum is exceeded, banks must inform the BRSA. The weekly excess must be eliminated within two weeks. The weekly excess may not exceed more than six times in a calendar year, even if it is eliminated.

On resident assets and liabilities  Yes.

On nonresident assets and liabilities  Yes.

Provisions specific to institutional investors  Yes.

Insurance companies  Yes. For insurance companies, limitations on investment instruments apply equally to residents and nonresidents.

Limits (max.) on securities issued by nonresidents  Yes. There are no restrictions with regard to assets, except for those that cover technical reserves. Insurance, reinsurance, and pension companies may invest their technical reserves in securities issued by residents of OECD countries to cover risk held outside Turkey.

cover technical reserves. Insurance, reinsurance, and pension companies may invest their technical reserves in deposits in financial institutions established in OECD countries to cover their risk held outside Turkey.

Limits (min.) on investment portfolio held locally  Yes. Securities of any one company held by insurance companies may not exceed 10% of its equity, and a single group’s securities may not exceed 20% of its equity. Insurance companies must invest their technical reserves in the following assets: Turkish currency, foreign currency traded by the CBRT, demand and time deposits in Turkish currency, deposit accounts in foreign currency, loan facilities on investment fund participation certificates, profit- or loss-sharing certificates, treasury bonds, state bonds, foreign-currency-indexed bonds, receivables from insurance and reinsurance operations, blocked accounts of credit cards, private sector bonds, bank and financing bonds, asset-based securities, stocks, real estate and certificates of real estate repurchase, long-term loan facilities to natural persons and secured by mortgages, deferred tax assets, prepaid taxes and funds, other noncurrent assets other than real estate, and other money and capital market instruments determined by the Ministry of Treasury and Finance. Insurance companies must invest their deposits in the following: (1) liras or foreign exchange traded by the CBRT or accounts in such currencies; (2) government bonds, treasury bills, and other securities issued by OECD countries or temporary receipts drawn up by the CBRT for such assets, provided they are in the name of the insurance company; (3) share certificates of companies, at least 51% of whose capital is owned by government economic establishments or public economic institutions; (4) share certificates and debentures traded on the stock exchange, provided they do not in general exceed 30% of the total securities, the share of those belonging to one company does not exceed 10% of the total securities, or the share of those belonging to one capital group does not exceed 20% of the total securities; and (5) participation certificates in investment funds, provided those belonging to one founder do not exceed 10% of the total securities.

Exchange Arrangement
Foreign exchange market

Spot exchange market

Operated by the central bank

Foreign exchange standing facility

08/01/2019 The selling rates for foreign exchange deposits at 1-week maturity were reduced from 4.25% to 4% and at 1-month maturity from 5% to 4.75% for USD.

08/01/2019 The buying rate on collateral foreign exchange deposits for the USD was reduced from 2.25% to 2% for 1-week, 2-week, and 1-month maturities.

Exports and Export Proceeds

Repatriation requirements

03/03/2019 The validity period of the regulation on repatriation requirements for export proceeds was extended to one year. In other words, the regulation is in force until September 3, 2019. According to the regulation, export proceeds relating to export transactions carried out by residents in Turkey must be transferred or brought to the intermediary bank directly and without delay following the importer’s payment. The period of bringing export proceeds to country cannot exceed 180 days from the date of actual export. At least 80% of the export proceeds must be sold to a bank.

Provisions specific to commercial banks and other credit institutions

Differential treatment of deposit accounts in foreign exchange

Reserve requirements

02/08/2019 As announced February 16, 2019, reserve requirement ratios on Turkish lira liabilities were changed as follows:
- Demand deposits, notice deposits, private current accounts, and deposits and participation accounts with maturities up to one month and three months: decreased from 8% to 7%.
- Deposits and participation accounts with maturities up to six months: decreased from 5% to 4%.
- Deposits and participation accounts with maturities up to one year: decreased from 3% to 2%.
- Deposits and participation accounts with one year or longer maturity: decreased from 1.5% to 1%.
- Other liabilities up to one-year maturity (including one year): decreased from 8% to 7%.
- Other liabilities up to three-year maturity (including three years): decreased from 4.5% to 3.5%.
- Other liabilities longer than three-year maturity: decreased from 1.5% to 1%.

02/22/2019 As announced February 16, 2019, the upper limit of the facility of holding standard gold converted from wrought or scrap gold collected from residents has been increased from 5% to 10% of Turkish lira reserve requirements.

05/03/2019 As announced May 9, 2019, the reserve requirement ratios on foreign currency liabilities (including gold deposit accounts) were changed as follows:
- Demand deposits, notice deposits, private current accounts, and deposits/participation accounts up to one-month, three-month, six-month, and one-year maturities: increased from 12% to 13%.
- Deposits/participation accounts with one-year or longer maturity: increased from 8% to 9%.
- Other liabilities up to one year (including one year): increased from 20% to 21%.
Other liabilities up to two-year maturity (including two years): increased from 15% to 16%.
Other liabilities up to three-year maturity (including three years): increased from 10% to 11%.
Other liabilities up to five-year maturity (including five years): increased from 6% to 7%.
Other liabilities longer than five-year maturity: increased from 4% to 5%.

05/03/2019  As announced May 9, 2019, the upper limit for the foreign exchange maintenance facility within the reserve option mechanism has been lowered from 40% to 30%.

05/17/2019  As announced May 27, 2019, the reserve requirement ratios on foreign currency liabilities (including gold deposit accounts) were changed as follows:
Demand deposits, notice deposits, private current accounts, and deposits/participation accounts up to one-month, three-month, six-month, and one-year maturities: increased from 13% to 15%.
Deposits/participation accounts with one-year or longer maturity: increased from 9% to 11%.

06/14/2019  Reserve requirement ratios (RRRs) of financing companies were reduced to 0% (previously, these RRRs were the same as those of banks subject to RRRs).

03/06/2020  The CBRT enabled banks to benefit from reserve requirement incentives under the following conditions:
- For banks with a real annual loan growth rate above 15%: If their adjusted real loan growth rate, which is calculated by deducting the entire real changes in loans with a longer-than-two-year maturity extended to selected sectors and housing loans with a five-year and longer maturity from the numerator of the growth rate formula, is below 15%.
- For banks with a real annual loan growth rate below 15%: If their adjusted real loan growth rate, which is calculated by deducting 75% of the real change in retail loans excluding housing loans with a five-year and longer maturity and the entire TL loans extended from 9 March 2020 to facilitate early repayment or early restructuring of FX cash loans from the numerator of the growth rate formula, is above 5%.

06/12/2020  The CBRT temporarily (until the year end) suspended the enforcement of the rule of having adjusted real loan growth rate below 15% for the banks with a real annual loan growth rate above 15% in order to be able to benefit from reserve requirement incentives.

Liquid asset requirements

01/01/2019  Total liquidity coverage ratio (LCR) requirement is 100% (previously 90%), and foreign exchange LCR requirement is 80% (previously 70%).

Floating

Free floating

Official exchange rate  Yes.  From January 1, 2015, the CBT established exchange rate at TMT 3.50 per US dollar. Transactions in foreign currency may be reflected in accounting records at nominal value and for accounting purposes may be converted to domestic currency at the official exchange rate in effect at the time of its completion. With each change in the official exchange rate, balances in foreign currency accounts (deposits) in domestic currency must be recalculated without changing the nominal value of the foreign currency balance. The official rates are used in all official transactions, including mandatory foreign exchange sales, and for accounting and valuation purposes.

Foreign exchange market  Yes. The official rates are used in all official transactions, including mandatory foreign exchange sales, and for accounting and valuation purposes. For all other transactions, the exchange rates in all foreign exchange market segments may deviate from the official exchange rates only by up to 0.25% for selling and 0.5% for buying, including fees and commissions.

Spot exchange market  Yes. Foreign currency is generated through the purchase of foreign exchange by authorized credit institutions at the Interbank Currency Exchange of Turkmenistan (ICET), interbank OTC market, and by foreign exchange bureaus from individuals. There were 204 foreign exchange bureaus operating in the country, opened by authorized credit institutions on the basis of a permit by the CBT. Foreign exchange bureaus only perform exchange operations (with individuals).

State-owned enterprises (SOEs) are required to conduct their foreign exchange transactions in the ICET, either directly or through banks’ intermediation. Banks and individual entrepreneurs and private legal entities, through banks’ intermediation, can conduct foreign exchange transactions in the ICET or the interbank OTC market. Authorized banks may conduct their clients’ foreign exchange transactions (except for government-owned institutions and enterprises) with their own resources and without recourse to the ICET.

Operated by the central bank  Yes.

Foreign exchange standing facility  Yes. In trading at the ICET, resident legal entities, whatever their organizational or legal form, may sell and purchase foreign currency directly or through intermediaries. Participants pay the ICET a commission on transactions as determined by a resolution of the president of Turkmenistan. The exchange rate of foreign currency is defined as the weighted average price of all transactions with a specific foreign currency. The CBT intervenes in the ICET to prevent adverse currency fluctuations.

There is an established interbank foreign exchange market in Turkmenistan. Authorized credit institutions may sell and purchase foreign exchange directly in the exchange market and/or through correspondent banks. When selling or buying foreign exchange, rates established by participants in the interbank market may not deviate more than 0.25% and 0.5% from the official rate for the sale and purchase transactions, respectively, including fees and commissions.

This information can be found at the AREAER ONLINE database: http://www.elibrary-areaer.imf.org/Pages/Reports.aspx.

Arrangements for Payments and Receipts

Prescription of currency requirements Yes. International transactions take place through correspondent accounts. Settlements with countries with which Turkmenistan has bilateral payments agreements are made in accordance with the terms of these agreements. Both domestic and foreign currency may be used for foreign trade transactions. Settlements and payments between residents are made in domestic currency only. The use of foreign currency for payments in Turkmenistan is governed by Turkmen legislation.

Controls on the use of domestic currency Yes. Controls apply in accordance with the Law of Turkmenistan on the CBT, Law of Turkmenistan on Foreign Exchange Regulation and Control in Foreign Economic Relations, and the CBT instructions on provision of loans, bank accounts, noncash settlements, and cash operations of banks in Turkmenistan.

For current transactions and payments Yes. These transactions and payments are regulated by the general rules according to the foreign exchange legislation, and there are no special restrictions.

For capital transactions Yes. According to the Law of Turkmenistan on the CBT and Law of Turkmenistan on Foreign Exchange Regulation and Control in Foreign Economic Relations, the manat is the sole legal tender. Foreign currency may not be used for payments between residents, except as stipulated by law.

Approval of the CMT is required for SOEs only for a certain list of goods.

Administration of control

Yes. Foreign exchange control in Turkmenistan is exercised by the CMT and the exchange control bodies and agents. The CBT has authority over foreign exchange transactions of credit institutions and foreign currency exchanges. According to the Law on Foreign Exchange Regulation and Control in Foreign Economic Relations of 2011, exchange control agents in Turkmenistan are authorized credit institutions; stock, currency, and commodity exchanges; keepers of state registers and state registrars; bodies of the customs service of Turkmenistan; bodies of the tax service of Turkmenistan; other bodies authorized to exercise foreign exchange control under Turkmenistan law.

Along with the CBT, the exchange control bodies in Turkmenistan are the central executive bodies authorized by the CMT within their competence established by the legislation of Turkmenistan.

Floating

Yes. The de jure exchange rate arrangement is free floating. The authorities intervene in Uganda’s foreign exchange market when short-term fluctuations jeopardize its orderly operation. The BOU intervenes in the interbank foreign exchange market (IFEM) at the banks’ quoted rates using the best bid-ask principle. The BOU publishes information on its interventions in its bimonthly, quarterly state of the economy, and annual reports. The information includes amounts purchased and sold through the reserve buildup program, interventions, and targeted transactions. The data is made available in the Monetary Policy Report two weeks following the MPC Meeting. The de facto exchange rate arrangement is floating.

Free floating

Official exchange rate  Yes. The daily official exchange rate is calculated as the midrate computed from the simple average interbank exchange rates for purchases and sales of foreign exchange. The average rate for the previous month is used by the customs authority for tax computation on imports. The BOU’s foreign exchange transactions with government (ministries, departments, and agencies) are conducted at the day’s opening spot rates.

CPI

Core inflation  Yes.  Inflation target is expressed as average annual core inflation. Core inflation excludes energy, fuel, and utilities and food crops.

Target horizon  Yes.  The target horizon stands at 1–3 years.

Operating target (policy rate)  Yes.

Policy rate  Yes.  The policy rate used by the CB is the Central Bank Rate (CBR). The CBR was 7% as of June 2020. The short-term policy rate that is guided by the CBR is the seven-day interest rate.

Target corridor band  Yes.  The monetary policy framework uses the BOU interest rate (called the CBR) as a signaling device of the monetary policy stance to meet the inflation target. The CBR guides the seven-day interbank money market rate, which is the operational target of monetary policy. The seven-day interbank money market rate can fluctuate within a band of, effective June 8, 2020, ±2 (previously ±3) percentage points around the CBR without the BOU intervention. The CBR as of end-June 2020 was 7%. The rediscount rate is set as the CBR plus a margin of 3 percentage points, and the Bank Rate (the rate at which commercial banks borrow from the BOU through the Lombard window) at a margin of 4 percentage points.

Other  n.a.

Accountability  Yes.

Open letter  No.

Parliamentary hearings  Yes.  The BOU is statutorily expected to appear before Parliament to answer queries that may arise from the Auditor General’s report. The frequency of these hearings depends on whether there are any issues raised by the Auditor General.

Other  Yes.  Inflation forecasts and explanation of any deviations from the previous forecasts are published.

Transparency  Yes.

Publication of votes  No.  No information on votes of individual members or total number of votes in favor or against the decision is published.

Publication of minutes  No.  The minutes of the meetings of the MPC are not published.

Publication of inflation forecasts  Yes.  Every two months inflation forecasts are published in the MPC Statement and Reports that follow the MPC meetings.

Other monetary framework

Exchange tax  No.

Exchange subsidy  No.

Foreign exchange market  Yes.  Commercial banks and foreign exchange bureaus are free to set exchange rates and commissions in transactions with their clients.

Spot exchange market  Yes.  The BOU is authorized to grant licenses to deal in foreign exchange. ADs include commercial banks and foreign exchange bureaus. ADs may freely determine their bid-ask spreads and foreign exchange commissions in transactions in the retail market with their clients. However, ADs that participate in the wholesale market (IFEM) must maintain a 10 shilling spread on the bid-ask quotes they post on the Reuters Dealing System. Foreign exchange bureaus may operate if they are licensed by the BOU and adhere to the Foreign Exchange Act (FEA) and regulations. There were 207 authorized foreign exchange bureaus as of March 10, 2020, which engaged in transactions with commercial banks and the public, but not with the BOU. There are no restrictions on foreign exchange bureaus’ accounts abroad, although their operations are limited to spot transactions and OTC purchases and sales of foreign currency. There are special licenses permitting foreign exchange bureaus to transfer or receive funds to or from abroad on behalf of their clients, which they must perform through international money transfer agencies or domestic banks, with which they must maintain an account for clients’ funds.

Operated by the central bank: Yes.
Foreign exchange standing facility: No.
Allocation: No.
Auction: Yes. The BOU occasionally intervenes in the interbank foreign exchange rate market to stem volatility. It also conducts opportunistic purchases of US dollars to build up reserves. These interventions take place through auctions conducted using the Reuters Dealing System. Participation in the IFEM is restricted to Tier 1 financial institutions. The BOU Act 2000, Section 19, authorizes the auctioning of foreign currency and states that “the bank may buy and sell foreign currency at rates determined by market conditions and on terms that may be determined by the Board.” Since August 2010, the BOU has been conducting opportunistic purchases for reserve building through auctions on a daily basis depending on the prevailing IFEM conditions, as ensuring smooth and stable exchange rate movements takes precedence over reserve buildup. Interventions in the IFEM are only conducted when the market experiences high volatility of the shilling. Intervention amounts are not announced in advance. In conducting intervention, the banks that are hit on the Reuters Dealing System by the CB at their quoted rate are obligated to execute a transaction for a minimum of US$250,000. Participants that default to deliver/settle are charged interest on the amount owed for each day of the default at the prevailing LIBOR. Participants are not required to use the acquired foreign currency for any specific purpose. Commercial banks that are members of the IFEM may participate. The intervention amounts are announced with a lag in the CB’s Monetary Policy, State of the Economy, and Annual reports.

Fixing: No.
Interbank market: Yes. In the IFEM, as of December 31, 2019, 26 banks (excluding the CB) traded among themselves. The BOU intervenes in the IFEM at the commercial banks’ quoted rates, using the best bid-ask principle. Participants in the IFEM must maintain a 10 shilling spread on the bid-ask quotes they post on the Reuters Dealing System.

Over the counter: Yes.
Brokerage: No.
Market making: Yes.
Forward exchange market: Yes. Authorized banks may deal with customers in the forward exchange market.

Official cover of forward operations: No.

No.

Regional arrangements

Yes. Uganda remains a signatory to the East African Payment System (EAPS) master agreement, which it signed in 2011. The agreement allows the connection of the Real-Time Gross Settlement (RTGS) systems of the EAC partner states into a regional RTGS system. Uganda went live on the EAPS in November 2013 and as of the end of June 2020, four countries—namely Kenya, Rwanda, Tanzania, and Uganda—were live on the system. Currently, tests are being carried out with Burundi.

Uganda is also a signatory to the COMESA Regional Payment and Settlement System (REPPS) agreement, which allows member countries to directly transfer funds within the region, through member countries’ CBs, the settlement bank (Bank of Mauritius), and the COMESA Clearing House. The system went live in Uganda on February 28, 2014, and is currently operational in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Egypt, Eswatini, Kenya, Malawi, Mauritius, Rwanda, Uganda, and Zambia.

Clearing agreements

Yes. The REPSs is an electronic platform that facilitates cross-border payments within COMESA. The REPSs operates through the COMESA Clearing House, located in Harare, and through the Bank of Mauritius, which serves as the Settlement Bank. Payments are settled in convertible currencies, namely US dollars and euros.

Payments arrears

Yes. As of end-June 2020, external debt legacy arrears stood at US$77.1 million owed to three countries: Tanzania (US$58.25 million), Nigeria (US$18.85 million), and Iraq (US$1,580.7 million).
Controls on trade in gold (coins and/or bullion)  Yes.
On domestic ownership and/or trade Yes. Residents may hold and acquire gold coins for numismatic purposes. Only monetary authorities and licensed dealers are allowed to hold or acquire gold in any form other than jewelry.

On external trade Yes. Dealing in gold in any form other than jewelry constituting the personal effects of a traveler requires a license issued by the Ministry of Energy and Mineral Development. On the basis of these licenses, the Ministry of Trade, Industry, and Cooperatives issues export and import permits.

Controls on exports and imports of banknotes  Yes.
On exports Yes.

Domestic currency No. No monetary limits apply to exports of cash by residents or nonresidents. Section 8 of the FEA (2004) states that “the Bank of Uganda may, by regulations, impose restrictions on the importation into or exportation from Uganda of banknotes, coins, traveler’s checks, and securities denominated in the currency of Uganda and in foreign currency.”

Foreign currency Yes. No monetary limits apply to exports of cash by residents or nonresidents. Section 9.2 of the FEA (2004) states that “all payments in foreign currency, to or from Uganda, between residents and nonresidents, or between nonresidents, shall be made through a bank.” Section 9.3 of the FEA (2004) states that “every transfer of foreign exchange to or from Uganda shall be through a person licensed to carry out the business of money transfers.”

On imports Yes.

Domestic currency No. No monetary limits apply to imports of cash by residents or nonresidents. Section 8 of the FEA (2004) states that “the Bank of Uganda may, by regulations, impose restrictions on the importation into or exportation from Uganda of banknotes, coins, traveler’s checks, and securities denominated in the currency of Uganda and in foreign currency.”

Foreign currency Yes. There are no monetary limits on cash banknotes brought into Uganda by residents or nonresidents. Section 9.2 of the FEA (2004) states that “all payments in foreign currency, to or from Uganda, between residents and nonresidents, or between nonresidents, shall be made through a bank.”

Section 9.3 of the FEA (2004) states that “every transfer of foreign exchange to or from Uganda shall be through a person licensed to carry out the business of money transfers.”

Commercial banks may borrow from abroad however, should they need to classify the borrowing as part of Tier 2 capital or as administered funds they would need to consult with the BOU.

Account balances may range between 20% and 50% of total capital, depending on the rating of the correspondent financial institution. See Section 8 of the Financial Institutions (Foreign Exchange Business) rules, 2010, referenced in Section C below.

A financial institution may not open or set up a subsidiary, branch, or representative office or transact financial institution business outside Uganda or acquire an interest in any enterprise conducting business outside Uganda, except with the consent of the CB.

Lending in foreign currency may have a maximum maturity of not more than one year unless the borrower has a clearly defined income stream in the currency being borrowed that matches the longer-term maturity of the loan, and it may not exceed in aggregate 80% of a bank’s total foreign currency deposits. See Section 7 of the Financial Institutions (Foreign Exchange Business) rules, 2010, referenced in Section C below.

Banks must maintain with the BOU unremunerated cash reserves of 8.0% against all deposit liabilities, irrespective of the denomination and term.

It is 20% against deposit liabilities for both domestic and foreign currency accounts.

Exchange Measures

Restrictions and/or multiple currency practices

- Yes. The IMF staff report for the Request for Stand-By Arrangement and Cancellation of Arrangement under the Extended Fund Facility with Ukraine states that as of December 7, 2018, Ukraine maintained exchange restrictions and MCPs, but a road map is in place to gradually phase them out. The exchange restrictions arise from: (1) absolute limits on the availability of foreign exchange for certain non-trade current international transactions; and (2) a partial ban on the transfer abroad of dividends received by nonresident investors from foreign investments in Ukraine. The MCPs arise from: (1) the use of multiple price foreign exchange auctions conducted by the National Bank of Ukraine (NBU) without a mechanism to prevent a spread deviation of more than 2% between the auction and market exchange rates; (2) the use of the official exchange rate for exchange transactions with the government without a mechanism to prevent a spread deviation of more than 2% between the official exchange rate and market exchange rates; and (3) the requirement to transfer any gains from the purchase of foreign exchange to the state budget if it is unused and resold. (Country Report No. 19/3)

Exchange measures imposed for security reasons

In accordance with IMF Executive Board Decision No. 144-(52/51)

- Yes. Restrictions established by the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine in accordance with UNSC resolutions for certain transactions with the Democratic Republic of the Congo, the Democratic Republic of Somalia, the Democratic People’s Republic of Korea, Lebanon, and Sudan, as well as restrictions with respect to the Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, the Taliban, and Al-Qaida, remain in place. The sanctions against Iran have not been repealed, but the mechanism for their introduction has been changed. Resolution No. 1092 of the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine of September 5, 2007, on Implementation of UNSC Resolutions Concerning the Islamic Republic of Iran was in effect until November 18, 2016 (became inoperative by virtue of Resolution of the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine No. 786, dated November 9, 2016). Sanctions are now introduced by a decision of the Ukraine National Security and Defense Council, and in particular with respect to Iran: Ukraine National Security and Defense Council Decisions of May 20, 2016, on Implementation of UNSC Resolution No. 2231 of July 20, 2015, Concerning the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action with Respect to Sectoral Sanctions (introduced by Decree No. 254/2016 of the President of Ukraine of June 15, 2016, and approved by Ukraine Supreme Council Resolution No. 1471-VIII of July 14, 2016), and on Implementation of UNSC Resolution No. 2231 of July 20, 2015, Concerning the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action with Respect to Personal Sanctions (introduced by Decree No. 254/2016 of the President of Ukraine of June 15, 2016).

In its Directive No. 360-r, dated April 29, 2016, the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine proposed imposing personal sanctions on certain individuals and legal entities of Iran, including the freezing of assets (suspension of debit transactions in accounts) that are owned by or under the control of such individuals or legal entities, up to October 18, 2023. In accordance with a decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine dated May 20, 2016, “Concerning Implementation of UNSC Resolution No. 2231, dated July 20, 2015, Regarding the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action on Personal Sanctions” (introduced by Order of the President of Ukraine No. 254/2016, dated June 15, 2016), personal sanctions against these individuals and legal entities of Iran were imposed up to October 18, 2018.

From the moment of the entry into force (May 17, 2017) of Decree No. 133/2017 of the President of Ukraine of May 15, 2017, on the Decision of the Ukraine National Security and Defense Council of April 28, 2017, on the Application of Personal Special Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions) pursuant to which sanctions were applied to 1,228 individuals and 468 legal entities, the following were repealed: Decree No. 549/2015 of the President of Ukraine of September 16, 2015, which implemented the decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of September 2, 2015, on the Application of Special Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions) with respect to 388 individuals and 105 legal entities; Decree No. 121/2016 of the President of Ukraine of March 29, 2016, which implemented the decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of March 25, 2016, on the Application of Special Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions) with respect to 84 individuals; Decree No. 224/2016 of the President of Ukraine of May 27, 2016, which implemented the decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of May 20, 2016, on the Application of Additional Special Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions) with respect to 17 individuals; Decree No. 467/2016 of the President of Ukraine of October 17, 2016, on the Decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of September 16, 2016, on the Application of Special Personal Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions), which in due course extended special personal economic and other restrictive measures (sanctions) established by the decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of September 2, 2015 (as amended by decisions of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of September 17, 2015, and May 20, 2016), that was implemented by Decree No. 549/2015 of the President of Ukraine of September 16, 2015 (with respect to 347 individuals and 104 legal entities), and also applied sanctions to 335 individuals and 167 legal entities; Decree No. 63/2017 of the President of Ukraine of March 15, 2017 [sic], put into force the decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of March 15, 2017, on the Application of Special Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions) with respect to five banks for a period of one year; Decree No. 57/2018 of the President of Ukraine of March 6, 2018, which implemented the decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of March 1, 2018, on the Application of Special Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions), extended these sanctions for one year against four of the five banks. In addition, Decree No. 126/2018 of the President of Ukraine of May 14, 2018, which implemented the decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of May 2, 2018, on the Application of Special Personal Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions), applied sanctions to 1,748 individuals and 756 legal entities. Furthermore, pursuant to the decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of June 21, 2018, on the Application and Amendment of Special Personal Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions), which was implemented by Decree No. 176/2018 of the President of Ukraine of June 21, 2018, new versions of the lists of persons subject to sanctions pursuant to the decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of May 2, 2018 (which was implemented by Decree No. 126/2018 of the President of Ukraine of May 14, 2018), were prepared, as a result of which sanctions were applied to 1,759 individuals and 786 legal entities. Pursuant to Decree No. 82/2019 of the President of Ukraine of March 19, 2019, which implemented the decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of March 19, 2019, on the Application, Repeal, and Amendment of Special Personal Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions), sanctions were imposed (or extended) vis-à-vis 848 individuals and 294 legal entities, among which are banks with Russian capital, sanctions against which were extended for another two years. Decree No. 924/2019 of the President of Ukraine, dated December 20, 2019, put into effect a decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine of December 7, 2019, “Changes to Personal Special Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions),” pursuant to which changes were made to the list of individuals on whom sanctions had been imposed by Decree No. 82/2019 of the President of Ukraine, dated March 19, 2019. Under Decree No. 184/2020 of the President of Ukraine, dated May 14, 2020, which put into effect a decision of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine dated May 14, 2020, “Concerning the Imposition, Repeal of, and Changes to Personal Special Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions),” sanctions were imposed (or extended) vis-à-vis 377 individuals and 235 legal entities, and changes were made to sanction lists and/or the types of sanctions that were imposed on one or another entity pursuant to prior Decrees of the President of Ukraine.

Yes. The exchange rate structure is classified as multiple because of MCPs, which arise from (1) the use of multiple price foreign exchange auctions conducted by the NBU without a mechanism to prevent a spread deviation of more than 2% between the auction and...

Floating Yes. The de jure and de facto exchange rate arrangements are classified as floating. The Monetary Policy Guidelines for 2020 and Medium Term (approved by the NBU Council September 10, 2019) call for the NBU to maintain a floating exchange rate arrangement, meaning that monetary policy will not be aimed at achieving a certain exchange rate target or range. At the same time, the NBU will use foreign currency interventions for the purpose of accumulating international reserves, smoothing out the functioning of the foreign exchange market, and maintaining the transmission of the key interest rate as the core monetary policy instrument.

In March 2020 deteriorating conditions in the global financial and commodity markets, combined with heightened uncertainty in the domestic market, triggered a surge in foreign exchange market turbulence. The NBU stepped up efforts to intervene in the foreign exchange market to smooth out excessive exchange rate fluctuations without counteracting market trends. The hryvnia weakened by 14.3% from February to March as measured at the end of the month. But, since the situation in the foreign exchange market stabilized in April and the supply of foreign currency exceeded demand, the NBU resumed foreign currency purchases for international reserves accumulation.

The NBU publishes foreign exchange intervention data (weekly amounts purchased or sold, by type of intervention) on its website.

Free floating

Official exchange rate Yes. As of August 1, 2018, the NBU calculates the official hryvnia exchange rate against the US dollar according to a new method based on information about all transactions involving the purchase and sale of US dollars on “tod,” “tom,” and “spot” terms, which on the day of calculation of the official exchange rate take place in the interbank currency market of Ukraine between banks and between banks and the NBU, and information whereof is provided by the NBU trading information systems until 3:30 p.m. of the current business day.

The new method of calculation provides a two-stage system for cutting off transactions whose parameters for various reasons deviate from the parameters of most transactions of the current day.
Beginning December 27, 2019, the official exchange rate of the hryvnia to other foreign currencies and the official price of precious metals have been calculated based on the official hryvnia–US dollar exchange rate and Bloomberg fixing (BFIX) quotes for the respective foreign currencies and precious metals, according to data from the Bloomberg trading and information system.

The official exchange rate of hryvnias against foreign currencies and precious metals is used by residents and nonresidents for recording transactions with foreign currencies and precious metals in their accounting records, in other cases as determined by the legislation of Ukraine, and for currency operations of the NBU with the State Treasury Service of Ukraine.

Inflation-targeting framework: Yes.

The NBU Board proposed the draft of the “Monetary Policy Guidelines for 2016–2020” (August 2015) to the NBU Council, stating that the NBU will conduct its monetary policy based on the inflation-targeting framework. This draft established the irrevocable inflation targets for 2016–20 and onward.

On December 21, 2016, the NBU Council adopted the “Monetary Policy Guidelines for 2017 and Medium Term” and formally established the inflation-targeting framework as the monetary policy framework in Ukraine.

The inflation targets set earlier remained unchanged.

On July 13, 2018, the NBU Council adopted the “Monetary Policy Strategy of the National Bank of Ukraine” which confirms that the NBU will carry out its monetary policy on the basis of inflation targeting and that its medium-term inflation target is 5% (the constant medium-term inflation target starting at the end of 2019).

The NBU detailed quarterly inflation targets for 2019 in the “Monetary Policy Guidelines for 2019 and Medium Term” (September 11, 2018):

- March 2019—5.75% ±2 percentage points;
- June 2019—5.5% ±2 percentage points;
- September 2019—5.25% ±2 percentage points;
- December 2019 and onward—5% ±1 percentage point.

The “Monetary Policy Guidelines for 2020 and Medium Term” (September 10, 2019) confirmed 5% ±1 percentage point as the inflation target for 2020 and onward.

Target setting body: Yes.

Government

Central Bank: Yes.
Inflation targets are specified in the “Monetary Policy Guidelines,” which are developed and adopted by the NBU Council, based on proposals of the NBU Board.

According to the “Monetary Policy Guidelines for 2017 and Medium Term” (adopted December 21, 2016), the NBU targets headline inflation (that is, annual growth of the consumer price index [CPI]), for which a disinflationary trajectory is set toward the medium-term inflation target at 5% ±1 percentage point. Specifically, this trajectory assumed the following targets for the annual changes in the CPI:
- December 2017—8% ±2 percentage points;
- December 2018—6% ±2 percentage points;
- December 2019 and onward—5% ±1 percentage points.

The “Monetary Policy Strategy of the NBU,” adopted by the NBU Council (July 13, 2018), confirmed the irrevocable medium-term inflation target at the level of 5% ±1 percentage point. The medium-term inflation target may be revised downward given a decrease in exchange rate volatility, the adjustment of relative prices, and the weakening effects of convergence of the economy of Ukraine with the economies of its major trading partners.

The “Monetary Policy Guidelines for 2019 and Medium Term” (September 11, 2018) confirmed the irrevocable medium-term inflation target at 5% ±1 percentage point and defined the inflation targets for 2019:
- March 2019—5.75% ±2 percentage points;
- June 2019—5.5% ±2 percentage points;
- September 2019—5.25% ±2 percentage points;
- December 2019 and onward—5% ±1 percentage point.

The “Monetary Policy Guidelines for 2020 and Medium Term” (September, 10, 2019) confirmed 5% ±1 percentage points as the inflation target for 2020 and onward.

CPI data are provided by the State Statistics Service of Ukraine: The CPI is an indicator of changes in the prices of goods and services purchased by households for consumption. The measurement of the CPI is based on data obtained through a monthly registration of prices in the consumer market and the aggregated national accounts data, with detailed information on the structure of actual consumer monetary expenditures of households.
The NBU reaches the inflation target indicators mainly by adjusting its key policy rate. The key policy rate is set by the NBU Board and reflects the monetary policy stance, functioning as an operational target for short-term interest rates in the interbank credit market. The key policy rate is supplemented by a symmetrical fixed interest rate corridor on standing facilities.

On June 12, 2020, the interest rate corridor was narrowed from ±2% to ±1% of the key policy rate.

As an accountability mechanism, the NBU uses mainly enhanced communication with the public (primarily through regular press briefings following NBU Board meetings on monetary policy issues, as well as the quarterly inflation report).

According to the legislation, the NBU Board is accountable to the NBU Council, which monitors the Board’s monetary policy implementation (that is, compatibility with the Monetary Policy Guidelines).

The legislation does not provide for other specific forms of reporting by the NBU to the government on monetary policy and inflation outcomes.

The law “On the National Bank of Ukraine” requires the governor to report to the Parliament on NBU activities. Once a year, the NBU provides information on the forecast of monetary indicators for the next year to the president, the Cabinet of Ministers, and the Parliament; twice a year, the NBU provides a report to the president and the Parliament on money market developments; quarterly, the NBU provides information to the president, the Cabinet of Ministers, and the Parliament Finance Committee on its noncash emissions (namely, foreign exchange interventions, refinancing of banks, and stock market operations).

In February 2018, the NBU began to publish on a regular basis the Summary of the Key Policy Rate Discussion by the NBU Monetary Policy Committee (MPC). The MPC serves as a discussion platform and includes all members of the NBU Board and directors of the NBU departments involved in monetary policy decision-making. Publication of the discussion outcomes is intended to give market participants a better understanding of the reasoning and motives behind NBU Board decisions (the NBU Board meeting on monetary policy issues is held the day after the MPC meeting). Publication of the discussion outcomes helps market participants anticipate further changes in the NBU’s monetary policy and, as a result, increases the Publication of inflation forecasts

Yes.

The inflation report, with an inflation forecast, is published quarterly. Effective July 25, 2019, the NBU began to publish a key policy rate forecast as a part of the quarterly revisions of the macroeconomic forecast. Publication of the key policy rate forecast increases the transparency and predictability of monetary policy. The NBU updates the key policy rate forecast along with other indicators on a quarterly basis and publishes it in the inflation report.

Other monetary framework

Exchange tax

No.

Previously, Law of Ukraine No. 400/97-VR of June 26, 1997, on the Fee for Mandatory Government Pension Insurance, imposed a 2% tax on individuals’ foreign currency cash purchases (except for loan repayment) to replenish the state pension fund.

Banks must remit to the Special Fund of the State Budget the proceeds of this tax, and a monthly report is made by the Pension Fund of Ukraine to the NBU on the tax amount accrued/withheld (Article 1 of Law of Ukraine No. 400/97-VR of June 26, 1997, on the Fee for Mandatory Government Pension Insurance).

Law No. 1791-VIII of December 20, 2016, repealed this tax, on January 1, 2017.

Exchange subsidy

No.

Foreign exchange market

Yes.

Foreign currency may be traded in the foreign exchange market of Ukraine and in the international foreign exchange market via the NBU and market participants (banks that have obtained a banking license, nonbank financial institutions, and postal service operators that have obtained a license from the NBU to perform foreign exchange operations). Market participants may perform the following operations:

1. purchase and/or sale of foreign currency for hryvnias in the foreign exchange market of Ukraine;
2. purchase and/or sale of precious metals for hryvnias by banks in the foreign exchange market of Ukraine;
3. exchange of one foreign currency for another or one bank metal for another bank metal or foreign currency by banks without limit in the foreign exchange market of Ukraine and in the international foreign exchange market.

Foreign currency is traded on “tod,” “tom,” “spot,” “swap,” and “forward” terms.

Banks perform foreign exchange transactions on swap terms in the foreign exchange market of Ukraine

1. with the NBU—with foreign currency;
2. with other banks and bank customers (including international financial institutions [IFIs])—with foreign currency and precious metals.

Banks are prohibited from performing swap transactions with customers

(1) who are residents, if the first part of the transaction involves the sale of foreign currency/precious metals to the customer;

(2) who are nonresidents, if the first part of the transaction involves the purchase of foreign currency/precious metals from the customer.

Banks perform foreign exchange transactions on forward terms (with or without the delivery of the underlying asset) in the foreign exchange market of Ukraine with other banks and bank customers.

Bank customers may perform forward transactions

(1) for the hedging of risk associated with a change in the exchange rate of foreign currency against the hryvnia in transactions

(a) involving exports/imports of goods;

(b) of resident borrowers under credit agreements (loan agreements) for the attraction of funds from nonresidents or banks;

(2) transactions with customers that are nonresident legal entities, if the nonresident receives funds in hryvnias for the purpose of purchasing Ukrainian domestic government bonds and if the deadline for fulfillment of obligations to the bank under the forward transaction is not more than 14 business days from the date the hryvnias are provided.

Banks perform foreign exchange transactions on the basis of a banking license issued by the NBU in accordance with the Law of Ukraine on Banks and Banking.

Banks perform their own transactions involving trade in foreign currency/precious metals within the open foreign exchange position limits established by the NBU.

Banks perform transactions with customers involving the purchase, sale, and exchange of foreign currency/precious metals at the exchange rate specified in the request or instruction to perform such a transaction.

Banks receive commission fees for transactions performed on behalf of customers, which are paid exclusively in the domestic currency of Ukraine.

As of August 1, 2018, banks may use both the transaction confirmation system (on a voluntary basis) and any other means acceptable to the parties to the transaction (for example, SWIFT) to confirm interbank transactions involving the purchase/sale of foreign currency in the currency market of Ukraine. At the same time, banks may conclude deals at any time, regardless of the time set for the transaction confirmation system.

Banks confirm transactions with the NBU involving the purchase/sale of foreign currency through the transaction confirmation system if the NBU uses this system for the confirmation of transactions.

The transaction confirmation system operates on business days (Monday through Friday) from 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Kyiv time.
Banks engage in trading in foreign currency/precious metals regardless of the operating hours of the transaction confirmation system.

As of July 27, 2018, Resolution No. 86 of July 24, 2018, clarifies that banks may carry out transactions on forward terms with resident customers who engaged in foreign economic activity and with other authorized banks.

Spot exchange market

Yes.

Currency exchange transactions include

1. the purchase of foreign currency cash from (resident and nonresident) individuals for cash hryvnias;
2. the sale of foreign currency cash to (resident and nonresident) individuals for cash hryvnias;
3. the exchange of foreign currency cash of one country for foreign currency cash of another country.

These transactions may be performed by banks, nonbank financial institutions, postal service operators, and currency exchange offices of banks, nonbank financial institutions, and postal service operators.

Banks, nonbank financial institutions, and postal service operators may change the purchase and sale exchange rates for currency exchange transactions during the course of a business day.

Nonbank financial institutions and their stand-alone divisions and currency exchange offices of banks, nonbank financial institutions, and postal service operators may begin operations following registration of a cash register or electronic cash register with the tax authorities.

As of August 1, 2019, a total of 29 nonbank financial organizations and the national postal operator Ukrposhta may conduct currency exchange operations (in their local branches, offices, and exchange points); as of August 1, 2018, a total of 76 banks may conduct foreign currency exchange operations.

Under the Foreign Exchange Intervention Strategy of the NBU for 2016–20 (of September 6, 2016), the NBU conducts four types of interventions:

1. foreign currency auctions,
2. single exchange rate interventions,
3. interventions at the best rate,
4. targeted interventions.

Currency interventions at the best rate were introduced in October 2016; the first currency intervention in this form took place January 13, 2017.

The Strategy was amended in 2018, whereby the NBU deemed it feasible to cease prioritizing specific forms of interventions. Instead, feasibility of each form of intervention is determined according to conditions in the interbank foreign exchange market. Since 2018, the NBU has relied more on matching interventions.

Operated by the central bank

Yes.

Foreign exchange standing facility

No.

Allocation

No.
The NBU may organize single and multiple price auctions. The NBU resumed foreign currency auctions on September 17, 2015, after suspending them on February 5, 2015. Competitive and noncompetitive bids are considered: the competitive ones are fulfilled at the exchange rate indicated in the bid, while the noncompetitive ones are fulfilled at the weighted average exchange rate of the competitive bids.

In holding an auction at which bids are fulfilled at the exchange rate indicated in a bid, the cutoff rate may not deviate by more than 2% from the highest/lowest exchange rate declared by banks (depending on the type of transaction—sale or purchase).

The NBU informs market participants of auctions by posting the information on the official website of the NBU, as well as by means of the trade and information system, if the auction is held with the help of its functionality. Conditions are specified in the notification. Banks that have submitted bids must honor them.

Bids must be submitted no later than the time indicated in the notification. Following the auction, the NBU publishes the results on its website. Intervention on a single exchange rate takes place (1) either by collecting applications of market participants for the purchase/sale of foreign currency at a single exchange rate and their proportional fulfillment within the limits of the volume determined for currency intervention; or (2) by placing an offer to buy/sell foreign currency at a single exchange rate in the trading information system (Bloomberg or Reuters) and accepting offers from market participants before the supply is exhausted.

The intervention on the best exchange rate is carried out (1) either by asking market participants for the price of purchase/sale of foreign currency through the trading information system and the transaction at the best offered price, or (2) by choosing the best price for the purchase/sale of foreign currency from the quotes of market entities available in the trading information system and conducting a transaction with a market entity that offers this price.

The list of banks entitled to participate in the intervention at the best exchange rate, which is carried out by requesting the market entities' prices for the purchase/sale of foreign currency through the trading information system (updated every quarter), was first published October 31, 2016. This list includes 20 banks selected on the basis of a set of such criteria as the volume of interbank transactions, the volume of transactions with customers, and the size of bank assets.

The NBU engages in trading in foreign currency and/or precious metals for the purpose of performing the functions assigned to it by the legislation of Ukraine.

The NBU may carry out currency interventions in the interbank currency market of Ukraine by holding currency auctions, interventions at a single rate, or interventions at the best rate.

Banks perform their own transactions involving trade in foreign currency/precious metals within the open foreign exchange position limits established by the NBU.
Banks perform transactions with customers involving the purchase, sale, and exchange of foreign currency/precious metals at the exchange rate specified in the request or instruction to perform such a transaction. Banks receive commissions for transactions performed on behalf of customers, which are paid exclusively in hryvnias. As of August 1, 2018, banks may use both the transaction confirmation system (on a voluntary basis) and any other means acceptable to the parties to the transaction (for example, SWIFT) to confirm interbank transactions involving the purchase/sale of foreign currency in the currency market of Ukraine.

Banks confirm transactions with the NBU involving the purchase/sale of foreign currency through the transaction confirmation system if the NBU uses this system for the confirmation of transactions.

The transaction confirmation system operates on business days (Monday through Friday) from 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Kyiv time. Banks engage in trading in foreign currency/precious metals regardless of the operating hours of the transaction confirmation system.

There are no market makers in the interbank foreign exchange market. Banks perform foreign exchange transactions on swap terms in the foreign exchange market of Ukraine:

1. with the NBU— with foreign currency;

2. with other banks and bank customers (including IFIs) — with foreign currency and precious metals.

Banks are prohibited from performing swap transactions with customers:

1. who are residents, if the first part of the transaction involves the sale of foreign currency/precious metals to the customer;

2. who are nonresidents, if the first part of the transaction involves the purchase of foreign currency/precious metals from the customer.

Banks perform foreign exchange transactions on forward terms (with or without the delivery of the underlying asset) in the foreign exchange market of Ukraine with other banks and bank customers.

Bank customers may perform forward transactions:

1. to hedge risk associated with a change in the exchange rate of foreign currency against the hryvnia in transactions:

   a. involving exports/imports of goods;

   b. effective February 7, 2019, of resident borrowers under credit agreements (loan agreements) for the attraction of funds from nonresidents or banks.
(2) transactions with customers that are nonresident legal entities, if the nonresident is receiving funds in hryvnias for the purpose of purchasing Ukrainian domestic government bonds and the deadline for the fulfillment of obligations to the bank under the forward transaction is not more than 14 business days from the date the funds in hryvnias are provided.

The new foreign exchange legislation does not prohibit the performance of transactions with other foreign currency derivatives, or transactions in foreign currency with other derivative financial instruments based on underlying assets in foreign currency, foreign currency exchange rates, interest rates, and indices.

“Comprehensive regulation of transactions with derivatives is provided in the Law of Ukraine Amendments to Certain Statutes of Ukraine on Facilitating Investment Generation and Introducing New Financial Instruments.” (As of August 7, 2020, this law is awaiting the signature of the president of Ukraine.)

Banks may perform transactions with derivatives both in the foreign exchange market of Ukraine and on stock exchanges.

On April 2, 2016, the Regulation on the Performance of Swap Transactions by the NBU for the Purchase and Sale of Foreign Currency (NBU Board Resolution No. 222 of March 31, 2016) entered into force. Currency swap transactions between the NBU and banks are performed with US dollars and euros. The NBU Executive Board determines the maximum term for which swap transactions may be performed. The NBU does not perform forward swap transactions for which the size of the haircut has not been approved.

As of March 30, 2018, the requirement to comply with the limit on a bank’s daily net foreign exchange purchase in the interbank and retail market for its own position with respect to all transactions related to the purchase and sale of foreign currency and banking metals was eliminated.

As of July 27, 2018, banks may carry out transactions on forward terms with resident customers involved in foreign economic activity and/or with other authorized banks.

To prevent the spread of systemic risks resulting from market participants’ foreign currency derivatives contracts, the NBU may adopt a decision regarding the date on which banks must create and hold reserves for forward transactions. Reserves must be held by banks in hryvnias in a correspondent account at the NBU in addition to their required reserves.

The requirements of this provision do not extend to foreign currency forwards that are the second leg of foreign currency swaps. As of August 1, 2019, the NBU had not decided the date of banks’ obligation to create and hold reserves for forward transactions.

Payments to and receipts from all countries are settled in foreign currency and also in hryvnias for certain transactions. Residents may conduct transactions in hryvnias with nonresidents through hryvnia correspondent accounts of nonresident banks with authorized Ukrainian banks for:

1. settlements between residents and nonresidents for exports and imports of goods (products, services, work, intellectual property rights, other nonproperty rights intended for sale/paid transfer);

2. transactions by residents with nonresidents under credit agreements/loan agreements related to the provision of funds (a credit/loan) by a nonresident to a resident borrower and/or the fulfillment of debt obligations to a nonresident for a credit/loan attracted by a resident borrower (repayment of a credit/loan, payment of interest, and other payments established under the relevant agreement);

3. transactions related to the performance of foreign investments in Ukraine and their return (including the return of profits, income, and other funds earned by foreign investors from investment activity in Ukraine);

4. transfers of funds to accounts of foreign investors/nonresidents in Ukraine from a correspondent account with a Ukrainian bank held by a depository foreign bank that has a securities account at the NBU;

5. deposits of funds account holders receive from the sale of securities, ownership interest, or other assets in Ukraine that do not constitute foreign investment items in Ukraine, as well as the receipt of income, profits, or other resources from such items;

6. transactions involving guarantees/sureties provided by nonresident guarantors/sureties that ensure fulfillment of obligations of resident debtors to resident creditors;

7. transactions involving guarantees/sureties provided by nonresident guarantors/sureties that ensure fulfillment of obligations of resident debtors to nonresident creditors (provided the obligation of the resident debtor that is backed by the guarantee/surety arises from contracts/transactions referred to under subparagraphs 1–3 above);

8. transactions involving guarantees provided by a resident guarantor (bank, nonbank financial institution) that ensure the fulfillment of obligations of resident debtors to nonresident creditors (provided the obligation of the resident debtor that is backed by the guarantee arises from contracts/transactions referred to under subparagraphs 1–3 above);

9. transactions related to the satisfaction of a nonresident’s claims as a creditor through the sale of collateral for hryvnias or the payment of insurance compensation to a nonresident under insurance contracts within Ukraine if a resident debtor fails to fulfill its obligations under the relevant contract (provided the creditor’s rights of claim with respect to the resident debtor’s obligations arose from contracts/transactions referred to under 1–3 above);

10. transactions by the Personal Deposit Guarantee Fund, or authorized official of the Fund, related to the satisfaction of nonresident creditors’ claims during the liquidation of a bank.

Transactions in capital and money market instruments

Yes.

Yes.

©International Monetary Fund. Not for Redistribution
Transactions in derivatives and other instruments: Yes. In certain circumstances, authorization is required from the National Securities and Stock Market Commission (NSSMC).

Credit operations: Yes. Only foreign exchange and hryvnias may be used for settlements between residents and nonresidents.

Residents may obtain credits and loans from nonresidents in both foreign currency and hryvnias.

Banks may grant loans to their resident clients in hryvnias and foreign currency (except consumer loans to individuals, which are granted loans only in hryvnias); nonresident banks and other nonresident legal entities may receive loans in foreign currency (loans in hryvnias—only where so provided); nonresident individuals may receive consumer loans in hryvnias.

Residents (including banks and nonbank financial institutions) may not extend credit (loans, financial assistance) in hryvnias to nonresidents or their representative offices in Ukraine, except for:

1. Provision of consumer credit to an individual nonresident by a bank or nonbank financial institution;

2. Transactions between banks and nonresident legal entities under credit or other agreements that stipulate for a bank to provide a nonresident with funds in hryvnias for the purchase of Ukraine sovereign bonds, with the funds to be repaid to the bank no later than 14 business days from the day when hryvnias are provided;

3. Transactions with an IFI (or its representative office).

Residents that are not banks may lend to nonresidents in foreign currency up to €100,000 a year for resident individuals and €2 million for resident legal entities (or the equivalent in another foreign currency).

Effective February 7, 2019, if the delivery time of goods and services exceeds 365 calendar days (previously 180 calendar days), it may be extended with approval of the central executive government body implementing economic development policy.

Nonresidents (legal entities and individuals) may open current accounts in hryvnias and in foreign currency in banks located within the territory of Ukraine to carry out settlements and payments with residents and other nonresidents.

Use of foreign exchange among residents: Yes. The hryvnia is the sole legal tender in Ukraine, taking into account the special considerations established by the second part of Article 5 of the Law of Ukraine on Foreign Exchange and Foreign Exchange Operations (referred to hereinafter as the Law on Foreign Exchange).

Effective February 7, 2019, foreign currency may be used by residents:

1. In the performance of operations by banks to provide banking and other financial services on the basis of a banking license;

2. In the performance of operations by nonbank financial institutions and postal service operators that have a license from the NBU to perform foreign exchange operations;
(3) in the performance of operations involving the placement of, payment of monetary income on, and redemption of bonds and Treasury bills of Ukraine denominated in foreign currency, if so indicated in the securities prospectus (by the terms of their placement);

(4) in the performance of operations involving the purchase/sale of government securities denominated in foreign currency, if the initiator or recipient of such a foreign exchange operation is a bank;

(5) for other operations defined by the Customs Code of Ukraine and/or regulatory legal acts of the NBU.

Previously, an NBU license was required.

There are arrangements with the Baltic countries, Russia, and the other FSU countries.

Barter is one of the forms of trade of Ukrainian companies in their transactions, used largely with the Baltic countries, Russia, and other FSU countries. The use of barter in foreign trade transactions is prohibited for a group of goods determined by the Ukrainian Cabinet of Ministers.

Foreign exchange supervision in Ukraine is administered by foreign exchange supervisory bodies and foreign exchange supervisory agents.

According to the Law on Foreign Exchange, foreign exchange supervisory bodies are the NBU and the central executive branch authority responsible for the development and implementation of state tax policy.

Authorized institutions (banks, nonbank financial institutions, and postal service operators that have obtained a license in accordance with the Law on Foreign Exchange) are foreign exchange supervisory agents that are accountable to the NBU.

When foreign exchange transactions are performed, authorized institutions directly supervise compliance with the requirements of the foreign exchange legislation by residents (except for other authorized institutions) and nonresidents who are performing foreign exchange transactions through these authorized institutions.

Effective February 7, 2019, foreign exchange supervision is not performed with regard to transactions involving exports and imports in an amount that is below the threshold established for financial transactions (stipulated in Article 20 of the Law of Ukraine on Preventing and Combating Money Laundering, the Financing of Terrorism, and the Financing of the Proliferation of Weapons of Mass Destruction (No. 361-IX, dated December 6, 2019).

The procedure for the performance of foreign exchange supervision by foreign exchange supervisory agents is established by the NBU.
Foreign exchange supervisory agents may request documents related to the performance of foreign exchange transactions from participants in foreign exchange transactions, and participants must provide such documents at the request of foreign exchange supervisory agents within the specified deadlines.

In order for authorized institutions to prevent their customers from using these institutions to perform foreign exchange transactions that do not meet the requirements of Ukrainian law, an authorized institution is required to perform a comprehensive analysis and verification of documents (information) concerning foreign exchange transactions, if the presentation of the relevant documents (information) is provided for by Ukrainian law for certain transactions identified by the NBU.

Resolution of the NBU Board No. 90, dated June 30, 2020, approved the Regulation on Procedures for Organizing and Performing Supervision in the Area of Financial Monitoring, Exchange Supervision, Supervision of the Implementation and Monitoring the Effectiveness of Personal Special Economic and Other Restrictive Measures (Sanctions), which went into effect July 1, 2020. As a result, the following NBU Resolutions are inoperative:

Resolution of the NBU Board No. 338, dated September 21, 2007, “Approval of the Regulation on Procedures for Conducting Onsite and Remote (Desk) Audits of Compliance by Banks, Other Financial Institutions, and the National Postal Communications Operator of Requirements of Foreign Exchange Statutes of Ukraine, and Audits of Foreign Currency Exchange Offices within the Territory of Ukraine”;

In accordance with Ukrainian legislation pertaining to money laundering and combating the financing of terrorism, banks and nonbank institutions must report the following to the specially authorized agency:

(1) threshold financial transactions (financial transaction is considered a threshold transaction if its amount is equal to or greater than UAH 400,000 [for business entities in the area of lotteries or games of chance—UAH 30,000]) or the equivalent in foreign currency, precious metals, or other assets;

(2) the presence of one or more of the attributes defined in Article 20, part 1, paragraphs 2–5 of the Law of Ukraine “Preventing and Combating Money Laundering, Terrorism Financing, and Proliferation Financing” (No. 361-IX, dated December 6, 2019);

(3) suspicious financial transactions (activities), or attempts to perform them, regardless of the amount (financial transactions or an attempt to perform them, regardless of the amounts in which they are performed, are considered suspicious if there is a suspicion or sufficient grounds for suspicion that they result from criminal activities or are related to or involve financing of terrorism or of the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction).
Controls on trade in gold (coins and/or bullion) Yes. Banks engage in trade in precious metals on the basis of a banking license issued by the NBU in accordance with the Law of Ukraine on Banks and Banking.

Banks may not conduct transactions involving the sale of precious metals without physical delivery for noncash hryvnias to customers (individuals, legal entities, individual entrepreneurs) above a small amount (the amount of a foreign exchange transaction below the threshold established for financial transactions subject to mandatory financial monitoring in accordance with the legislation on preventing and combating money laundering, the financing of terrorism, and the financing of the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction) in one calendar day a customer. Conversion is at the exchange rate determined based on the official exchange rates for precious metals established by the NBU on the day of the transaction.

The above prohibition does not apply to

(1) interbank transactions and transactions involving the sale of precious metals by banks to enable resident customers to fulfill their obligations to the bank in precious metals under credit agreements;

(2) transactions involving the purchase by legal entities/individual entrepreneurs of precious metals for noncash hryvnias on the condition that they need to do so as a result of their business activities.

On external trade Yes. Permission for residents to export precious metals and precious stones is granted by the Ministry of Economic Development and Trade in consultation with the MOF.

Legal entities (including banks) may import or export precious metals into or from Ukraine without restriction subject to written declaration to the customs authority of the full amount, if such import/export is necessitated by their business activities.

A contract with a counterparty or a document serving in its place serves as the grounds for the import or export of precious metals into or from Ukraine by a legal entity.

A contract with a counterparty or a document serving in its place, or a contract for the delivery of precious metals to the NBU, serves as the grounds for the import of precious metals into Ukraine by a legal entity, when they were refined from precious metals (which were previously exported outside the customs territory of Ukraine).

Banks perform the cross-border movement of precious metals on the basis of a banking license and the relevant contracts with counterparties or a document serving in the place of such contracts.

Legal entities/banks export precious metals manufactured by Ukrainian producers with a written notice from the NBU declining to purchase the precious metals.
An individual may import into or export from Ukraine precious metals whose value does not exceed the equivalent of €10,000 without written declaration to the customs authority.

An individual may import into or export from Ukraine precious metals whose value is equal to or greater than the equivalent of €10,000 with written declaration of the full amount to the customs authority.

When precious metals whose value is greater than the equivalent of €10,000 are exported from Ukraine, in addition to a written declaration to the customs authority, resident individuals must also present documents confirming the acquisition of the precious metals from banks and/or the NBU in the amount that exceeds the equivalent of €10,000 on the day of exportation.

The conversion of the value of precious metals to euros is performed at the cross-rate determined on the basis of the official exchange rate of the hryvnia to the euro or the corresponding precious metals established by the NBU on the day they cross the customs border of Ukraine.

accounts for residents of Ukraine (legal entities, autonomous units thereof, individuals) and correspondent accounts for resident banks to carry out interbank settlements in accordance with the Law of Ukraine on Payment Systems and Money Transfers in Ukraine. Banks may open accounts for their resident clients both in hryvnias and in foreign currencies.

Resident legal entities and resident sole proprietors may freely open accounts in foreign currency with banks for the performance of settlements with respect to current transactions and transactions associated with capital flows, in accordance with Ukrainian law.

Certain conditions apply to the use of these accounts, as specified in Resolution of the NBU Board No. 5, dated January 2, 2019 (effective February 7, 2019).

Funds from term foreign currency deposits may be withdrawn before the expiration date in a domestic currency equivalent (at the exchange rate of purchase of the authorized bank as of the transaction date) if so allowed in the agreement with the bank regarding the term deposit (amendment to Resolution of the NBU Board No. 516, dated December 3, 2003).

Accepting of deposits in Russian rubles on the basis of bank account agreements is prohibited within the mainland territory of Ukraine, including by increasing the amount of deposits made before the Law of Ukraine on the Creation of the Free Economic Zone of Crimea and the Particularities of Engaging in Economic Activities in Temporarily Occupied Territory of Ukraine went into effect. Extending such agreements is also prohibited, in accordance with NBU Board Resolution No. 699, dated November 3, 2014.

Residents may open accounts at foreign financial institutions and to perform foreign exchange transactions through these accounts. Residents must notify tax authorities of the use of their foreign currency accounts and provide statistical reporting to the NBU.

Article 13 of the Law on Foreign Exchange states that in the event that the NBU establishes a deadline for the performance of settlements under transactions by residents involving exports of goods, funds must be credited to the residents’ accounts at Ukrainian banks within the deadlines specified in the contracts, but no later, and in the amount established by the NBU.

Effective February 7, 2019, the NBU has established a deadline of 365 calendar days (previously 180 calendar days) for settlements under transactions by residents involving exports of goods.

Effective February 7, 2019, a license from the NBU is no longer required to transfer foreign currency by residents to their own accounts abroad as long as the amount is within the established limits (NBU Executive Board Resolution No. 5 of January 2, 2019, on Approval of the Regulation on Protection Measures and Determination of the Procedure for the Performance of Certain Operations in Foreign Currency).

Resident legal entities may purchase and transfer foreign currency for placement in their accounts abroad in an amount not exceeding €2 million a year or the equivalent in another currency.

This limit does not extend to banks’ operations and transfers of funds by resident legal entities to accounts of their branch offices, representative offices, and other separate subdivisions without the creation of a legal entity, opened abroad, with the exception of those opened in states (territories) listed by the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine as offshore zones and/or recognized by the Supreme Council of Ukraine as an aggressor or occupying state, and/or that do not comply with or do not comply properly with the recommendations of international or intergovernmental organizations involved in combating money laundering, the financing of terrorism, or the financing of the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, and/or have strategic deficiencies in the sphere of combating money laundering, the financing of terrorism, or the financing of the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction according to a statement by the FATF.

Resident individuals may purchase and transfer foreign currency for placement in their accounts abroad in an amount not exceeding €100,000 a year or the equivalent in another currency.

The given limits do not extend to residents’ placement in foreign accounts of foreign currency originating outside Ukraine; for example, funds received by residents outside Ukraine in the form of wages, stipends, pensions, child support, dividends, cash, etc., may be placed in foreign accounts without restriction.

Nonresident Accounts

Foreign exchange accounts permitted Yes. Ukrainian banks may open accounts for nonresidents (legal entities, representative offices of legal entities in Ukraine, investment funds, etc.). and asset management companies acting on behalf of such investment funds, individuals). Banks may open accounts for nonresident clients both in hryvnias and in foreign currencies.

The procedure for the use of accounts by nonresidents is established by Resolution No. 5 of January 2, 2019 (in effect February 7, 2019).

Direct foreign investors may open nonresident corporate accounts, investment accounts, deposit accounts, and escrow accounts in Ukraine.

An investment account of a foreign investor in foreign currency may be used in accordance with the legislation of Ukraine for:

1. foreign investments in Ukraine and the return of foreign investments, income, profits, and other funds earned by the foreign investor from investment activity in Ukraine;
2. trading in foreign currency;
3. posting/transfer of funds from/to other accounts held by the foreign investor in Ukraine/abroad;
4. posting of funds transferred by other nonresidents from abroad as authorized by the holder of the investment account for the performance of operations involving investment activity in Ukraine by the holder of the investment account;
5. operations involving the posting of funds from a deposit account of another foreign investor opened at a bank in Ukraine, in connection with assignment to the holder of the investment account by the foreign investor of rights of claim under a bank deposit agreement with regard to the payment of a monetary sum (deposit) and interest earned on the deposit;
6. posting of interest accrued on balances of funds on the foreign investor’s investment account;
7. posting of funds mistakenly transferred from the account;
8. settlements with customs authorities as specified by the legislation of Ukraine;
9. the return of funds received in error;

The posting of foreign currency cash to investment accounts is not permitted.

Effective July 10, 2019, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor was eliminated. Previously, the following changes had been made to the ban:

On June 13, 2016, pursuant to NBU Resolution No. 342 of June 9, 2016, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor do not apply to purchases/transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for 2014 and 2015, provided the following conditions are simultaneously met:
(1) purchase/transfer of foreign currency to repatriate dividends abroad is performed by the issuer of the corporate rights/shares under which dividends are paid, by the depository servicing the foreign investor’s accounts, or by the foreign investor directly;

(2) within one calendar month, the person/entity indicated in clause 2 of this subarticle acquires/transfers foreign exchange for repatriation abroad of dividends in an amount not exceeding one of the following two thresholds: US$1 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction) or 10% of the aggregate amount of the dividends subject to repatriation by that person/entity. If 10% of the aggregate amount of the dividends subject to repatriation abroad by that person/entity exceeds US$5 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction), then during one calendar month, the purchases/transfers of foreign exchange for repatriation abroad by that person/entity within the framework of the total amount may not exceed US$5 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction).

On April 14, 2017, investors were allowed to repatriate dividends accrued in 2016, in addition to dividends accrued in 2014 and 2015. Dividend repatriations for 2014–16 were allowed within a monthly limit of US$5 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction).

On November 15, 2017, foreign investors were allowed to repatriate dividends under corporate rights/shares for 2013 and earlier within a monthly limit of US$2 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction).

On March 2, 2018, pursuant to NBU Resolution No. 19 of March 1, 2018, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor does not apply to purchases/transfers of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for the period up to 2017, inclusive, not exceeding US$7 million (or the equivalent).

Effective May 7, 2019, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor does not apply to purchases/transfers of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for the period up to 2017, inclusive, not exceeding €12 million (or equivalent). Previously the threshold was US$7 million.

Effective February 7, 2019, the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange is permitted for the purpose of returning abroad funds obtained by foreign investors from transactions entailing the sale of securities, corporate rights, funds obtained as a result of reduction of the authorized capital of legal entities, and foreign investors’ withdrawal from companies, provided the following conditions are simultaneously met:

(1) The purchase/transfer of foreign exchange is performed by a resident (buyer of securities, whose authorized capital is reduced, and
(2) Throughout a calendar month, the aforementioned person/entity performs the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange for that purpose in an amount not exceeding €5 million (or equivalent).

(3) Such purchase/transfer is performed through a single bank (a change of banks is permitted under certain conditions).

This limit does not apply to the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange/hryvnias for the purpose of returning funds:

(1) to investment accounts of foreign investors within Ukraine; further transfer of these funds from an investment account abroad and/or to a current account of a nonresident (other than an investment account) may be performed, provided the above limit is observed;

(2) abroad from current accounts of nonresidents (other than investment accounts);

(3) earned by foreign investors from operations involving the sale of Ukrainian government bonds on securities exchanges and over the counter and from the sale of debt/listed securities on securities exchanges.

Effective September 10, 2019, the monthly limit of €5 million was eliminated on repatriation of funds received from selling securities and equity rights as well as of funds received from a reduction of authorized capital of a legal entity or a foreign investor’s exit from an economic partnership.

Accounts of permanent representative offices of foreign legal entities that conduct all or part of their business activities in Ukraine are designated P current accounts and may be used for the performance of the following kinds of transactions:

(1) with cash and checks;

(2) trading in foreign currency;

(3) payment/return of funds for business travel abroad;

(4) posting of funds transferred from abroad in the name of the holder of the account through Ukrainian banks;

(5) posting of funds transferred within Ukraine in accordance with the legislation of Ukraine;

(6) posting of funds transferred within Ukraine from one’s own current or deposit account/transfer of funds to one’s own current or deposit account (including the posting of interest accrued on balances of funds on one’s own current or deposit account);

(7) transfers in favor of a resident legal entity, if the payment of funds received from abroad specifies that these funds belong to the given resident in accordance with an agreement (contract, arrangement);
(8) transfers of funds to an account of a resident legal entity at a bank as a charitable donation;

(9) transfers of funds outside Ukraine to accounts of nonresident legal entities whose interests in Ukraine are represented by these permanent representative offices (also in the event such an account is being closed);

(10) posting of proceeds whose receipt is not in conflict with the legislation of Ukraine;

(11) transfers of funds to pay for participation in international symposiums, seminars, conferences, exhibitions, and athletic events.

Approval required Yes.

Domestic currency accounts Yes.

Ukrainian banks may open accounts in hryvnias for nonresidents (legal entities and representative offices of legal entities in Ukraine, investment funds and asset management companies acting on behalf of such investment funds, and individuals). Banks may open deposit accounts and current accounts, escrow accounts, and correspondent accounts for nonresident banks.

The procedure for the use of accounts is established by NBU Executive Board Resolution No. 5 of January 2, 2019 (in effect as of February 7, 2019).

Direct foreign investors may open nonresident corporate accounts, investment accounts, deposit accounts, and escrow accounts in Ukraine. An investment account of a foreign investor in domestic currency may be used in accordance with the legislation of Ukraine for

(1) foreign investments in Ukraine and the return of foreign investments, income, profits, and other funds earned by the foreign investor from investment activity in Ukraine;

(2) trading in foreign currency;

(3) posting/transfer of funds from/to other accounts held by foreign investors in Ukraine/abroad;

(4) posting of funds transferred by other nonresidents from abroad/current accounts in Ukraine as authorized by the holder of the investment account for the performance of operations involving investment activity in Ukraine by the holder of the investment account;

(5) operations involving the posting of funds from a deposit account of another foreign investor opened at a bank in Ukraine, in connection with the assignment to the holder of the investment account by that foreign investor of rights of claim under a bank deposit agreement with regard to the payment of a monetary sum (deposit) and interest earned on the deposit;

(6) posting of interest accrued on balances of funds on the foreign investor’s own investment account;

(7) posting of funds mistakenly transferred from the account;

(8) settlements with customs, tax, and other authorities as specified by the legislation of Ukraine;

(9) settlements with residents (professional participants in the stock market, appraisers, notaries, attorneys, brokers, other residents/nonresidents) for goods (products, work, services) related to the performance/return of foreign investments, including the maintenance (servicing) of foreign investment projects in Ukraine;

(10) payment for services to a Ukrainian bank servicing an account;

(11) return of funds received in error;

(12) posting of funds transferred from a correspondent account with a Ukrainian bank by a depository foreign bank that has a securities account at the NBU.

N accounts may be opened for (1) official representative offices and representative offices of nonresident legal entities that represent their interests but do not do business in Ukraine; (2) representative offices of foreign banks; (3) organizations and institutions (program or project management groups) running international or technical assistance programs and projects.

The following operations take place through current accounts in domestic currency for settlements related to the maintenance of an official representative office, representative offices of nonresident legal entities not doing business in Ukraine (including representative offices of foreign banks), institutions (program management groups, international assistance and international technical assistance project management groups), and for carrying out charitable activities in Ukraine:

(1) trading in foreign currency;

(2) posting of funds received by an embassy or consulate for consular services performed, including funds received in cash;

(3) payments for property and motor vehicle insurance for a representative office, as well as for life and health insurance for its employees, including compensation payments;

established by this Regulation;

(10) posting of funds previously transferred in error (in excess of the required amount) by a representative office from the account and returned by economic entities in connection with a failure to fulfill or partial fulfillment of their obligations under agreements concluded by the representative office to pay expenses related to its maintenance, or from resident legal entities previously transferred to them by the representative office from this account for charitable contributions/the transfer of funds received in error (in excess of the intended amount) from the account. These funds are posted to the account of a representative office/transferred from this account in an amount that does not exceed the sum previously transferred/received;

(11) transfers by an official representative office, a representative office of a nonresident legal entity, or a representative office of a nonresident bank of charitable contributions to resident legal entities in accordance with the legislation of Ukraine;

(12) transfers of funds for needs provided for under the charter of an international organization and its branch offices, which enjoy immunity and diplomatic privileges, and the charter of the representative office of a nonresident legal entity;

(13) transfers of funds for the implementation by an organization or institution (program or project management group) of international assistance and international technical assistance programs and projects;

(14) settlements in Ukraine related to the maintenance of a representative office, organization, or institution (including wages, payment of rent, purchase and maintenance of equipment and motor vehicles, repair of the building or premises of the representative office, organization, or institution), as well as the performance of hospitality functions.

Nonresident banks may open correspondent accounts in hryvnias with banks for settlements between residents and nonresidents under foreign trade agreements. The EBRD may use correspondent accounts in hryvnias with authorized Ukrainian banks for settlements by residents with the EBRD under lending agreements in hryvnias. Funds in hryvnias received by the EBRD from authorized Ukrainian banks based on interbank lending operations may be credited to EBRD correspondent accounts in hryvnias.

Accounts of IFIs may be used to perform transactions related to the issuance of hryvnia bonds of these organizations in Ukraine.

Term foreign currency deposits may be withdrawn before the expiration date in domestic currency equivalent (at the exchange rate of purchase of the authorized bank on the date of the transaction) if the bank’s agreement allows.

The return of a time deposit before the expiration of the term established by the agreement is permitted if provided for under the bank time deposit agreement (Amendment to NBU Board Resolution No. 516 of December 3, 2003).

Accepting of deposits in Russian rubles on the basis of bank account agreements is prohibited within the mainland territory of Ukraine, including by increasing the amount of deposits made before the Law of Ukraine on the Creation of the Free Economic Zone of Crimea and the Particularities of Engaging in Economic Activities in Temporarily Occupied Territory of Ukraine went into effect. Extending such agreements is also prohibited, in accordance with NBU Resolution No. 699, dated November 3, 2014.

The purchase of foreign currency from current accounts of permanent representative offices of foreign legal entities that do all or some of their business in Ukraine through these representative offices is performed for (1) transferring foreign currency to the account of the nonresident legal entity whose interests in Ukraine are represented by this representative office, within the limits of the balance of funds in the account; (2) the payment of expenses related to business travel outside Ukraine and operating expenses for vehicles traveling outside Ukraine; (3) payment for participation in international symposiums, seminars, conferences, exhibitions, and athletic events.

The purchase of foreign currency from current accounts of an official representative office and representative offices of nonresident legal entities that are not doing business is performed for the purposes of (1) transferring foreign currency to the account of the relevant bodies of a foreign state or to the account of the nonresident legal entity whose interests in Ukraine are represented by the given representative office; (2) the payment of expenses related to business travel outside Ukraine; (3) the payment of wages to employees of official representative offices (including supplemental payments, allowances, bonuses, and other incentive and compensation payments) if the individuals are not Ukrainian citizens or are not permanent residents of Ukraine, are accredited by the Ukrainian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and work in Ukraine under valid employment agreements (contracts).

The ban on transfers of dividends and proceeds from the sale of securities not traded on the stock exchange and from corporate rights not represented by shares was extended to dividends and proceeds from the sale of securities traded on the stock exchange (except from the sale of debt securities on stock exchanges). Authorized banks may not transfer hryvnias from investment accounts for the purchase of Ukrainian government bonds, except for purchases on the stock exchange with hryvnias originating from the sale of foreign exchange or from the sale and income of Ukrainian government bonds.

Nonresident individuals may purchase foreign currency from hryvnia accounts within the limits of the balance of funds on these accounts (other than investment accounts) without providing to the bank documents related to the performance of a foreign exchange operation.

| Effective February 7, 2019, the requirement to resell noncash foreign currency not used within 10 days in the foreign exchange market of Ukraine within 5 days and transfer any gains from the purchase of foreign exchange to the state budget was eliminated for individuals. For legal entities the requirement to resell noncash foreign currency not used within 10 days in the foreign exchange market within 5 days remains in place, but the requirement to transfer any gains from those transactions to the budget was eliminated, effective February 7, 2019. Effective May 16, 2019, the deadline for settlements on foreign trade operations (changed from 180 to 365 days effective February 7, 2019) do not extend to the following operations:

(1) imports of goods under government defense procurement contracts;

(2) imports of services or medicines under transactions of the Ukrainian Ministry of Health with specialized organizations, as well as imports of services for the treatment of persons with rare (orphan) diseases;

(3) imports of goods used for the production of space and aviation equipment and assemblies;

(4) imports of goods under production-sharing agreements;

(5) goods and services subject to procurement in accordance with agreements with the civic organization “National Olympic Committee of Ukraine” and needed to support participation of Ukrainian national teams and official delegations of Ukraine in the Olympic Games, Youth Olympic Games, European Games, and other international athletic events held under the aegis of the International Olympic Committee, European Olympic Committees, and Association of National Olympic Committees (Resolution of the NBU Board No. 67, dated May 14, 2019).

Residents and nonresidents may conduct foreign exchange operations involving the purchase of noncash foreign currency and/or the transfer of foreign currency/domestic currency if there are grounds/obligations for such operations, which must be confirmed by relevant documents presented to banks for the performance of a purchase or to authorized institutions for the performance of a transfer (NBU Executive Board Resolution No. 2, dated January 2, 2019).

Banks must thoroughly analyze and verify documents (information) concerning foreign exchange operations that support the purchase of foreign currency for settlements/transfers of funds outside Ukraine or to current accounts of nonresident legal entities in Ukraine, if the presentation of the relevant documents (information) is provided for by the legislation of Ukraine (NBU Board Resolution No. 8 of January 2, 2019).

There are three customs duty categories with a trade-weighted average rate of about 5% (including energy imports). The first category (preferred duty rate) applies to goods from countries with which Ukraine has free trade agreements, imports from developing economies, and imports from countries that have a preferential agreement with Ukraine. The second category (concessional duty rate) applies to imports from countries that have entered into MFN agreements with Ukraine. The third category applies to imports from other countries.

A VAT of 20% is levied on most imports, and some imports are subject to excise taxes.

As of January 1, 2016, the surcharge established on February 27, 2015, equal to 10% of the value of imports for all imported goods (with the exception of essential goods, including electricity, coal, oil, gas, and certain medical equipment, which were subject to a 5% surcharge), was repealed.

Exports and Export Proceeds

Repatriation requirements

According to NBU Executive Board Resolution No. 5 of January 2, 2019 (effective February 7, 2019), the deadline for settlements on operations involving exports of goods is 365 calendar days (previously 180 calendar days). Exemption from the 365-day deadline may be granted by the central executive authority that implements government policy in economic development.

The deadline for the payment of debt is calculated from the date of the customs processing of products being exported; in the case of the exportation of work, services, intellectual property rights, and/or other nonproperty rights, from the date a certificate, bill (invoice), or other document confirming delivery is prepared in written form (in hard copy or in electronic form).

Funds received by a resident from a nonresident under an export operation are to be posted to the resident’s account at a bank in Ukraine.

Effective May 16, 2019, the deadline for settlements on foreign trade operations (365 days effective February 7, 2019) do not extend to the following operations:
(1) exports of goods under production-sharing agreements; and (2) exports of work, services (other than transportation and insurance services and work), and intellectual property rights (NBU Executive Board Resolution No. 67 of May 14, 2019).

Surrender requirements

The NBU may institute temporary surrender requirements for mandatory proceeds in foreign currency, including for export transactions for a period of up to six months.

Effective March 1, 2019, the share of export proceeds subject to surrender requirement was reduced to 30% from 50%.

Effective June 20, 2019, the surrender requirement on export proceeds was eliminated. Previously, it was 30% of certain export proceeds (NBU Executive Board Resolution No. 78 of June 18, 2019, “Amendment to the Regulation on Protection Measures and the Procedure for the Performance of Certain Operations in Foreign Currency”.

Settlements on export operations are performed through accounts at Ukrainian banks.

Inspection is not mandatory but may be undertaken by the Ukrainian Chamber of Commerce and Industry at the request of residents.

Goods subject to voluntary export restrictions or international agreements and those under the “special export regime” (coal, precious metal scrap, alcoholic beverages) are subject to export quotas and license requirements. The licenses required for these goods are, however, freely provided to exporters, except in the case of precious metal scrap. For grain exports, sales must take place through the agricultural commodity exchange. Export contract preregistration is limited to goods subject to voluntary export restrictions or antidumping measures. Registration of exports is automatic and for statistical purposes only.

Taxes are applied to exports of sunflower seeds, livestock, skins, and hides.

No.

Effective September 10, 2019, the monthly limit of €5 million was eliminated on the repatriation of funds received from selling securities and equity rights as well as of funds received from a reduction of authorized capital of a legal entity or a foreign investor’s exit from an economic partnership.

Effective July 10, 2019, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor was eliminated. Previously, the following changes had been made to the ban:

On June 13, 2016, pursuant to NBU Resolution No. 342 of June 9, 2016, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor may not apply to cases of the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for 2014 and 2015, provided the following conditions are simultaneously met:

1. Purchase/transfer of foreign currency to repatriate dividends abroad is performed by the issuer of the corporate rights/shares under which dividends are paid, by the depository servicing the foreign investor’s accounts, or by the foreign investor directly.

2. Within one calendar month, the person/entity indicated in clause 2 of this subarticle may acquire/transfer foreign exchange for the repatriation abroad of dividends in an amount not exceeding one of the following two thresholds: US$1 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the relevant transaction) or 10% of the aggregate amount of dividends subject to repatriation by that person/entity. If 10% of the aggregate amount of the dividends subject to repatriation abroad by that person/entity exceeds US$5 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the relevant transaction), then during one calendar month, purchases/transfers of foreign exchange for repatriation abroad by that person/entity within the framework of the total amount may not exceed US$5 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the relevant transaction).

On April 14, 2017, investors were allowed to repatriate dividends accrued in 2016, in addition to dividends accrued in 2014 and 2015. Dividend repatriations for 2014–16 were allowed within a monthly limit of US$5 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the relevant transaction).

On November 15, 2017, foreign investors were allowed to repatriate dividends under corporate rights/shares for 2013 and earlier within a monthly limit of US$2 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the relevant transaction).

On March 2, 2018, pursuant to NBU Resolution No. 19 of March 1, 2018, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor does not apply to the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for the period up to 2017, inclusive, in the amount not exceeding US$7 million (or equivalent).

Effective May 7, 2019, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor does not apply to the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for the period up to 2017, inclusive, in the amount not exceeding €12 million (or equivalent). Previously, the threshold was US$7 million.

Quantitative limits  No.  See IX.A.2.a.

Indicative limits/bona fide test  Yes.  For payments to nonresidents, banks are required to check the documents that serve as the basis for the transactions being performed.

Funds transfers by residents (legal entities or individuals) abroad, or to current accounts of nonresident legal entities in Ukraine (other than investment accounts) for the purpose of carrying out investments abroad may be performed within a limit of €100,000 for individuals or €2 million for legal entities (or the equivalent in another currency).

Payments for travel  Yes.

Prior approval  No.

Quantitative limits  Yes.  Legal entities may purchase unlimited amount of noncash foreign currency to pay for business travel. Individuals may purchase noncash foreign currency in small amounts without grounds/obligations. Banks perform such transactions (with the same individual on the same calendar day at the same bank) on the basis of a request or a remote instruction from a customer without the presentation of documents related to the performance of the foreign exchange transaction. An individual may purchase foreign currency cash in a small amount on the same calendar day at the same bank/financial institution.

Indicative limits/bona fide test  Yes.  Effective February 7, 2019, the requirement to resell noncash foreign currency not used within 10 days in the foreign exchange market of Ukraine within 5 days and transfer any gains from the purchase of foreign exchange to the state budget was eliminated for individuals. - Acquisition by a foreign investor of equity securities does not require state registration.

- Foreign securities may be traded in Ukraine once they have been registered with the NSSMC. The securities must be placed with a depository in their country of origin and either listed on the stock exchange or cleared for trading in the trading information system in their country of origin, and listed with one of the following stock exchanges: American Stock Exchange, Frankfurt Stock Exchange, New York Stock Exchange, Tokyo Stock Exchange, Toronto Stock Exchange, The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong, or London Stock Exchange. Persons offering foreign securities for sale in Ukraine must provide Ukrainian investors with a prospectus and the issuer’s report for the most recent fiscal year.

- IFIs may issue bonds in hryvnias within Ukraine, provided they obtain the requisite approvals from the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine (Law of Ukraine No. 3480-IV of February 23, 2006, on Securities and the Stock Market).

- Effective February 7, 2019, a license from the NBU is no longer required to purchase and transfer foreign currency for the acquisition of securities abroad if the total amount does not exceed established limits.

The transfer of foreign currency abroad by residents for the acquisition of securities of foreign issuers or of Ukrainian issuers that were previously acquired by nonresidents—but not as foreign investment in Ukraine—is allowed within the limits established by NBU Executive Board Resolution No. 5 of January 2, 2019, on Approval of the Regulation on Protection Measures and Determination of the Procedure for the Performance of Certain Operations in Foreign Currency.

Resident legal entities may purchase and transfer foreign currency for the acquisition of securities in a total amount not exceeding €2 million a year or the equivalent in another currency. This limit does not apply to operations by residents (legal entities/individual entrepreneurs) to return to a foreign investor/nonresident a foreign investment/investment in Ukraine, as well as profits, income, dividends, and other funds earned by the foreign investor/nonresident from investment activity in Ukraine.

Resident individuals may purchase and transfer foreign currency for the acquisition of securities abroad in a total amount not exceeding €100,000 a year or the equivalent in another currency.

The placement of securities by residents outside Ukraine is subject to permission of the NSSMC.

Nonresidents are not required to deposit hryvnias in advance in the bid amounts for government securities in primary auctions. Transactions involving the purchase of government securities must be registered with the NBU depository. Authorized banks may acquire bonds on behalf of nonresidents at auctions. Authorized banks may not transfer hryvnias from investment accounts for the purchase of Ukrainian government bonds, except for the purchase of bonds on the stock exchange with hryvnias originating from the sale of foreign exchange or from the sale of, and income from, Ukrainian government bonds.

As of July 10, 2019, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor was eliminated. Previously, the following changes had been made to the ban:

On June 13, 2016, pursuant to NBU Resolution No. 342 of June 9, 2016, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor does not apply to the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for 2014 and 2015, provided the following conditions are simultaneously met:

1. purchases/transfers of foreign currency to repatriate dividends abroad are performed by the issuer of the corporate rights/shares under which dividends are paid, by the depository servicing the foreign investor’s accounts or by the foreign investor directly; against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction) or 10% of the aggregate amount of the dividends subject to repatriation by that person/entity. If 10% of the aggregate amount of the dividends subject to repatriation abroad by that person/entity exceeds US$5 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction), then during one calendar month, the purchases/transfers of foreign exchange for repatriation abroad by that person/entity within the framework of the total amount may not exceed US$5 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction).

On April 14, 2017, investors were allowed to repatriate dividends accrued in 2016, in addition to dividends accrued in 2014 and 2015. Dividend repatriations for 2014–16 were allowed within a monthly limit of US$5 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction).

On November 15, 2017, foreign investors were allowed to repatriate dividends under corporate rights/shares for 2013 and earlier within a monthly limit of US$2 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction).

As of March 2, 2018, pursuant to NBU Resolution No. 19 of March 1, 2018, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor does not apply to purchases/transfers of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for the period up to 2017, inclusive, not exceeding US$7 million (or the equivalent).

As of May 7, 2019, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor does not apply to purchases/transfers of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for the period up to 2017, inclusive, not exceeding €12 million (or equivalent). Previously, the threshold was US$7 million.

Effective February 7, 2019, purchases/transfers of foreign exchange are permitted for the purpose of returning abroad funds obtained by foreign investors from transactions entailing the sale of securities, corporate rights, funds obtained as a result of reduction of the authorized capital of legal entities, and foreign investors’ withdrawal from companies, provided the following conditions are simultaneously met: (1) the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange is performed by a resident (buyer of securities, whose authorized capital is reduced and from which a foreign investor participant is withdrawing), intermediary, or foreign investor; (2) throughout a calendar month, the aforementioned person/entity performs the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange for that purpose in an amount not exceeding €5 million (or equivalent); (3) such purchase/transfer is performed through a single bank (a change of banks is permitted under certain conditions).

This limit does not apply to purchases/transfers of foreign exchange/hryvnias for the purpose of returning funds

(1) to investment accounts of foreign investors within Ukraine;
further transfer of these funds from an investment account abroad and/or to a current account of a nonresident (other than an investment account) may be performed, provided the above limit is observed;

(2) abroad from current accounts of nonresidents (other than investment accounts);

(3) earned by foreign investors from operations involving the sale of Ukrainian government bonds on securities exchanges and over the counter and from the sale of debt/listed securities on securities exchanges.

Effective September 10, 2019, the monthly limit of €5 million was eliminated on the repatriation of funds received from selling securities and equity rights as well as of funds received from a reduction in authorized capital of a legal entity or a foreign investor’s exit from an economic partnership.

Sale or issue locally by nonresidents

Yes.

Foreign securities may be traded in Ukraine once they have been registered with the NSSMC. The securities must be placed with a depository in their country of origin and either listed on the stock exchange or cleared for trading in the trading information system in their country of origin and listed with one of the following stock exchanges: American Stock Exchange, Frankfurt Stock Exchange, New York Stock Exchange, Tokyo Stock Exchange, Toronto Stock Exchange, The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong, or London Stock Exchange. Persons offering foreign securities for sale in Ukraine must provide Ukrainian investors a prospectus and the issuer’s report for the most recent fiscal year.

Thus, resident individuals may conduct foreign exchange operations involving (1) the transfer of funds outside Ukraine/to current accounts of nonresident legal entities in Ukraine (other than investment accounts)/under life insurance agreements/the performance of investments abroad/the placement of funds on their accounts abroad and (2) loans to nonresidents up to €100,000 a year (or the equivalent in another currency).
(1) the granting of consumer credits to nonresident individuals by banks and nonbank financial institutions;

(2) the granting of credits by banks to nonresidents for the purpose of the purchase by the nonresident of Ukrainian domestic government bonds, if the repayment date for the given credit is not later than 14 days from the date the funds in hryvnias are posted.

Residents may engage in borrowing from nonresidents both in foreign currency and in hryvnias. The previous requirement concerning the registration of external borrowing with the NBU was eliminated effective February 7, 2019, and was replaced with a notification system.

Also, effective February 7, 2019, the NBU does not set a maximum interest rate on external borrowing.

As of February 16, 2018, the NBU allowed residents to take loans from nonresidents if the loan amount is determined in hryvnias and all calculations are carried out in foreign currency, provided

(1) the creditor is an IFI of which Ukraine is a member or an IFI with respect to which Ukraine is obligated to provide the same legal regime;

(2) the borrower is an authorized bank and the lender of the IFI or another person. Such loan agreements do not require registration with the NBU.

As of March 3, 2018, the NBU allowed residents to make early repayment of loans within a monthly limit of US$2 million (for one resident borrower under loan agreements serviced by one authorized bank).

As of March 30, 2018, the NBU allowed residents to make early repayment of loans involving a foreign person (by way of crediting, insurance, guarantee, or surety) in full or in part, with participant that is a foreign state or a foreign bank with a shareholder that is a foreign state.

As of April 27, 2018, the NBU established an exception to the general procedure for controlling the level of the maximum interest rate on foreign loans for credit projects implemented with the participation (in the form of guarantee, insurance, surety) of a foreign state.

As of May 5, 2018, the NBU lifted the restriction on credit funds in foreign currency, as a means of payment in Ukraine, received from an IFI by the state or under state guarantees.

As of May 17, 2018, the NBU simplified the procedure for purchasing foreign currency through authorized banks for repayment of loans by resident borrowers.

The reserve requirement to be placed in the NBU by banks on short-term (up to six months) deposits or loans in foreign exchange from nonresidents is 0. The requirement does not apply to funds (1) with a term of no more than one business day, (2) under government guarantees, or (3) from IFIs of which Ukraine is a member.
By residents to nonresidents: Yes. The purchase or transfer of funds in transactions involving a resident’s fulfillment of obligations under a guarantee or suretyship—or a resident debtor’s reimbursement of funds to a nonresident guarantor (surety) who has fulfilled the resident debtor’s obligation to a creditor (resident or nonresident) secured by the guarantee/suretyship—is performed based on corroborating documents submitted to the bank. Such transactions of resident legal entities are performed within a limit of €2 million (or the equivalent in another foreign currency or hryvnias) a year. The limit on guarantee transactions and sureties is not applied if that limit does not extend to transactions involving the fulfillment of an underlying obligation secured by such a guarantee or suretyship.

Residents perform foreign exchange operations involving the purchase of foreign currency/precious metals and/or the transfer of foreign exchange assets (foreign currency/hryvnias/precious metals) abroad/to a nonresident current account in Ukraine (other than an investment account) from their own accounts for the purpose of payments to fulfill debt obligations of a resident borrower to a nonresident (guarantor/surety/mortgagor who has fulfilled an obligation to a nonresident creditor on behalf of a resident borrower) specified in a credit agreement (loan agreement/agreement on financial assistance to be repaid) on the condition that there is (1) documented confirmation of the existence, amount, and deadlines for the fulfillment of these obligations; (2) documented confirmation of the fulfillment by the nonresident guarantor (surety/mortgagor) of obligations on behalf of the resident borrower specified in a credit agreement/loan agreement/agreement on financial assistance to be repaid with a nonresident creditor; (3) existence of an entry recorded in the NBU Credit Agreements with Nonresidents automated information system that corresponds to the given credit agreement/loan agreement/agreement on financial assistance to be repaid.

Only the bank servicing operations under the given credit agreement/loan agreement has the right to purchase foreign currency/precious metals and/or to transfer foreign exchange assets for the purpose of fulfilling the obligations of a resident borrower to a nonresident who fulfilled an obligation on behalf of the resident borrower under a credit agreement/loan agreement.

To residents from nonresidents: No.

Effective February 7, 2019, the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange is permitted for the purpose of returning abroad funds obtained by foreign investors from transactions entailing the sale of securities, corporate rights, funds obtained as a result of reduction of the authorized capital of legal entities, and foreign investors’ withdrawal from companies, provided the following conditions are simultaneously met: (1) The purchase/transfer of foreign exchange is performed by a resident (buyer of securities, whose authorized capital is reduced and from which a foreign investor participant is withdrawing), intermediary, or foreign investor. (2) Throughout a calendar month, the aforementioned person/entity performs the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange for that purpose in an amount not exceeding €5 million (or the equivalent). (3) Such purchase/transfer is performed through a single bank (a change of banks is permitted under certain conditions).

This limit does not apply to the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange/hryvnias for the purpose of returning funds

(1) to investment accounts of foreign investors within Ukraine; further transfer of these funds from an investment account abroad and/or to a current account of a nonresident (other than an investment account) may be performed, provided the above limit is observed;

(2) abroad from current accounts of nonresidents (other than investment accounts);

(3) earned by foreign investors from operations involving the sale of Ukrainian government bonds on securities exchanges and over the counter and from the sale of debt/listed securities on securities exchanges.

Effective September 10, 2019, the monthly limit of €5 million was eliminated on the repatriation of funds received from selling securities and equity rights as well as of funds received from a reduction in authorized capital of a legal entity or a foreign investor’s exit from an economic partnership.

As of July 10, 2019, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor was eliminated. Previously, the following changes had been made to the ban:

On June 13, 2016, pursuant to NBU Resolution No. 342 of June 9, 2016, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor does not apply to the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for 2014 and 2015, provided the following conditions are simultaneously met:

(1) The purchase/transfer of foreign currency to repatriate dividends abroad is performed by the issuer of the corporate rights/shares under which dividends are paid, by the depository servicing the foreign investor’s accounts, or by the foreign investor directly.
Within one calendar month, the person/entity indicated in clause 2 of this subarticle acquires/transfers foreign exchange for the repatriation abroad of dividends within a total amount not exceeding one of the following two thresholds: (1) US$1 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction) or 10% of the aggregate amount of the dividends subject to repatriation by that person/entity. If 10% of the aggregate amount of the dividends subject to repatriation abroad by that person/entity exceeds US$5 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction), then during one calendar month, the purchases/transfers of foreign exchange for repatriation abroad by that person/entity within the framework of the total amount may not exceed US$5 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction).

On April 14, 2017, investors were allowed to repatriate dividends accrued in 2016, in addition to dividends accrued in 2014 and 2015. Dividend repatriations for 2014–16 were allowed within a monthly limit of US$5 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction).

On November 15, 2017, foreign investors were allowed to repatriate dividends under corporate rights/shares for 2013 and earlier, within a monthly limit of US$2 million (or equivalent in another foreign currency at the NBU official exchange rate of the hryvnia against foreign currencies on the date of the transaction).

As of March 2, 2018, pursuant to NBU Resolution No. 19 of March 1, 2018, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor does not apply to the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for the period up to 2017, inclusive, not exceeding US$7 million (or the equivalent).

As of May 7, 2019, the ban on the purchase and transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor does not apply to the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for the period up to 2017, inclusive, not exceeding €12 million (or the equivalent). Previously, the threshold was US$7 million.

Borrowing abroad

No.

Effective February 7, 2019, foreign currency loans no longer require registration with the NBU.

Effective February 7, 2019, the NBU no longer sets interest rate ceilings (allowing for commissions and fees) for the borrowing of funds abroad.

Banks may purchase foreign currency for hryvnias without limit (including to discharge obligations on foreign loans (making payments toward redemption, including for early redemption, loan principal, interest, and other payments provided in the loan agreement).

On April 14, 2017, the NBU allowed Ukrainian banks to repay loans to nonresidents early as follows:

(1) The lender is a bank with a rating of at least A–.

(2) The loan was funded by issuance of Eurobonds.

On July 11, 2017, the NBU allowed early loan repayments to nonresidents as follows:

(1) Banks may repay loans early to all nonresidents.

(2) Residents may repay loans to nonresidents early, if a shareholder of such a borrower or nonresident creditor is an IFI.

(3) Resident borrowers may repay loans early to nonresident banks.

On August 24, 2017, early repayment of loans from nonresidents were allowed if a foreign state (at least single A rated by Fitch Ratings, Standard & Poor’s, Moody’s) or a foreign bank (with a rated foreign state in the stake) owning shares in the capital of this nonresident is exempt from the ban on early loan repayments.

On October 8, 2017, the NBU simplified for banks the procedure for early repurchases of their own Eurobonds (issued abroad to finance loans granted to these banks by nonresidents) without individual licenses.

On December 14, 2017, the NBU extended the list of exemptions for early loan repayments, including the repayment of loans in cases... when a foreign state via the persons authorized by that state is participating (through crediting, insurance, guaranteeing) in the realization of such a loan (fully or partially).

On February 16, 2018, by NBU Board Resolution No. 12 of February 15, 2018, the NBU allowed residents to take out loans from nonresidents under the conditions at the time the loan amount is determined in hryvnias, and all calculations are carried out in foreign currency, provided

(1) the creditor is an IFI of which Ukraine is a member or an IFI with respect to which Ukraine is obligated to provide the same legal regime;

(2) the borrower is an authorized bank, and the lender of the IFI, or another person. Such a loan agreement does not require registration with the NBU.

On April 27, 2018, the NBU Board of Directors by its Resolution No. 45 of April 26, 2018, established an exception to the general procedure for controlling the level of the maximum interest rate on foreign loans for credit projects implemented with the participation (in the form of guarantee, insurance, surety) of a foreign state.

On May 5, 2018, NBU Board Resolution No. 48 of May 3, 2018, removed the restriction on credit funds in foreign currency, as a means of payment in Ukraine, received from the IFI by the state or under state guarantees.

The reserve requirement to be placed in the NBU by authorized banks on short-term (up to six months) deposits or loans in foreign exchange from nonresidents is 0.

Maintenance of accounts abroad

- Yes.

Lending to nonresidents (financial or commercial credits)

- Yes. Banks may provide foreign currency loans to nonresidents at authorized banks. Banks are prohibited from providing loans in hryvnias, except consumer loans to individual nonresidents and loans to nonresident legal entities for a nonresident to purchase sovereign bonds of Ukraine, provided the due date for repaying the funds to the bank does not exceed 14 business days from the date they were disbursed.

Lending locally in foreign exchange

- Yes. Initially, the provision by financial institutions of loans and credits in foreign currency to individual residents and nonresidents not engaged in entrepreneurial activities was restricted by law on November 24, 2009, effective until January 1, 2011 (except loans and credits in foreign currency to pay for the services of nonresidents for treatment and education abroad).

Later, the ban on the provision of consumer loans to individuals in foreign currency was legislated since October 16, 2011, and as of June 10, 2017, the relevant rule on the prohibition of consumer loans in foreign currency in Ukraine was established by the Law of Ukraine on Consumer Lending.

Purchase of locally issued securities denominated in foreign exchange

- Yes.

Differential treatment of deposit accounts in foreign exchange

- Yes.

Reserve requirements

- Yes. Effective March 10, 2020, reserve requirements for banks depend on the currency of deposits rather than on terms of deposits, as before.
For hryvnia deposits, a zero rate is set for the reserve requirement and 10% for foreign currency deposits.

Banks maintain reserve requirements on their correspondent accounts in the NBU in domestic currency.

Liquid asset requirements  Yes.  The liquidity coverage ratio (LCR) requirement is set separately for all currencies and for the group of foreign currencies (while also monitored in domestic currency). The lists of eligible high-quality liquid assets (HQLAs) in all currencies and in foreign currencies differ somewhat. In particular, domestic government debt securities denominated in foreign currencies with residual maturity over 30 days are eligible for HQLAs in all currencies; however, they are not eligible for HQLAs in foreign currencies. The LCR requirement was phased in as follows:

As of December 1, 2018, the LCR was introduced at 80% in total and for the group of foreign currencies; effective June 1, 2019, the LCR was raised from 80% to 90% in total and for the group of foreign currencies; and effective December 1, 2019, it was raised from 90% to 100% in total and for the group of foreign currencies.

Interest rate controls  No.

Credit controls  No.

Differential treatment of deposit accounts held by nonresidents  No.

Reserve requirements  No.

Liquid asset requirements  No.

Interest rate controls  No.

Credit controls  No.

Investment regulations  Yes.

Abroad by banks  Yes.  Banks may make investments abroad under a banking license, with regard to restrictions in statutes of Ukraine and NBU regulations, in particular Resolution of the NBU Board No. 5 of January 2, 2019, on Approval of the Regulation on Protection Measures and the Procedure for the Performance of Certain Foreign Currency Transactions. Pursuant to Article 50 of the Law of Ukraine on Banks and Banking, a bank may make direct investments with written permission from the NBU.

In banks by nonresidents  Yes.  Legal entities or individuals who intend to acquire substantial interest in a bank, or increase it, such that an individual or entity directly and/or indirectly, independently or together with other entities or persons, owns 10%, 25%, 50%, or 75% or more of the authorized capital or voting rights in the authorized capital of a bank, and/or regardless of formal ownership, has significant influence over the management or activities of a bank must notify that bank and the NBU of their intentions three months before acquiring or increasing substantial interest (except for strategic investors who apply for participation in the tender in accordance with the Law of Ukraine, on the Features of the Sale of Blocks of Shares That Are Owned by the State in the Authorized Capital of Banks in the Capitalization of Which the State Participated) and submit the relevant package of documents for clearing the acquisition with the NBU. The NBU may prohibit the acquisition of, or increase in, material participation in a bank.
Following the NBU’s methodology, banks calculate limits for the overall long and short open foreign exchange positions, taking into account a bank’s reserves for its asset-related operations in foreign exchange and the sum of the delta equivalent of an exchange derivative built into a financial instrument with an indexed value.

Off-balance-sheet items are included in the calculation of the open foreign exchange positions. The limits of the total (short/long) open currency position are set as a percentage of the regulatory capital.

Effective January 20, 2020, the limit of the aggregate long open currency position of a bank (L13-1) may not exceed 10% of the regulatory capital; the limit of the aggregate short open foreign exchange position may not exceed 10% of its regulatory capital in accordance with NBU Board Decision No. 10-RS of January 9, 2020, which amended Decision 184-RS of March 29, 2018. Previously, as of July 1, 2018, L13-1 was no more than 5% and L13-2 no more than 5%. As of May 1, 2018, L13-1 was no more than 3% and L13-2 no more than 8% of the bank’s regulatory capital, according to the decision of the NBU Board No. 184-rsh of March 29, 2018.

Previously, as of September 2, 2014, L13-1 was no more than 1% and L13-2 was 10% of the bank’s regulatory capital in accordance with the decisions of the NBU Board No. 205 of June 22, 2011, and No. 540 of August 29, 2014, extended by resolutions No. 758 of December 01, 2014, No. 124 of February 23, 2015, No. 160 of March 03, 2015, No. 354 of June 03, 2015, No. 581 of September 03, 2015, No. 863 of December 04, 2015, No. 140 from March 3, 2016, No. 342 of July 7, 2016, No. 386 of September 14, 2016, and No. 410 of December 13, 2016. As of June 29, 2011, L13-1 was no more than 5% and L13-2 was 10% of the bank’s regulatory capital in accordance with NBU Board Resolution No. 205 of June 22, 2011. NBU Resolution No. 847 on Approval of the Methodology for the Calculation of the Open Foreign Exchange Position by Authorized Banks, on December 1, 2015, repealed Resolution No. 182 of March 31, 2014, which previously established the timetable for the inclusion of provisions on asset-related operations, because these provisions are now included in their entirety. According to the new methodology, 100% of the reserves for asset-related banking operations in foreign currency are included in the calculation of the total (long/short) open foreign exchange position limits.

On September 1, 2016, as per NBU Board Decision No. 158-rsh of July 26, 2016, which amended Resolution No. 847, financial instruments with an indexed value (loans, deposits, securities, other instruments held by banks) are taken into account in calculating the foreign exchange position.

Effective January 31, 2020, pursuant to NBU Board Decision No. 1019-RS of December 28, 2019, the exchange position calculation also takes into account the sum of the delta equivalent of an exchange derivative built into a financial instrument with an indexed value. In addition, the requirements concerning financial instruments with indexed values were canceled.

On May 1, 2018, the limit of the total long open currency position of the bank (L13-1) was set at 3% (previously 1%), and the limit of the total short open currency position of the bank (L13-2) was set at 8% (previously 10%) of the regulatory capital of the bank.
As of July 1, 2018, the limit of the total long open currency position of the bank (L13-1) may not exceed 5% of the regulatory capital (previously 3%), and the limit of the total short open currency position of the bank may not exceed 5% of its regulatory capital (previously 8%).

Changes during 2019 and 2020

Exchange Arrangement

Monetary policy framework

Inflation-targeting framework
The National Bank of Ukraine began to publish a key rate forecast as part of the quarterly revision of the macroeconomic forecast.

Banks were allowed to perform forward transactions with resident borrowers for the purpose of hedging debt operations under credit agreements (loan agreements) with nonresidents or banks. Previously, these were allowed only for hedging export and import payments.

If the delivery time of goods and services exceeds 365 calendar days (previously 180 calendar days), it may be extended with approval of the central executive government body implementing economic development policy.

Foreign currency may be used by residents
(1) in the performance of operations by banks to provide banking and other financial services on the basis of a banking license;
(2) in the performance of operations by nonbank financial institutions and postal service operators that have a license from the National Bank of Ukraine (NBU) to perform foreign exchange operations;
(3) in the performance of operations involving the placement of, payment of monetary income on, and redemption of bonds and Treasury bills of Ukraine denominated in foreign currency, if so indicated in the securities prospectus (by the terms of their placement);
(4) in the performance of operations involving the purchase/sale of government securities denominated in foreign currency, if the initiator or recipient of such a foreign exchange operation is a bank;
(5) for other operations defined by the Customs Code of Ukraine and/or regulatory legal acts of the NBU. Previously, an NBU license was required.

Foreign exchange supervision is no longer performed with regard to transactions involving exports and imports in an amount that is below the threshold established for financial transactions that are subject to mandatory financial monitoring in accordance with the legislation on combating money laundering, the financing of terrorism, or the financing of the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.

The National Bank of Ukraine has established a deadline of 365 calendar days (previously 180 calendar days) for settlements under transactions by residents involving exports of goods.

A license from the National Bank of Ukraine is no longer required to transfer foreign currency by residents to their accounts opened abroad as long as the amount is within the established limits.

The requirement to resell previously bought noncash foreign currency not used within 10 days in the foreign exchange market within 5 days and transfer any gains from the purchase of foreign exchange to the state budget was eliminated for individuals.
The requirement to resell previously bought noncash foreign currency not used within 10 days in the foreign exchange market within 5 days remains in place for legal entities, but the requirement to transfer any gains from those transactions to the budget was eliminated.

Nonresident Accounts

The purchase/transfer of foreign exchange is permitted for the purpose of returning abroad funds obtained by foreign investors from transactions entailing the sale of securities, corporate rights, funds obtained as a result of reduction of the authorized capital of legal entities, and foreign investors’ withdrawal from companies, provided the following conditions are simultaneously met: (1) The purchase/transfer of foreign exchange is performed by a resident (buyer of securities whose authorized capital is reduced and from which a foreign investor participant is withdrawing), intermediary, or foreign investor. (2) Throughout a calendar month, the aforementioned person/entity performs the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange for that purpose in an amount not exceeding €5 million (or equivalent). (3) Such purchase/transfer is performed through a single bank (a change of banks is permitted under certain conditions). This limit does not apply to the purchase/transfer of foreign exchange/hryvnias for the purpose of returning funds (a) to investment accounts of foreign investors within Ukraine; further transfer of these funds from an investment account abroad and/or to a current account of a nonresident (other than an investment account) may be performed, provided the above limit is observed; (b) abroad from current accounts of nonresidents (other than investment accounts); (c) earned by foreign investors from operations involving the sale of Ukrainian government bonds on securities exchanges and over the counter and from the sale of debt/listed securities on securities exchanges.

The ban on purchases and transfers of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor does not apply to purchases/transfers of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends on equity participation/shares for the period up to 2017, inclusive, not exceeding €12 million (or equivalent). Previously the threshold was US$7 million.

The ban on purchases and transfers of foreign exchange for the repatriation of dividends abroad to a foreign investor was eliminated. Previously, transfer of dividends was banned above a €12 million threshold.

The monthly limit of €5 million was eliminated on the repatriation of funds received from selling securities and equity rights as well as of funds received from a reduction of authorized capital of a legal entity or a foreign investor’s exit from an economic partnership.

Imports and Import Payments

The National Bank of Ukraine extended the deadline to 365 calendar days (previously 180 calendar days) for settlements on foreign trade operations. For certain operations involving imports of goods the deadline may be extended with approval of the central executive government body responsible for the implementation of economic development policy.

The 365-day settlement deadlines do not extend to operations involving imports of goods (including incomplete settlements on operations), the amount of which (in the hryvnia equivalent at the official exchange rate against foreign currencies set by the National Bank of Ukraine on the date the operation is performed) is less than UAH 400,000; previously, the limit was UAH 150,000.

A license from the National Bank of Ukraine is no longer required to purchase and transfer foreign currency for the purpose of making investments abroad if the total amount does not exceed established limits.

Residents (banks, legal entities, individuals) may provide credit and loans to nonresidents as follows:

1. banks—without limits on the amount, in foreign currency. Providing credit in hryvnias is prohibited, other than consumer loans to individual nonresidents and loans to nonresident legal entities for a nonresident to purchase sovereign bonds of Ukraine, provided the due date for repaying the funds to the bank does not exceed 14 business days from the date they were disbursed;

2. legal entities—foreign currency loans, not exceeding €2 million a year or the equivalent in another currency;

3. individuals—foreign currency loans, not exceeding €100,000 a year or the equivalent in another currency.

The daily foreign currency cash purchase limit for individuals was raised from UAH 150,000 to UAH 400,000.

Resident legal entities may perform such transactions not exceeding €2 million or the equivalent a year.

Foreign currency loans no longer require registration with the National Bank of Ukraine.

The National Bank of Ukraine no longer sets interest rate ceilings (allowing for commissions and fees) for the borrowing of funds abroad.

Reserve requirements for banks depend on the currency of deposits rather than on terms of deposits, as before. For hryvnia deposits, a zero rate is set for the reserve requirement and 10% for foreign currency deposits.

The total liquidity coverage ratio was raised from 80% to 90%.

The liquidity coverage ratio for assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currency was raised from 80% to 90%.

The liquidity coverage ratio for assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currency was raised from 90% to 100%.
The liquidity coverage ratio was raised from 90% to 100% in total and for the group of foreign currencies.

The limit of the aggregate long open currency position of a bank (L13-1) may not exceed 10% of the regulatory capital; the limit of the aggregate short open foreign exchange position of the bank may not exceed 10% of its regulatory capital. Previously, both limits were 5% of regulatory capital.

The exchange position calculation also takes into account the sum of the delta equivalent of an exchange derivative built into a financial instrument with an indexed value. In addition, the requirements concerning financial instruments with indexed values were canceled.

The UAECB offers the following funding facilities with terms of one week and one and three months: (1) in dirhams and dollars against the UAECB certificates of deposit for conventional banks; (2) in dirhams against the UAECB Islamic certificates of deposit; and (3) dollar swaps against dirhams for Islamic banks. The facilities regulate the amount and use of the US dollars obtained. The UAECB also offers a dirham funding facility against US dollars via swaps with terms of one week and one, two, three, six, nine, and twelve months. The swap facility is available to all banks in the UAE, whether or not they have a shortfall in their dirham net position.

Foreign exchange standing facility

Yes.

The UAECB buys and sells unlimited dollars and dirhams to registered counterparties at the official exchange rate. Counterparties use the Reuters dealing code CBEM to deal with the UAECB, which also executes purchases and sales of foreign currency against dirhams with the federal government and ministries, local
All licensed banks participate in the interbank market. There are no limits set by the UAECB on bid-ask spreads or commissions of market participants.

The foreign exchange market operates on the basis of a market-making arrangement.

The UAE provides a facility for dirham funding against US dollars via swaps with terms of one week and one, two, three, six, nine, and twelve months. The swap facility is provided to all banks in the UAE, whether or not they have a shortfall in their dirham net position. The operations began with the UAECB simultaneous purchase of US dollars against dirhams (spot) and sale of US dollars against dirhams (forward).

Abroad by banks
Yes. Banks may not invest more than 25% of their capital in shares or bonds issued by commercial companies. Debt securities of domestic sovereigns and foreign governments with a first-class credit rating are exempt from such limits.

In banks by nonresidents
Yes. The acquisition of a significant shareholding by nonresidents of shares of national banks requires the UAECB approval.

Open foreign exchange position limits

On resident assets and liabilities
No.

On nonresident assets and liabilities
No.

Provisions specific to institutional investors
Yes. According to the Financial Regulations for Insurance and Takaful Companies the following limits apply: (1) The maximum limit for aggregate exposure in equity instruments of listed and unlisted companies within the UAE is 30%, and the sub-limit for exposure to a single counterparty is 10%; (2) The maximum limit for aggregate exposure in government securities/instruments issued by the UAE and/or by one of the Emirates in the UAE is 100%, and the sub-limit for exposure to a single counterparty is 25%; (3) The maximum limit for aggregate exposure in loans secured by life policies (excluding unit-linked funds’ related policies) issued by the company is 30%. No sub-limit for exposure to a single counterparty in loans secured by life policies (excluding unit-linked funds’ related policies) issued by the company; (4) The maximum limit for aggregate exposure in derivatives or complex financial instruments to be used for hedging purposes only is 1%, and there is no sub-limit for exposure to a single counterparty; (5) The maximum limit for aggregate exposure in secured loans, deposits with nonbanks, debentures, bonds, and other debt instruments, which are rated strong or very strong by reputed and independent rating agency, is 30%, and the sub-limit for exposure to a single counterparty is 20%; (6) The maximum limit for aggregate exposure in other invested assets is 10%; and (7) The maximum limit for aggregate exposure in real estate sector is 30%. Strong and very strong rating by an independent agency for investments inside or outside the UAE refers to ratings equivalent to or better than the following weighted average ratings for each asset class portfolio: “A” by Standard & Poor’s (S&P), Fitch, A.M. Best, or “A2” by Moody’s. The limits apply to total invested assets. The limits on aggregate exposure differentiate between investment abroad and at home pursuant to Article 3 of the Financial Regulations for Insurance Companies.

| Limits (max.) on securities issued by nonresidents | Yes. | Pursuant to Article 3 of the Financial Regulations for Insurance Companies, the maximum limit for aggregate exposure in government securities/instruments issued by A-rated countries is 80%, and the sub-limit for exposure to a single counterparty is 25%, and the maximum limit for aggregate exposure in equity instruments of listed and unlisted companies outside the UAE is 20%, and the sub-limit for exposure to a single counterparty is 10%. |
| Limits (max.) on investment portfolio held abroad | Yes. | Requirement on domiciling of investments (Article 6): Insurance companies are permitted to hold, for the purpose of investment, assets of its insurance fund for the UAE policies in a foreign jurisdiction with a sovereign rating, which is better or at least equivalent to the sovereign rating of the UAE. Total invested assets held outside the UAE may not exceed 50% of the total invested assets or 100% of the total technical provisions for policies outside the UAE only (excluding unit-linked funds), whichever is greater. The maximum limit for aggregate exposure in equity instruments of listed and unlisted companies outside the UAE is 20%, and the sub-limit for exposure to a single counterparty is 10%. |
| Limits (min.) on investment portfolio held locally | Yes. | Insurance companies must at all times invest inside the UAE the assets required to match the technical provisions, for policies inside the UAE only. The minimum limit and the maximum exposure to a single counterparty for aggregate exposure in cash and deposits with banks in the UAE (for example, current account, demand deposits, term deposits, notice deposits, certificates of deposit, etc.) are 5% and 50%, respectively. |
| Currency-matching regulations on assets/liabilities composition | Yes. | Insurance companies adhere to the International Financial Regulations Standards regarding currency-matching. The Financial Regulations for Insurance and Takaful Companies in Section 1 (Regulations Pertinent to the Basis of Investing the Rights of the Policyholders), Article 1 (General Requirements for Investments) states that (1) for the purpose of matching of assets and liabilities, the assets held by an insurance company to cover its technical provisions and all other long-term insurance liabilities must: (a) have characteristics of safety, yield, and marketability which are appropriate to the type of business carried on by the company; and (b) be diversified and adequately spread. (2) The assets must be of a sufficient amount, and of an appropriate currency and maturity, to ensure that the cash inflows from those assets will meet the expected cash outflows from the company’s insurance liabilities as they become due. The International Financial Regulations Standards 17 Insurance Contracts was issued on May 18, 2017, and is set to enter into force on January 1, 2021. |

| Investment firms and collective investment funds | Yes. |

There are no limits on investments by investment firms. There are different limits that are applied on investments by mutual funds including: (1) The Public Open-ended Mutual Fund. (2) The Public Close-ended Mutual Fund. (3) The Real Estate Investment Fund. (4) The Venture Capital Fund. (5) The Cash Investment Fund. The regulations for collective investment schemes are in-depth and cover detailed requirements. Applications for the registration of foreign and domestic mutual funds (collective investment schemes (CISs)) are sent to the Emirates SCA for review and approval, which will grant or deny application within a 30-day period. Licenses are renewable on an annual basis. Mutual funds established in the UAE are subject to the SCA jurisdiction and are required to prepare a detailed prospectus which must be approved by the SCA and which must include information on the management, the company’s board of directors, capital requirements, internal governance of the fund, investment policy, the manner in which the CIS units are issued and redeemed, subscription rights, redemption, rights of shareholders, method of evaluating fund assets and net asset value (NAV), safe custody rules, policy and limits and controls of borrowing or funding as well as the funds’ investments guidelines and scope of investment. The regulations also ensure that provisions for certain types of mutual funds including master funds, feeder funds (a public mutual fund affiliated to an umbrella fund excluded from investing in tradable securities and some other investments as determined by the SCA, with approximately 85% of their assets invested in the units of a public master fund or public foreign fund), umbrella funds, and fund of funds. Master funds and feeder funds must satisfy the conditions for licensing. Management companies are required to obtain licenses from the SCA to establish and run mutual funds or CISs. Management companies are obliged to meet and adhere to the following standards: (1) regulate the management of the fund as well as management of administrative services; (2) legally represent the fund before third parties; (3) manage risks; (4) ensure the separation of client assets and correct custody; (5) appoint an SCA approved safe custodian; (6) assess and value assets, calculate NAV of units, distribute profits as well as abide by all disclosure requirements; and (7) execute sale and purchase transaction in the markets using the principle of “best execution” and maintaining strict fiduciary duty/responsibilities for their clients.

| Limits (max.) on securities issued by nonresidents | Yes. |
| Limits (max.) on investment portfolio held abroad | Yes. |

There are different maximum limits on the portion of the investment portfolio held abroad; the limits depend on the type of mutual fund. For Public Close-Ended Mutual Fund, the management company must invest the funds in accordance with the following investment policy guidelines: (1) the ratio of investment in securities issued by one entity may not exceed 10% of the net value of the funds’ assets or 10% of the issued capital; (2) the ratio of investment in unlisted securities may not exceed 10% of the fund’s NAV; (3) the ratio of investment may not exceed 20% of the fund’s NAV in securities listed in a foreign market, provided such a market is subject to a peer regulator comparable to the SCA; and (4) investment in financial derivatives may not exceed 1% of the fund’s NAV.
policy guidelines: (1) the ratio of investment in securities issued by one entity may not exceed 10% of the net value of the funds’ assets or 10% of the issued capital; (2) the ratio of investment in unlisted securities may not exceed 10% of the fund’s NAV; (3) the ratio of investment may not exceed 20% of the fund’s NAV in securities listed in a foreign market, provided such a market is subject to a peer regulator comparable to the SCA; and (4) investment in financial derivatives may not exceed 1% of the fund’s NAV.

Floating

Free floating Yes. The de jure and de facto exchange rate arrangements are free floating. The exchange rate of the pound sterling is determined on the basis of supply and demand in the foreign exchange market. The Bank of England (BOE) has a separate pool of foreign exchange reserves, which it uses at its discretion to intervene in support of its monetary policy objectives. A monthly press release issued by Her Majesty’s Treasury (HMT) reports HMT and BOE intervention. There were no foreign exchange interventions during 2019.

Official exchange rate Yes. The BOE calculates indicative exchange rates on a daily basis and publishes these on its website. These are not official rates. Exchange rates are determined as middle spot rates prevailing in the market at a given point in time. Separately, the BOE provides exchange rates to the IMF for SDR calculations and these rates are published daily by the IMF on their website.

Government Yes. The BOE’s monetary policy objective is to deliver price stability—low inflation—and, subject to that, to support the government’s economic objectives including those for growth and employment. Price stability is defined by the government’s inflation target of 2%. The remit recognizes the role of price stability in achieving economic stability more generally, and in providing the right conditions for sustainable growth in output and employment. The government’s inflation target is announced each year by the Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Annual Budget statement.

Target measure
Yes. The inflation target of 2% is expressed in terms of an annual rate of inflation based on the CPI. The remit is not to achieve the lowest possible inflation rate. Inflation below the target of 2% is judged to be just as bad as inflation above the target. The inflation target is therefore symmetrical.

CPI
Yes.

Core inflation

Target horizon
Yes. A target of 2% does not mean that inflation will be held at this rate constantly. That would be neither possible nor desirable. Interest rates would be changing all the time, and by large amounts, causing unnecessary uncertainty and volatility in the economy. Even then it would not be possible to keep inflation at 2% in each and every month. Instead, the Monetary Policy Committee’s (MPC’s) aim is to set interest rates so that inflation can be brought back to target within a reasonable time period without creating undue instability in the economy.

Operating target (policy rate)
Yes. The 1998 BOE Act made the BOE independent to set interest rates. The BOE is accountable to parliament and the wider public. The legislation provides that if, in extreme circumstances, the national interest demands it, the government has the power to give instructions to the BOE on interest rates for a limited period. The BOE seeks to meet the inflation target by setting an interest rate. The level of interest rates is decided by a special committee—the MPC. The MPC consists of nine members—five from the BOE and four external members appointed by the chancellor. It is chaired by the governor of the BOE. Decisions are made by a vote of the committee on a one-person one-vote basis. The MPC meets over three days eight times a year. The format of the meetings follows the recommendations of the Warsh Review and is set out in the BOE and Financial Services Act 2016. At the first meeting, normally held the Thursday prior to the MPC decision, the members discuss their views on how to interpret the most recent economic data. At the MPC’s second meeting—the first of the two policy meetings, normally held the following Monday—the MPC members debate on what the appropriate stance of the policy should be. The MPC’s final meeting—its second policy meeting—is normally held the Wednesday. Following further discussion on the appropriate stance of monetary policy, the governor puts to the meeting the policy which he believes will command a majority and members of the MPC vote. Any member in a minority is asked to say what level of interest rates he or she would have preferred. The decision is published at 12:00 noon the Thursday.

Policy rate
Yes. As of December 31, 2019, the official BOE rate was 0.75%.

Other
n.a.
Accountability

Yes.

Open letter

Yes. Each year the Chancellor of the Exchequer writes a letter to the governor confirming the inflation target and the BOE’s remit for monetary policy. If the target is missed by more than 1 percentage point on either side, that is, if the annual rate of CPI inflation is more than 3% or less than 1%, the governor of the BOE must write an open letter to the chancellor explaining the reason why inflation has increased or fallen to such an extent and what the BOE proposes to do to ensure inflation comes back to the target.

Parliamentary hearings

Yes. Four times a year, typically when the BOE publishes its Inflation Report, it also attends a public meeting with the House of Commons Treasury Committee.

Other

n.a.

Transparency

Yes.

Publication of votes

Yes. The minutes of the MPC meetings publish the votes of the individual members of the Committee.

Publication of minutes

Yes. The MPC is committed to the greatest possible degree of transparency around its decision-making. The minutes of the MPC meetings are published simultaneously with the interest rate decision. They also record the votes of the individual members of the Committee. The minutes give a full account of the policy discussion, including differences of view.

Publication of inflation forecasts

Yes. In addition to the MPC minutes, the BOE publishes its Inflation Report every quarter. This report gives an analysis of the UK economy and the factors influencing policy decisions. The Inflation Report also includes the MPC’s latest forecasts for inflation and output growth.

Other monetary framework

Exchange tax

No.

Exchange subsidy

No.

Foreign exchange market

Yes. Participants may freely determine their exchange rates and commissions in their transactions with clients.

Spot exchange market

Yes. Foreign exchange bureaus engaged only in spot foreign exchange transactions are not subject to licensing or regulation by the BOE as CB, the Prudential Regulation Authority as prudential regulator, or the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) as financial conduct regulator.

Spot contracts which meet the criteria in Article 10(2) of Commission Delegated Regulation (EU) No. 2017/565 are specifically excluded from the scope of financial instruments for the purposes of Markets in Financial Instruments Directive (MiFID II), so that firms only doing business in relation to such contracts are not subject to MiFID II-based authorization requirements.

However, businesses that conduct spot foreign exchange transactions may engage in other activities that require FCA authorization. In addition, some firms may be subject to the separate authorization and registration obligations of the Payment Services Regulations 2017. Also, many foreign exchange bureaus that do not engage in activities that require FCA authorization must register with Her Majesty’s Revenue and Customs (HMRC) under the Money Laundering, Terrorist Financing and Transfer of Funds (Information on the Payer) Regulations 2017, which require foreign exchange bureaus (as well as money transmitters and check cashers) to investigate customers as part of customer due diligence.
Banks and investment firms engaged in foreign exchange services connected with the provision of investment services are subject to certain conduct and other obligations for foreign exchange services pursuant to the MiFID II.

Operated by the central bank  No.

Foreign exchange standing facility  No.

Allocation  No.

Auction  No.

Fixing  No.

Interbank market  Yes. The market is not formally regulated; participants are encouraged to adhere to the foreign exchange Global Code which is a voluntary code of conduct. Although the foreign exchange Global Code has no direct statutory underpinning, noncompliance (depending on the circumstances, seriousness, frequency, and duration of the incidents) may raise issues, such as the integrity or competence of a market firm, relevant to the firm’s authorization requirements under the Financial Services and Markets Act of 2000 and the FCA’s Principles for Businesses.

The FCA has recognized the foreign exchange Global Code under its process for recognizing industry codes for unregulated financial markets and activities which set proper standards of market conduct. This means that behavior that is in line with the foreign exchange Global Code will tend to indicate that a person subject to the FCA’s Senior Managers and Certification Regime (SM&CR) is meeting their obligation to observe proper standards of market conduct under the FCA Principles for Business.

The majority of the interbank market is made up of the 30 largest banks; however, hundreds of banks participate given the many small entities that are active. The BOE did not conduct foreign exchange intervention during 2019.

Over the counter  Yes. Trading in wholesale interbank spot foreign exchange is facilitated by a multivenued direct and intermediated market structure. A large number of trading platforms attract liquidity from wholesale institutions authorized by the Prudential Regulation Authority and the FCA. In recent years, high-frequency traders have taken a more active role in the market.

Brokerage  Yes. The interbank market actively trades via brokers. Brokerage firms offer voice and electronic execution and provide multiclient trading venues.

Market making  Yes. Many participants are market makers in the foreign exchange markets.

Forward exchange market  Yes. The forward exchange market for contracts under Commission Delegated Regulation (EU) No. 2017/565 of April 25, 2016, is considered to be connected to a payment transaction is not formally regulated, as regards there being an authorization requirement. The BOE participates in the forward foreign exchange market for reserves management and customer banking.

Under the Enterprise Act of 2002, ministers have certain powers to intervene in mergers that raise specified public interest considerations. To date, four considerations have been specified: national security, plurality of the media, and financial stability, and, effective June 23, 2020, maintaining in the UK the capability to combat and to mitigate the effects of public health emergencies. Under Section 58 of the Enterprise Act, ministers may add considerations with parliamentary approval. Use of the intervention powers means the competition authorities must consider the public interest issue identified by the minister in addition to competition issues raised by the merger. Ministers are bound by the findings of the competition authorities on the competition issues raised by the case, but decide whether a merger should be cleared, cleared subject to conditions, or blocked on the grounds of the specified public interest consideration. There are statutory timetables for considering a case and reaching decisions. In addition, controls apply to the following: (1) non-EU investment in EU-based airlines is capped at 49% to ensure that the controlling stake remains within the EU; exceptions are allowed but require a signed agreement between the EU and the non-EU country; (2) investment in certain broadcasting licenses (including, in particular, commercial television, teletext, and radio licenses) other than by nationals of, or enterprises originating in, EU member countries; (3) acquisition of UK flag vessels, except through an enterprise incorporated in the United Kingdom; and (4) to the extent that under EC Directive No. 85/611, a depository of a UCITS must have its registered office either in the same EU country as that of the enterprise or be established in the EU country if its registered office is in another EU country. Restrictions apply to operations between residents of the Channel Islands and nonresidents: (1) Acquisition in Alderney of real property by non-EU nationals and enterprises from non-EU countries requires authorization unless the investor is forming or investing in a landowning company. (2) Ownership in Sark of tenements is reserved for British nationals. Purchases of real estate in Jersey depend on economic and social needs tests or acquisition through the purchase of shares in a property holding company.

©International Monetary Fund. Not for Redistribution
Investment firms and collective investment funds

Yes. There are no explicit limits on the amount of assets an investment firm may hold in the form of foreign exchange products or that must be held locally. However, investment firms subject to Capital Requirements Directive (EU) No. 2013/36 and Capital Requirements Regulation No. 575/2013 (together known as Capital Requirements Directive IV), including firms executing client orders, managing portfolios, and dealing on their own behalf, are subject to risk requirements comprising foreign exchange components and own funds requirements relating to foreign exchange.

Authorized retail investment funds (UCITS and non-UCITS retail schemes) are subject to limits on investment in certain types of financial instruments pursuant to Chapter 5 of the FCA COLL sourcebook and, for UCITS schemes, the UCITS Directive. There are also investment restrictions under the UK’s qualified investor scheme regime pursuant to Chapter 8 of the FCA COLL sourcebook, and at an EU level, for money market funds subject to the requirements of Money Market Funds Regulation, European long-term investment funds under the European long-term investment funds (ELTIF) Regulation, European venture capital funds under the European venture capital funds (EuVECA) Regulation and European social entrepreneurship funds under the European social entrepreneurship fund (EuSEF) Regulation. As regards other collective investment funds, there are generally no regulatory limits on their investments in securities issued by nonresidents, investment portfolios held abroad, and asset and liability composition. A collective investment fund may also impose its own limits according to its prospectus and investment objectives, and managers of alternative investment funds may be subject to the requirements of Alternative Investment Fund Managers Directive (EU) No. 2011/61.

Classification
The de jure and de facto exchange rate arrangements are free floating; the exchange rate of the US dollar is determined freely in the foreign exchange market. Foreign exchange interventions are not formally ruled out in the United States, but they are rarely used. The secretary of the Treasury is responsible for the formulation and implementation of international monetary and financial policy, including foreign exchange market intervention policy. The Federal Reserve (Fed) has separate legal authority to engage in foreign exchange operations, which are conducted in close and continuous consultation and cooperation with the Treasury to ensure consistency with US international monetary and financial policy. The Treasury and the Fed have closely coordinated their foreign exchange operations since early 1962, when the Fed commenced such operations at the request of the Treasury. Operations are conducted through the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, as fiscal agent of the United States and as the operating arm of the Federal Reserve System. Interventions are announced when they occur and the size of the interventions is reported in the Treasury and Federal Reserve Foreign Exchange Operations quarterly bulletin. US authorities last intervened in the foreign exchange market in March 2011, following the earthquake in Japan, in a coordinated G7 effort to sell Japanese yen. The United States did not intervene in the foreign exchange market during 2019. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York publishes quarterly reports on Treasury and Federal Reserve foreign exchange operations.

The United States neither computes nor publishes an official or reference exchange rate.
Monetary policy aims at maintaining the long-term growth of the monetary and credit aggregates commensurate with the economy’s long-term potential to increase production, so as to promote maximum employment, stable prices, and moderate long-term interest rates. On January 25, 2012, the Federal Open Market Committee announced that inflation at the rate of 2%, as measured by the annual change in the price index for personal consumption expenditures, is most consistent over the longer term with the Fed’s statutory mandate. In setting monetary policy, the Federal Open Market Committee will seek to mitigate deviations in inflation from its longer-term goal and deviations in employment from the Federal Open Market Committee’s assessment of its maximum level.

The Department of Commerce controls exports and reexports of dual-use products, technology, and software for reasons of national security, foreign policy, nonproliferation, and short supply. Except for shipment to US territories and possessions, which are treated as part of the United States, most exports outside the United States are subject to the Export Administration Regulations and subject to originating in Cuba is prohibited.

With certain exceptions, general licenses authorize among other things: (1) the importation of goods or services into the United States for the conduct of official business by missions of the Islamic Republic of Iran to international organizations in the United States and the Iranian Interests Section of the Embassy of Pakistan in the United States and (2) the importation of foodstuffs and carpets into the United States from Iran. There are also broad exemptions for the importation of informational materials. This is not an exhaustive list of general licenses available under these sanctions programs, and many of these general licenses are subject to various conditions and restrictions that must be satisfied to comply with the terms of the license. The general licenses can either be found in the regulations referred to in Section II.B.1 above and/or on this website within the individual sanctions programs www.treasury.gov/resource-center/sanctions/Pages/legal-index.aspx.
varying license requirements. The Department of Commerce’s Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS) administers and enforces the Export Administration Regulations. Several agencies of the US government maintain export controls on products other than those subject to the Export Administration Regulations. For example, the Treasury and, in certain circumstances, the Department of Commerce prohibit exports of most goods, services, and technology to sanctioned countries and regions, individuals, and entities, and certain exports to sanctioned countries require specific licenses that are issued on a case-by-case basis, pursuant to established policies and procedures. Likewise, the Department of Agriculture controls exports of livestock and dairy and poultry items. The exportation of rough diamonds is prohibited unless controlled by the Kimberley Process Certification Scheme.

In addition, securities that have a ready market are subject to haircut deductions that vary depending on the type of security. To account for currency risk, an additional haircut charge is required for securities denominated in a foreign currency. See Securities Exchange Act Rule No. 15c3-1, 17 CFR § 240.15c3-1. In addition, broker-dealers holding balances of foreign currency are subject to certain haircut deductions to account for currency risk. See Securities Exchange Act Rule No. 15c3-1, 17 CFR § 240.15c3-1. A broker-dealer may pledge certain foreign sovereign debt and foreign currencies as collateral when borrowing fully-paid securities from a customer. A certain amount of additional collateralization is required when the securities or currency that is pledged differs from the securities that are borrowed. Exchange Measures

- Restrictions and/or multiple currency practices: No.
- Exchange measures imposed for security reasons: Yes.
  - Under Article 17 of Law No. 17,835 of September 23, 2004, on Strengthening the Control and Prevention of Money Laundering and Terrorism Financing, financial intermediation institutions are required to inform the Central Bank of Uruguay’s (CBU’s) financial intelligence unit of assets linked to (1) persons identified as terrorists or as belonging to terrorist organizations on the relevant lists prepared by the UN and (2) persons declared terrorists by final decision of a national or foreign court of law. In addition, Article 6 authorizes the financial intelligence unit to prevent all transactions giving rise to reasonable suspicion of a link with criminal organizations related to money laundering, as described in Article 17, from being carried out for a period of 72 hours. The law further provides that the financial intelligence unit’s decision must be communicated immediately to the criminal courts, which will determine whether the assets should be frozen without notice.

The COPOM meets after the Macroeconomic Coordination Committee (CCM in Spanish), which is composed by the Minister of Economy and Finance, two officials appointed by him, and the three members of the Board of Directors of the CBU. The roles of this Committee are: (1) to share information related to the CB’s responsibilities and the economic policy in general; (2) to establish the price stability target and the exchange rate regime undertaken by the CBU.

Exchange subsidy | No. |
Foreign exchange market | Yes. | The peso is freely traded, primarily on the Electronic Securities Exchange of Uruguay (Bolsa Electrónica de Valores del Uruguay S.A., BEVSA), although there is also an OTC market through exchange brokers. Formal exchanges in the foreign currency market must accept offers to buy or sell foreign currency with a minimum price fluctuation of Ur$0.01 (US$0.01) of a preexisting offer, if the counterparty is dealing in pesos. Authorized intermediaries may freely determine the bid-ask spread and exchange commissions with their customers (Circular No. 2095).

Spot exchange market | Yes. | Institutions authorized to operate in the foreign exchange market are banks, finance houses, foreign financial institutions, financial intermediation cooperatives, financial services firms, and exchange houses. Eleven banks (including 2 state-owned), one finance house, one foreign financial institution, one financial intermediation cooperative, 22 financial services firms, and 52 exchange houses operate in the market. These institutions are supervised by the Superintendency of Financial Services. Exchange houses and financial service firms may deal with the CB by phone, maintain accounts abroad, and make foreign currency payments and transfers on behalf of their clients.

Operated by the central bank | No. |
Foreign exchange standing facility | No. |
Allocation | No. |
Auction | No. |
Fixing | No. |

Interbank market | Yes. | Sixteen authorized institutions (including 11 banks) may trade among themselves at freely determined rates through the BEVSA and may operate in the OTC market through dealers. Banks and provident savings fund administrators (administradoras de fondos de ahorro previo) are the primary interbank market participants. They determine the daily closing exchange rate, defined as a weighted average of the day’s foreign exchange transactions, on the basis of their operations. The CBU grants the licenses. The minimum bid-ask spread is Ur$0.01. There are no limits on commissions, and each institution manages them independently. Generally, the CBU does not intervene in the spot foreign exchange market. But when it does, it intervenes directly with market participants at their quoted levels or proposes its own quotes. Authorized institutions are allowed to trade among themselves under the regulatory framework established by the CBU and BEVSA.

<td>The CBU established a market for forward purchases and sales of US dollars. The CBU resumed operations on the US dollar forward market on November 3, 2009, operating with foreign exchange forwards and being the main counterparty in all operations. In December 2010, it began operating with foreign exchange futures. These are standardized daily settlement contracts. Currently, the CBU trades futures and forwards (with and without delivery). Interbank swap operations have not yet been implemented. On December 3, 2018, the regulation authorized specialized investors to participate in the foreign exchange market. These are large enterprises whose business activity necessitates the use of hedging instruments. In addition, there are two formal venues for forward exchange market trading (BEVSA and UFEX), which employ the central counterparty method.</td>

The securities market and all participants, stock exchanges, other markets involved in the trading of publicly offered securities and other securities, and the issuers of publicly offered securities are subject to the Securities Market Law, regulations issued by the executive branch, and the general regulations and special instructions issued by the CBU Superintendency of Financial Services. Under Law No. 18,401, the CBU’s authority to regulate, supervise, and impose penalties under Law No. 16,749 of May 30, 1996, concerning the Securities Market, is not limited by the exercise of powers granted to stock exchanges. Law No. 18,627 was enacted in 2009 to

(1) ensure transparent and efficient operations; (2) adequately inform and protect investors; (3) rebuild the confidence essential to the market’s development; and (4) promote the securities market. The law represents a shift from market self-regulation under the former law to a regulatory focus in which the Superintendency of Financial Services plays a more significant role.

Transfers take place through banks, domestic and foreign financial institutions, financial intermediation cooperatives, financial services companies, and money transfer firms, but not exchange houses (which could do so prior to the implementing regulations of the CBU charter). Certain exchange houses that regularly transfer funds on a professional basis applied for financial services company status, which entails additional supervisory and regulatory requirements.

Reserve requirements: Reserve requirements for deposit accounts in foreign currency differ according to depositor status (resident or nonresident), the term of the deposit, and the type of financial entity (see below).

Minimum reserve requirements for liabilities in pesos and in indexed units for banks, financial intermediation cooperatives, and finance houses are 22% (Circular No. 2284), 11%, 7%, and 5% for liabilities maturing in less than 30 days, 30–90 days, 91–180 days, and 181 to less than 367 days, respectively (Circular No. 2284).

For retail banks and retail financial intermediation cooperatives, the corresponding percentages are 18% (Circular No. 2252), 11%, 7%, and 5% for liabilities maturing in less than 30 days, 30–90 days, 91–180 days, and 181 to less than 367 days, respectively (Circular No. 2284). The percentages apply to the daily balances (weekends and holidays included) of the corresponding liabilities (Circular No. 2153, Circular No. 2224, Circular No. 2252, and Circular No. 2284).

The reserve requirements for banks, financial intermediation cooperatives, and exchange houses on foreign currency liabilities to residents are 28% for terms of up to 180 days and 20% for longer terms (Circular No. 2252 and Circular No. 2224).

For retail banks and retail financial intermediation cooperatives on foreign currency liabilities to residents the corresponding percentages are 12% for terms of up to 180 days and 7% for longer terms (Circular No. 2252 and Circular No. 2224).

Minimum reserve requirements for foreign currency liabilities to nonresidents are 28% (Circular No. 2252 and Circular No. 2224), calculated net of foreign assets in the currency in question.

Beginning in September 2013, following the issuance of Circular No. 2153, the minimum reserve requirements are computed contemporaneously and consist only of coins, banknotes, and demand deposits in the CBU. Term deposits are no longer accepted.

The reserve in indexed units applies to liabilities of all maturities, including on demand. The reserve position is calculated by currency, according to the currency of the liability. The reserve position in pesos, foreign currency, and indexed units is based on the daily average for the month in question, including weekends and holidays.

The domestic currency and the indexed unit are considered jointly. In the case of indexed units, liabilities are converted to pesos by multiplying by the value of each day. According to Communication No. 2016/074 and Circular No. 2230, the minimum reserve requirement in domestic currency earns interest at 5% per annum; the minimum reserve requirement in US dollars earns interest at 0.15% per annum, and for currencies other than the US dollar, it is calculated as the Monetary Policy Rate minus 0.25% per annum. No interest is earned on required reserves in indexed units.

Liquid asset requirements: In 2017, liquid assets requirements have been replaced by the liquidity coverage ratio requirement (LCR). The liquidity coverage ratio must be at least 80% in local currency and 100% in foreign currency and in total. A surplus in foreign currency can be computed to fund a deficit in local currency, providing the latter does not exceed 20%.

Interest rate controls No.
Credit controls No.
Differential treatment of deposit accounts held by nonresidents Yes.
Reserve requirements Yes. The reserve requirements on foreign currency liabilities to residents are 28% for terms of up to 180 days and 20% for longer terms. The minimum reserve requirement for foreign currency liabilities to nonresidents is 28% (Circular No. 2252 and Circular No. 2224), calculated net of foreign assets in the currency in question.

Liquid asset requirements No.
Interest rate controls No.
Credit controls No.
Investment regulations No.
Abroad by banks No.
In banks by nonresidents No.
Open foreign exchange position limits Yes. Banks, finance houses, and financial intermediation cooperatives may not have asset or liability positions in foreign currency that exceed 150% of their net assets, minus operating fixed assets. The asset or liability position is the difference between assets—excluding operating fixed assets, given that they are not computed within assets—and liabilities. Part of the assets and liabilities in question consist of operations to be settled (basically OTC derivatives). The foreign currency position arising from these derivatives may not exceed the 150% limit. The foreign currency position arising from other assets and liabilities may not exceed 170% of the net assets, minus operating fixed assets. Operating fixed assets are claims more than two years overdue that have not been provisioned, investments in companies other than portfolio investment companies, assets constituting the category of property, plant and equipment, and intangible assets.

On resident assets and liabilities Yes. The limits on foreign currency positions do not distinguish between assets and liabilities based on residence.
On nonresident assets and liabilities Yes. The limits on foreign currency positions do not distinguish between assets and liabilities based on residence.
Provisions specific to institutional investors Yes.
Insurance companies Yes.
Limits (max.) on securities issued by nonresidents Yes. Investment in foreign securities rated at least “international investment grade” by internationally recognized risk rating agencies and supervised by the appropriate authority in the country of origin may not exceed 30% of the minimum capital requirement and the nonpension obligations to be covered.
Limits (max.) on investment portfolio held abroad Yes. Investment in foreign securities rated at least “international investment grade” by internationally recognized risk rating agencies and supervised by the appropriate authority in the country of origin may not exceed 30% of the minimum capital requirement and the nonpension obligations to be covered.

No minimums are expressly established by the current laws and regulations. However, of the maximum for investment in foreign securities, set at 30%, at least 70% must be held locally.

Insurance companies must match assets with liabilities in each currency. Nonpension obligations derived from insurance and reinsurance contracts payable in foreign currency, or in currency with a readjustment clause, must be covered by investments in the same currencies, with the same readjustment clauses or, failing that, in other currencies authorized by the Superintendency of Financial Services.

For foreign currency, the same-day buy and sell ceiling for pension funds is 0.4% of assets or the equivalent of US$8 million. However, if 0.4% of assets is less than US$4 million, pension funds may trade up to that amount daily. Trading the same instrument on the same day is limited to 1.5% of the pension fund assets for the previous day. Pension funds are subdivided into accumulation funds and retirement funds, depending on the age of the contributor. Accumulation funds may invest up to 75% in government securities and 15% in instruments issued by multilateral institutions or foreign governments with high credit ratings. The maximum investment in foreign currency for accumulation funds is 35% of the total. In the case of retirement funds, these percentages are 90%, 20%, and 20%, respectively.

Private pension funds are prohibited from investing in securities issued abroad other than fixed-income securities issued by multilateral lending institutions or highly rated sovereign countries, subject to a limit of 15% of the total value of their assets.

Private pension funds may hold up to 75% of total assets in government and CB securities. Pension funds may maintain up to 35% of their assets in foreign currency. There are other limits applicable, for instance, on types of issuers and instruments.

Pension funds may not be leveraged.

No separate legal tender

Currency board
The de jure exchange rate arrangement of Uzbekistan is floating. The exchange rate is determined based on supply and demand for foreign currency on Uzbekistan’s currency exchange. The CBU is a direct buyer of monetary gold produced in Uzbekistan, acting as supplier in the foreign exchange market in amounts equivalent to the volume of gold purchased from producers. The CBU also intervenes in the foreign exchange market to smooth out undue short-term volatility. Foreign exchange sales by the CBU in the foreign exchange market are not directed at affecting fundamental trend of the exchange rate and are driven exclusively by the aim of sterilizing additional liquidity from the CBU purchases of monetary gold. The sum–US dollar exchange rate is used as an operational benchmark, because the vast majority of the country’s trading operations are carried out in US dollars. The de facto exchange rate arrangement is classified as crawl-like. Data on the CBU interventions are published on the CBU website in quarterly “Survey of the Domestic Exchange Market” publications.

The official exchange rate of sum against the US dollar and the euro is determined by the CBU once a week as the weighted average exchange rate in trading sessions on the Currency Exchange for the previous week, and it remains in effect until the exchange rate is determined in the following week. Exchange rates of currencies not traded on the currency exchange are calculated using the cross rate with respect to the US dollar on the basis of the rate at the close of the previous trading day from the Reuters (or Bloomberg) system. Starting June 1, 2018, in the event that a change in the exchange rate based on the results of trading in the currency exchange with respect to the CBU exchange rate exceeds 2%, the CBU sets a new exchange rate for foreign currencies. The new CBU exchange rate will be equal to the rate based on the results of trading in the currency exchange on the day of a sharp change in the exchange rate of the foreign currency.

The CBU exchange rate is used for accounting purposes, statistical and other reporting on foreign exchange operations, and calculating customs and other mandatory payments within the Republic of Uzbekistan.

Other monetary framework    Yes.  In the medium term, there will be a gradual transition to an inflation-targeting regime. In accordance with the Decree of the President of November 18, 2019, No. UP-5877, the Central Bank of the Republic of Uzbekistan was instructed to ensure a phased transfer of monetary policy mechanisms to the inflation targeting regime before 2023. At present, the monetary policy regime can be characterized as transitional, which covers the 2017–2023 period.

Monetary policy decisions are made on the basis of forecasting and policy analysis systems (FPAS).

Until recently, the goal of the CBU was to ensure the stability of the national currency. Starting with 2018, the CBU oriented its monetary policy on the stability of prices in the economy. The ultimate goal is to slow the inflation rate on the basis of the CPI and to maintain it at the sustainably low level of 5% by 2023 through the implementation of monetary policy under an inflation-targeting regime.

In the transition to the inflation targeting regime, monetary policy is determined by deviations in intermediate inflation forecasts from the short-term and medium-term targets, using the new operational mechanism to achieve the operational goal – management of short-term interest rates in the money market through a system of instruments introduced specifically for that purpose:
- the CB’s key rate and a symmetrical interest rate corridor of 2 percentage points (1 percentage point up and down from the CB’s key rate, which is at the center of the corridor);
- the CB’s key operations with a term of two weeks at the CB rate (repo/swap operations to provide needed liquidity for banks, and deposit auctions to mop up excess liquidity);
- continuous operations with a term of 1 day, forming the upper and lower bounds of the interest corridor.

The CPI is the basis for measuring a targeted inflation indicator. The CPI is calculated by the State Committee on Statistics based on IMF standards (using fixed weights for all types of goods and services) according to the results of the observation of prices and rates. A representative sample of 510 types of goods and services is included in observations. Of those, 170 are foodstuffs, 250 are nonfoods, and 90 are services. In calculating CPIs, a modified Laspeyres formula with annual fixed weights is used. The structure of consumer spending based on household survey data is used as weights for calculating the indices.

The CBU is accountable to the Republic of Uzbekistan Oliy Majlis Senate that considers the annual report and the auditor’s conclusion. Annually, before the beginning of the reporting year, the CBU submits “Basic Guidelines of Monetary Policy” to the Oliy Majlis Senate.

The foreign exchange market consists of: (1) the Republic of Uzbekistan Currency Exchange, where participants on trading sessions are commercial banks and the CBU; (2) the interbank foreign exchange market; (3) operations involving the purchase and sale of foreign currency between banks and their customers, which are performed directly at banks; and (4) cash foreign exchange operations through exchange bureaus of commercial banks. Commercial banks’ operations with foreign currency are performed on the basis of a banking license. Banks are allowed to determine... freely their bid/ask spread and foreign exchange commissions with their clients.

Along with foreign exchange transactions on the Currency Exchange, commercial banks (31 banks as of August 17, 2020) may perform foreign exchange transactions with each other (interbank foreign exchange market) and with clients by mutual agreement. Foreign exchange transactions with individuals are performed through banks and their foreign exchange bureaus.

Banks’ exchange bureaus buy cash foreign exchange from individual residents and nonresidents and sell it to individual nonresidents and, effective August 20, 2019, to individual residents. (Previously, the sale of foreign exchange to resident individuals was performed in cashless form through crediting their international bank cards.) There are no private exchange bureaus. All exchange bureaus operate under commercial banks. Their operation is limited to the purchase and sale of and transactions related to cash foreign currency, such as exchanging damaged banknotes and providing change. Direct transactions are not performed between the CBU and exchange bureaus. There are 1,201 exchange bureaus (as of August 17, 2020). In addition, there are 748 automatic currency exchange machines in operation (as of August 17, 2020).

The organization and performance of trading in the Currency Exchange are regulated by internal documents of the Exchange. All banks may participate in trading sessions on the Currency Exchange. Before trading hours, banks place bids for the purchase and sale of foreign currency, which make up the total demand and supply on the Currency Exchange. The exchange rate set at the preceding interbank trading session serves as the starting exchange rate of a foreign currency to the national currency, sum. If the total supply of a foreign currency at the start of the trading session exceeds the total demand for it, the exchange operator lowers the exchange rate of the foreign currency to the sum. If the total supply of a foreign currency is less than the total demand for it, the exchange operator raises the exchange rate of the foreign currency to the sum. The minimum increment of change in the exchange rate of a foreign currency to the sum is 0.01 of a sum. A successive change in the exchange rate is made after the dealers have entered additional bids into the trading system to buy or sell foreign exchange at the last exchange rate announced by the exchange operator. Based on the difference between supply and demand, the exchange operator, with the consent of the trading session’s participants, may increase or decrease the increment of change in the exchange rate. If the sign of the difference between supply and demand changes on the receipt of a further additional bid to buy or sell, the last submitted bid is satisfied in an amount necessary to accomplish a fixing. A fixed exchange rate for a foreign currency to the national currency, the sum, is set for current trading when a balance is reached between supply and demand for that foreign currency. In such cases, the exchange operator announces a fixing and declares an end to the trading session. The uniform exchange rate of the foreign currency to the sum, established by the fixing, is used for all the transactions concluded during the trading session. Transactions are performed in US dollars and in Interbank market  Yes.  As of August 15, 2020, there were 31 commercial banks. All banks may participate in interbank trading sessions on the Currency Exchange. Transactions in the interbank trading sessions of the Currency Exchange are performed in US dollars and in euros on a spot basis at the exchange rate determined in trading. Uzbekistan Currency Exchange is responsible for trading and settlement. Before trading hours, banks place bids for the purchase and sale of foreign currency (including on behalf of their clients), which make up the total demand and supply in interbank trading sessions on the Currency Exchange. The CBU intervenes in interbank trading sessions on the Currency Exchange to smooth out undue short-term volatility. Being a direct supplier of monetary gold produced in Uzbekistan, the CBU acts as supplier in the foreign exchange in amounts equivalent to the volume of gold purchased from producers. The exchange rate in interbank trading sessions is established through fixing and is applied to all transactions concluded during the trading session. Banks buy and sell foreign exchange traded in interbank trading sessions on the Currency Exchange for their clients at the exchange rate set in interbank trading sessions on the Currency Exchange, plus/minus a margin that usually does not exceed 1%. In addition to the Currency Exchange, there is also a smaller-volume foreign exchange market in Uzbekistan when commercial banks may perform transactions with each other. Banks have been allowed to determine freely their bid/ask spread and commissions with their clients.

The foreign exchange oversight authorities are the CBU, the MOF, the State Tax Committee, and the State Customs Committee and the Accounting Office.

Effective October 23, 2019, according to the Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan on Foreign Exchange Regulation, No. ZRU-573 of October 22, 2019, the foreign exchange oversight authorities are obliged to oversight foreign exchange transactions performed by residents and nonresidents in the Republic of Uzbekistan in terms of compliance of these operations with the legislation of the Republic of Uzbekistan.

The foreign exchange oversight authorities, within their powers, are entitled to:
- verify residents’ and nonresidents’ compliance with foreign exchange regulation laws;
- verify the completeness and accuracy of accounting and reporting on foreign exchange transactions of residents and nonresidents, per established procedure;
- request documents and information related to the conduct of foreign exchange transactions;
- establish a procedure for submitting reports on foreign exchange transactions;
- present demands to remedy discovered violations and take other actions, which shall be binding on all residents and nonresidents within the Republic of Uzbekistan.

The foreign exchange oversight authorities may require submission only of those documents that are directly related to the foreign exchange transaction being conducted.

The CBU oversees foreign exchange transactions conducted by banks of the Republic of Uzbekistan.

The obligations of foreign exchange oversight bodies are specified in regulatory legal acts governing their activities.

Pursuant to Article 4 of the Law on the State Tax Service of August 29, 1997, one of the main tasks of state tax service authorities is to oversee compliance with law in the performance of foreign exchange and export–import transactions by legal entities and individuals.
The foreign exchange oversight authorities are the CBU, the MOF, the State Tax Committee, and the State Customs Committee and the Accounting Office. Effective October 23, 2019, according to the Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan on Foreign Exchange Regulation, No. ZRU-573 of October 22, 2019, the foreign exchange oversight authorities are obliged to oversight foreign exchange transactions performed by residents and nonresidents in the Republic of Uzbekistan in terms of compliance of these operations with the legislation of the Republic of Uzbekistan.

Pursuant to Article 4 of the Law on the State Tax Service of August 29, 1997, one of the main tasks of state tax service authorities is to oversee compliance with law in the performance of foreign exchange and export–import transactions by legal entities and individuals.

Precious metals are acquired by jewelry makers licensed by the State Assay Office under the Republic of Uzbekistan Ministry of Finance to produce jewelry and other articles made of precious metals and gemstones. Since November 2018, the CBU has arranged for the sale and repurchase of CB coins made of precious metals.

Effective March 1, 2019, industrial producers, as well as legal entities and individual entrepreneurs engaged in the production of jewelry and other articles made of precious metals and gemstones, may purchase precious metals in exchange trading.

Effective May 18, 2019, commercial banks and jewelry makers were granted the right to buy gold from producers, as well as to sell purchased precious metals to other jewelry makers.

Effective June 30, 2020, commercial banks perform the sale and purchase of standard ingots made of precious metals in the Republic of Uzbekistan and put into circulation by the CBU.

Transactions in monetary gold are performed exclusively by the CBU.

Effective October 23, 2019, resident and nonresident individuals may export cash in domestic and foreign currency in an amount not exceeding the equivalent of 100,000,000 UZS (previously 50 times the minimum wage). Export of larger amounts should be carried out in accordance with the procedure determined by the Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan (previously larger amounts required CBU permission).

Resident and nonresident legal entities are not permitted to export cash in domestic and foreign currency, with the exception of the CBU. The export of cash in domestic and foreign currency is performed by commercial banks with CBU permission.

Effective September 1, 2020, currency of the Republic of Uzbekistan in cash and/or foreign currency in cash imported and exported by individuals in amounts in excess of the equivalent of 70,000,000 sum is subject to customs control through its declaration and presentation to a customs officer. Cash in amounts equal to or not exceeding the equivalent of 70,000,000 sum may also be declared if the individual wishes to do so.

Effective September 1, 2020, the export by individuals of cash outside the Republic of Uzbekistan in amounts in excess of the equivalent of 100,000,000 sum is allowed in the following cases:

1. For travel by individuals for the purpose of health treatment.
2. For study abroad at educational institutions approved in accordance with the procedure established by the Ministry of Education and Science of the Republic of Uzbekistan.
3. For travel by business parties to countries with which there are no bilateral agreements in this matter.
4. For employment or instructing activities abroad.
5. For other reasons.
by residents – for members of government delegations sent on official business to foreign states in accordance with an order by the Cabinet of Ministers;

by nonresidents – on the basis of a passenger customs declaration, up to the amount of funds imported into the Republic of Uzbekistan, and also by prizewinners or participants in international competitions (contests, Olympiads) organized in the country following the established procedure, on the basis of documents confirming the legal origin of the funds.

The export of cash foreign exchange by resident and nonresident legal entities is not permitted, except by the CBU. The export of cash in domestic and foreign currency is performed by commercial banks with CBU permission.

Effective October 23, 2019, resident and nonresident individuals may export cash in domestic and foreign currency in an amount not exceeding the equivalent of 100,000,000 UZS. Export of larger amounts should be carried out in accordance with the procedure determined by the Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan. (Previously, the export of cash foreign exchange by individuals within an amount equivalent to US$5,000 could be performed without any permission. The completion of customs declaration in case of export by an individual (resident or nonresident) of cash foreign exchange up to the equivalent of US$2,000 was not required. In the case of the export by an individual of cash foreign exchange in excess of an amount equivalent to US$2,000, the total amount of exported cash foreign exchange was declared in writing. Export of an amount more than US$5,000 was carried out as follows: by residents – with the permission of regional offices of the CBU; by nonresidents – based on the customs declaration completed at the time of entry of the Uzbekistan, where the amount of cash foreign exchange is not less than the amount to be exported. In case of export of foreign exchange cash in excess of the established amount by nonresidents who are prizewinners or participants in competitions, contests, and Olympiads organized in Uzbekistan, the basis for the export of foreign exchange cash was a document confirming the legality of receipt of the foreign exchange cash.)

Effective September 1, 2020, currency of the Republic of Uzbekistan in cash and/or foreign currency in cash imported and exported by individuals in amounts in excess of the equivalent of 70,000,000 sum is subject to customs control through its declaration and presentation to a customs officer.

Cash in amounts equal to or not exceeding the equivalent of 70,000,000 sum may also be declared if the individual wishes to do so.

Funds held in those accounts could, on an account owner’s orders, be transferred to an account owner’s other accounts opened in banks in the Republic of Uzbekistan or outside the Republic of Uzbekistan.

Approval required No.

Domestic currency accounts Yes.

Nonresidents may open and use bank accounts in banks of the Republic of Uzbekistan in foreign exchange and Republic of Uzbekistan currency.

For nonresident legal entities to open and use bank accounts in the Republic of Uzbekistan, there is a mandatory requirement that they carry out activities in the Republic of Uzbekistan.

The CBU Rules for the Performance of Foreign Exchange Transactions in the Republic of Uzbekistan, effective September 1, 2020, retain the right of nonresidents to deposit funds obtained lawfully to their domestic currency accounts opened at banks of the Republic of Uzbekistan and to use these funds independently in accordance with the requirements of the legislation.

These Rules replaced the Procedures for Maintenance Commercial Banks of Nonresidents’ Accounts in the Republic of Uzbekistan Domestic Currency (the CBU Reg. No. 510 of October 22, 1998) that provided the following on nonresident accounts in domestic currency:

Accounts of nonresident individuals in domestic currency were opened for foreign citizens temporarily located in the Republic of Uzbekistan. The following funds in domestic currency could be credited to those accounts:
- funds imported by them into the Republic of Uzbekistan in accordance with the procedures established by law,
- funds acquired at exchange bureaus for foreign exchange in accordance with current procedures, and
- other amounts lawfully obtained in the Republic of Uzbekistan.

Funds in domestic currency may be spent for payment of a nonresident individual’s current expenses during the time of his or her sojourn in the republic.

Accounts in domestic currency for nonresident legal entities were opened for:
- foreign diplomatic and other official representative offices,
- international organizations and their branches that enjoy diplomatic immunity and privileges,
- the representative offices of foreign organizations in the Republic of Uzbekistan that are not engaged in business or other commercial activities;
- participants in open electronic trading on commodity exchanges;
- those performing the purchase (sale) of company shares in organized trading (effective March 25, 2019);
- those doing business in the Republic of Uzbekistan through a permanent establishment.

The following could be credited to the accounts of nonresident legal entities in domestic currency:
- proceeds from the sale of foreign exchange in the domestic foreign exchange market in accordance with procedures established by law;
- amounts of consular fees and other amounts lawfully obtained in the Republic of Uzbekistan;
- amounts received from the loro accounts of foreign banks in the Republic of Uzbekistan commercial banks from a parent enterprise abroad;
- amounts received in the form of donations and financial assistance;
- funds received from the sale of product in open electronic trading of commodities exchange;
- effective March 25, 2019, dividends and other income from investment activity in the Republic of Uzbekistan by a nonresident legal entity that has created a representative office or a permanent establishment (amendments of February 16, 2019, No. 510-5);
- effective March 25, 2019, funds received from the purchase (sale) of shares in organized trading (amendments of February 16, 2019, No. 510-5);
- in other cases specified by the Republic of Uzbekistan Central Bank.

Funds from nonresidents’ accounts in domestic currency could, on an account owner’s orders, be used for payment of current expenses for their maintenance in the Republic of Uzbekistan (including rent; payment for utilities and other like services; the acquisition of goods and materials for supporting current activities; payment of rent for telecommunications channels; payment for the sending and delivery of cargo, mail, and periodicals; payment of wages and other employee compensation under employment contracts; employee business travel expenses; transfers of insurance premiums for mandatory and voluntary types of insurance; payment for treatment of employees in the event of accidents and illness), and for other purposes pursuant to current law.

Cash in domestic currency could be obtained from the account of a nonresident legal entity within the limits required for the payment of wages and other employee compensation under employment contracts, payment for employee business travel expenses, and for other purposes in accordance with the procedures established for resident legal entities. The limit on a nonresident’s cash is established by the servicing commercial bank in agreement with the account owner. A nonresident’s representative offices and branches had to comply with the procedures for performing cash transactions established for Republic of Uzbekistan residents.

Convertible into foreign currency  Yes.  Domestic currency accounts of nonresidents at commercial banks of the Republic of Uzbekistan are convertible into foreign currency. Effective March 25, 2019, the Procedures for Maintenance by Commercial Banks of Nonresidents’ Accounts in the Republic of Uzbekistan Domestic Currency (Reg. No. 510 of October 22, 1998) were amended and provided that for the purchase/sale of companies’ shares in organized trading, nonresident legal entities may open accounts in the Republic of Uzbekistan commercial banks and perform the purchase/sale of foreign exchange.

Effective September 1, 2020, the Procedures were replaced with the CBU Rules for the Performance of Foreign Exchange Transactions in the Republic of Uzbekistan.

Pursuant to the Republic of Uzbekistan Presidential Resolution No. PP-3512 of February 6, 2018, “On Measures to Further Regularize the Movement of Goods by Individuals Across the Customs Border,” limits for duty-free imports of goods into the republic by an individual are set at: US$2,000 (two thousand) – when the customs border is crossed through Republic of Uzbekistan international airports; US$1,000 (one thousand) – when the customs border is crossed at rail and inland waterway crossings on the Republic of Uzbekistan state border, and US$300 (three hundred) – when the customs border is crossed at highway (pedestrian) crossings on the Republic of Uzbekistan state border; US$1,000 (one thousand) within one calendar quarter – for goods received to the address of an individual in international courier shipments; and US$100 (one hundred) – for goods received to the address of an individual in international postal shipments.

For certain consumer goods, certificates of safety and quality are required. Certification is performed by the Uzbekistan’s Agency of Standardization, Metrology and Certification (Uzbekstandart).

In addition, certain goods are subject to hygiene certification (a sanitary-epidemiological finding). Furthermore, certain goods subject to control that cross the state border of the Republic of Uzbekistan must undergo a mandatory state veterinary inspection.

Import taxes and/or tariffs

Import customs duty rates are approved in Resolution No. PP-3818 of June 29, 2018.
Ad valorem customs duty rates are applied at seven levels: 0%, 5%, 10%, 20%, 30%, 40%, and 70% of the customs value.
Tariff concessions in the form of exemptions from the customs duty are granted for a number of goods as provided for in Article 297 of the Customs Code.

Pursuant to international agreements of the Republic of Uzbekistan, customs duties are not applied to goods (Article 300 of the Customs Code): (1) originating and imported into the customs territory from countries that are part of a free trade zone with the Republic of Uzbekistan or with which the Republic of Uzbekistan has established a free trade arrangement; (2) originating from Uzbekistan and exported from its customs territory to countries that are part of a free trade zone with Uzbekistan or with which Uzbekistan has established a free trade arrangement.

Customs duties are applied at the rates established by the customs tariff to goods originating from countries to which Uzbekistan has granted MFN status in terms of trade and economic relations, regardless of the country from which the goods are shipped and the exporter.

With regard to goods originating from countries to which MFN status in terms of trade and economic relations has not been granted, or the country of origin of which has not been determined, customs duty rates are doubled.

For goods imported into the customs territory and originating from developing countries, and from least developed countries, a national system of preferences granted by Uzbekistan may be established in accordance with the law.

Pursuant to Cabinet of Ministers Resolution No. 204 of April 30, 1999, on Rates for Customs Fees, customs fees for the customs processing of goods imported into the Republic of Uzbekistan are charged at the rate of 0.2% of the customs value, but not less than US$25 and not more than US$3,000. Pursuant to Article 299 of the Customs Code, a range of goods are exempted from the payment of customs fees for customs processing.

Pursuant to the Tax Code of the Republic of Uzbekistan, all goods imported into Uzbekistan are subject, effective October 1, 2019, to a 15% VAT (previously 20%), with certain exceptions as provided for in Article 246 of the Tax Code.

Effective January 1, 2020, an excise tax at a rate of 5–50%
(previously from 5% to 200%) is levied on excisable goods imported into Uzbekistan (Presidential Resolution No. PP-3818 of June 29, 2018), with exceptions provided for in Article 284 of the Tax Code.

Exemptions from customs duties may be granted in accordance with individual decisions of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan.

Pursuant to Article 238 of the Republic of Uzbekistan Tax Code, turnover on the sale of goods (services) whose place of sale is the Republic of Uzbekistan is considered subject to the VAT.

In accordance with Article 255 of the Republic of Uzbekistan Tax Code, when goods (services) are sold by foreigners not registered with the tax authorities as taxpayers, and the place of sale is the territory of the Republic of Uzbekistan, the tax base is defined by tax agents as the sum of proceeds from the sale of these goods (services), taking into account excise taxes (for excisable goods) and tax.

State import monopoly No.

Exports and Export Proceeds

In accordance with the Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan on Foreign Exchange Regulation, No. ZRU-573 of October 22, 2019, repatriation of assets in foreign trade transactions constitutes a partial or complete fulfillment of a nonresident’s obligations by means of the following:

- receipt of money or goods (performance of work, rendering of services) against nonresident’s obligations;
- termination of a nonresident’s obligation via set-off;
- termination of an obligation that existed between the parties via a different obligation between the same parties that calls for a different subject or method of performance;
- receipt of insurance payout.

In the event of a resident’s assignment to another resident of a right of claim against a nonresident, the responsibility to ensure the fulfillment of repatriation of assets moves to the resident that received the right of claim. A resident (nonresident) is obliged to ensure repatriation of assets in foreign trade transactions.

The Republic of Uzbekistan has procedures according to which:

(1) effective May 15, 2020, the time period for the receipt of proceeds or the re-import of goods under export operations must not exceed 180 days from the date a freight customs declaration is prepared under the “export” customs regime – for goods, and from the date an acceptance certificate is signed for work performed – for services (work).

(Previously, the period for the receipt of proceeds or reimportation of goods (work and services) in export transactions must not exceed:
- 180 days from the day of the actual export of goods exported by resident founders to the address of entities abroad (trading houses, trading offices, subsidiaries, company stores, dealer networks, and consignment warehouses), or export by business entities that are members of the Republic of Uzbekistan Chamber of Commerce and Industry to the address of the Chamber’s trade investment houses;
and
- 120 days from the actual export of goods, work and services for all other exporters.)

(2) in the event of force majeure circumstances, the time period for the receipt of proceeds in foreign exchange is extended for the duration of the force majeure circumstances, as confirmed by the competent state authority where the force majeure circumstances occurred;

(3) exporters that are responsible for a delay in the receipt of proceeds in foreign exchange from abroad, and importers that have not arranged for the import into the republic and clearance of goods under the “release for free circulation” regime, the performance of work and provision of services for more than 30 banking days (60 banking days for small business entities and business sole proprietors), after the end of the established period, pay a fine to the republic budget:
- in the equivalent of 10% of the amount of the foreign exchange that has not been received or goods that have not been cleared under the “release for free circulation” regime (work not performed, services not provided) – in the case of a delay of up to 180 days above the established time period;
- in the equivalent of an additional 20% of the amount of the foreign exchange that has not been received or goods that have not been cleared under the “release for free circulation” regime (work not performed, services not provided) – in the case of a delay of from 180 to 365 days above the established time period;
- in the equivalent of an additional 70% of the amount of the foreign exchange that has not been received or goods that have not been cleared under the “release for free circulation” regime (work not performed, services not provided) – in the case of a delay of more than 365 days above the established time period.

Effective August 1, 2020, economic entities are not subject to fines for past-due accounts receivable on foreign trade operations in the following cases:
on the amount of assets repatriated in full or in part in accordance with the requirements of the Republic of Uzbekistan Law on Foreign Exchange Regulation under contracts referred to in the request for imposition of a fine;
if the time periods for the delivery of equipment and/or components have been established in the terms of import contracts for the delivery of equipment and/or components at more than 180 calendar days, depending on their technical characteristics and specific features; on presentation of a certificate of the destruction or confiscation of goods exported in the name of a foreign enterprise and found to be invalid in the transport and storage process for reasons beyond the control of the exporter and foreign enterprise, or confiscated by the importing government agency under customs control of the customs authority of the country in which the goods are located;
repeated fines for the same arrears and the current volume of exports and imports of goods (work, services).

The collection of fines in excess of 20% of the sum of current assets of a resident legal entity of the Republic of Uzbekistan as of the last reporting date may be performed by means of monthly payments over a period of six months from the date a decision is made to collect the amount due.

Effective November 5, 2019, it is established that individuals and legal entities or persons acting together, including nonresidents, are obliged to obtain the prior permission of the CBU before acquiring, directly or indirectly, a stake that will constitute 5% or more in the authorized capital of a bank as a result of one or several transactions. (Previously, no threshold was established and the permission was required regardless of the size of the acquired share.) The need to obtain the prior permission of the CBU for the acquisition by nonresidents of shares of resident banks above the established threshold is not a form of control of the capital movement. Pursuant to the Law on Banks and Banking:

- the total share of nonresidents – individuals and legal entities that are not international financial institutions, foreign banks and other credit organizations, should not exceed 50% of the authorized capital of the bank;

- the following may not be direct or indirect holders of bank shares: nonresident individuals who live in a state or a territory that offers preferential tax treatment and/or does not stipulate the disclosure of the identity of the ultimate beneficial owners and the provision of information in the course of financial transactions, as well as legal entities whose participants (shareholders), the ultimate beneficial owners are registered in such a state or territory.

Sale or issue locally by nonresidents

Yes.

The Regulation on Quotas and the Procedure for the Admission and Circulation of Securities, approved by Cabinet of Ministers Resolution No. 239 of August 20, 2014, establishes quotas and the procedure for allowing the placement and circulation of securities issued by nonresidents in Uzbekistan. Item 4 of the Regulation establishes the conditions for allowing the placement and circulation of securities issued by nonresidents in Uzbekistan. According to Item 5 of the Regulation, securities issued by nonresidents may be placed in Uzbekistan in an amount that does not exceed 25% of the total volume of issued securities of the same kind (category or type), through the issuing of an Uzbek Depository Receipt (UDR) representing the given securities. UDRs are subject to state registration by the authorized government agency.

Purchase abroad by residents

Yes.

The placement of assets by legal entities outside Uzbekistan is governed by foreign exchange regulation law. The procedure for the acquisition of securities in foreign currency by residents is established by the Agency for Development of the Capital Market, together with the CBU. The acquisition of securities by institutional investors is performed within the limits established by law. The CBU Resolution No. 31/2 of November 11, 2017, clarified (formalizing the current practice) that investment activities above US$10,000 by transferring the funds by residents on accounts abroad to directly invest in share capital of foreign companies, or to add operational funds to own foreign subsidiaries are permitted if there are the relevant decisions of President, Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan, or international treaties of Republic of Uzbekistan.

Sale or issue abroad by residents

Yes.

Pursuant to the Regulation on Quotas and the Procedure for the Admission and Circulation of Securities, approved by Cabinet of Ministers Resolution No. 239 of August 20, 2014, securities issued by a resident may be placed and traded outside Uzbekistan in an amount that does not exceed 25% of the total volume of issued securities of the same kind (category or type), unless otherwise established by the laws of the Republic of Uzbekistan; the placement and circulation of securities issued by a resident outside Uzbekistan are carried out according to the laws of the respective country on securities of foreign issuers, unless otherwise established by international agreements of the Republic of Uzbekistan; securities issued by a resident are placed and traded outside Uzbekistan in the form of depositary receipts issued by a foreign depositary, in accordance with the laws of the country in which their placement and circulation are allowed.

The Republic of Uzbekistan Law on the Securities Market (No. ZRU-387 of June 4, 2015), the Law on Joint-Stock Companies and Protection of Shareholders’ Rights (No. ZRU-370 of May 7, 2014), and the Regulations on the Issuing of Securities and State Registration of Issuable Securities (Reg. No. 2000 of August 30, 2009) establish the conditions for the issuing and procedures for the state registration of corporate and infrastructure bonds. According to Article 6 of the Law on the Securities Market of June 4, 2015, corporate bonds are issued in observance of the following conditions: within the limits of the issuer’s equity capital as of the date the decision is made to issue the bonds; if the amount of corporate bonds exceeds the issuer’s equity capital, the issuer is required to provide security for the excess amount; by issuers that have posted positive profitability, solvency, financial stability, and liquidity indicators for the past year; presence of an audit opinion on the financial statements for the last year before the bond issue; with the participation of commercial banks performing the functions of payment agents when issuers pay funds because of investors. Infrastructure bonds are issued in observance of the following conditions:

within the limits of the issuer’s equity capital as of the date the decision is made to issue the bonds; if the amount of corporate bonds exceeds the issuer’s equity capital, the issuer is required to provide security for the excess amount; presence of an audit opinion on the financial statements for the last year before the bond issue; funds from the placement of infrastructure bonds are used for the financing of a project provided for in a decision of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan or the Republic of Uzbekistan Cabinet of Ministers.

Companies in which the state holds a stake of 50% or more, as well as state-owned enterprises, issue bonds with the consent of the Republic of Uzbekistan Ministry of Finance. Additional conditions for issuing corporate and infrastructure bonds are established by the authorized government agency for regulation of the securities market.

In addition, Article 30 of the Law on Joint-Stock Companies and Protection of Shareholders’ Rights states that a company has the right to issue and place corporate bonds and other securities in accordance with the legislation and its charter. A company’s corporate bonds may be securities that are convertible into the company’s shares.

A company issues corporate bonds, including those that are convertible into shares, on the basis of a decision by a general shareholders’ meeting or the company’s supervisory board, if the company’s supervisory board has the right to make such a decision in accordance with the company’s charter or a decision by a general shareholders’ meeting.

In the event that a company issues corporate bonds that are convertible into shares on the basis of a decision by the company’s supervisory board, such a decision must be adopted unanimously by all of the board members.

Pursuant to Article 53 of the Law on the Securities Market of June 4, 2015, the issuing of corporate bonds prior to the formation of the issuer’s statutory capital is prohibited (with the exception of cases involving the formation of commercial banks’ statutory capital), and it is also prohibited to issue bonds for the purpose of replenishing statutory capital or covering losses related to the issuer’s financial and commercial activities; after a bond issue has been registered, the issuer may not make changes to a decision to issue bonds with regard to the rights under the bonds as established in the decision.

Purchase locally by nonresidents

No. Pursuant to Items 13 and 14 of the Regulation on the Procedure for the Circulation of Securities in Foreign Currency in the Republic of Uzbekistan, the Acquisition of Securities in Foreign Currency by Residents, and the Acquisition by Nonresidents of Securities Issued by Residents (Reg. No. 1692 of June 22, 2007), nonresidents may purchase for domestic and foreign currency any securities admitted for circulation in Uzbekistan, unless their terms of issue prohibit nonresidents from holding these securities. A minimum holding period requirement is not regulated by the law.

Founders establish entities abroad by a decision of a founder’s governing authority whose competence includes, under constituent documents, the decision to establish entities abroad. The CBU Resolution No. 31/2 of November 11, 2017, clarified (formalizing the current practice) that investment activities above US$10,000 by transferring the funds by residents on accounts abroad to directly invest in share capital of foreign companies, or to add operational funds to own foreign subsidiaries are permitted if there are the relevant decisions of President, Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan, or international treaties of Republic of Uzbekistan.

Pursuant to the Law on Foreign Exchange Regulation, there are no restrictions on the attraction of FDIs into Uzbekistan and the repatriation of them, or on the exercise of rights acquired in connection with making direct foreign investments. Investors may establish foreign investment enterprises (FIEs), a form of direct investment, by registering with the Ministry of Justice and its regional offices. A firm may acquire FIE status as follows: (1) It must have at least US$50,000 (SUM 400 mil.) in statutory capital. (2) One participant must be a foreign legal entity or individual. (3) At least 15% of its statutory capital must be foreign investment.

Nonresidents must obtain the prior permission of the CBU for the acquisition of the securities of resident banks above the established threshold. Effective November 5, 2019, it is established that individuals and legal entities or persons acting together, including nonresidents, are obliged to obtain the prior permission of the CBU before acquiring, directly or indirectly, a stake that will constitute 5% or more in the authorized capital of a bank as a result of one or several transactions. (Previously, no threshold was established and the permission was required regardless of the size of the acquired share.) The need to obtain the prior permission of the CBU for the acquisition by nonresidents of shares of resident banks is not a form of control of the movement of capital.

Pursuant to the Law on Banks and Banking:
- the total share of nonresidents—individuals and legal entities that are not international financial institutions, foreign banks and other credit organizations, should not exceed 50% of the authorized capital of the bank;
- the following may not be direct or indirect holders of bank shares: nonresident individuals who live in a state or a territory that offers preferential tax treatment and/or does not stipulate the disclosure of the identity of the ultimate beneficial owners and the provision of information in the course of financial transactions, as well as legal entities whose participants (shareholders), the ultimate beneficial owners are registered in such a state or territory.

| Controls on liquidation of direct investment | No. | Pursuant to the Law on Foreign Exchange Regulation, there are no restrictions on the attraction to Uzbekistan of FDIs or their repatriation or the exercise of rights acquired in connection with the execution of FDIs. The Ministry of Justice and its regional offices oversee FIEs’ compliance with their statutory obligations and the procedures for their registration and liquidation. |

The Republic of Uzbekistan Law on Investment and Mutual Funds of August 26, 2015 (No. ZRU-392 of August 25, 2015), and the Regulation on Investment Funds, approved by the Cabinet of Ministers Resolution of September 25, 1998, establish procedures governing the activities of investment and mutual funds that stipulate that they must be managed by licensed management companies (investment fund fiduciary managers). Investment funds are legal entities in the form of open joint-stock companies that issue shares for the purpose of placing investors’ resources in securities and other assets in accordance with the law and in bank accounts and deposits. Investment funds may not be converted to other types of legal entities.

Pursuant to Article 13 of the Republic of Uzbekistan Law on Investment and Mutual Funds of August 26, 2015, an investment fund does not have the right: to operate without a license; to issue corporate and infrastructure bonds, or preferred shares; to invest more than 10% of the investment fund’s net assets in the securities of a single issuer or in the shares of a limited liability company; to attract loans and/or borrowed funds if the aggregate amount of debt to be repaid will exceed 15% of the value of the investment fund’s net assets as of the date the credit and/or loan agreement is signed (and the duration of the credit and/or loan may not exceed three months); to serve as a surety, or to pledge property or property rights; to make investments in securities and shares of commercial companies whose organizational-legal form imposes additional liability on their partners; to make investments in securities issued by a fiduciary manager or by auditing firms, or to acquire stakes in their statutory capital; to acquire and hold shares of other investment funds; to enter into transactions not related to investment activity, or to acquire options or futures; to make investments in a total amount that exceeds 10% of the fund’s net assets (other than investments in securities).

According to Article 17 of the Law, the monetary assets of a mutual fund may not be: invested in the securities of a single issuer or in shares of a limited liability company in an amount that exceeds 10% of the fund’s investment assets; invested in securities and shares of commercial companies whose organizational-legal form imposes additional liability on their partners; invested in securities issued by a fiduciary manager or by auditing firms, or used to acquire stakes in their statutory capital; used for purposes not related to investment activity; invested in a total amount that exceeds 10% of the fund’s investment assets (other than investments in securities).

Pursuant to Article 15 of the Law on the Securities Market of June 3, 2015, the issuance and circulation of securities in Uzbekistan are subject to registration, unless the legislation provides otherwise. The cabinet of ministers establishes quotas and the procedure for circulation in Uzbekistan of securities issued by nonresidents. The quotas and procedures are the same as for capital market securities.

Investment funds may not invest in securities of enterprises that have not been registered by the government or that conduct their business principally outside Uzbekistan.

Investment funds may not (1) acquire the common stock of any joint-stock company if the acquisition leads to ownership of more than 10% of the stock by entities affiliated with the investment fund; (2) invest more than 10% of their net assets in the securities of a single issuer or in the stakes (participation shares) of a limited liability company.
company established on the basis of a privatized enterprise, with the exception of government securities; or (3) exchange stocks issued by the fund for stocks of joint-stock companies established in the process of denationalization (privatization) in an amount exceeding 5% of the net assets of the investment fund.

Pursuant to Article 13 of the Republic of Uzbekistan Law on Investment and Mutual Funds of August 26, 2015, an investment fund does not have the right: to serve as a surety, or to pledge property or property rights; to make investments in securities and shares of commercial companies whose organizational-legal form imposes additional liability on their partners; to make investments in securities issued by a fiduciary manager or by auditing firms, or to acquire stakes in their statutory capital; to acquire and hold shares of other investment funds; to enter into transactions not related to investment activity, or to acquire options or futures; to make investments in a total amount that exceeds 10% of the fund’s net assets (other than investments in securities).

According to Article 17 of the Law, the monetary assets of a mutual fund may not be: invested in the securities of a single issuer or in shares of a limited liability company in an amount that exceeds 10% of the fund’s investment assets; invested in securities and shares of commercial companies whose organizational-legal form imposes additional liability on their partners; invested in securities issued by a fiduciary manager or by auditing firms, or used to acquire stakes in their statutory capital; used for purposes not related to investment activity; invested in a total amount that exceeds 10% of the fund’s investment assets (other than investments in securities).

Use of foreign exchange among residents 10/23/2019

The Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan on Foreign Exchange Regulation, No. ZRU-573 of October 22, 2019, provides for an updated list of transactions that are permitted between residents in foreign exchange.

According to the Rules for the Performance of Foreign Exchange Transactions, also the following transactions may be performed between residents in foreign currency on the territory of the Republic of Uzbekistan: the acceptance of foreign exchange cash in the cases referred to in paragraph 45 of the Rules; payments of funds on the basis of court orders.

Administration of control

10/23/2019

According to the Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan on Foreign Exchange Regulation, No. ZRU-573 of October 22, 2019, the foreign exchange oversight authorities are obliged to oversee foreign exchange transactions performed by residents and nonresidents in the Republic of Uzbekistan in terms of compliance of these operations with the legislation of the Republic of Uzbekistan. The foreign exchange oversight authorities, within their powers, are entitled to:

- verify residents’ and nonresidents’ compliance with foreign exchange regulation laws;
- verify the completeness and accuracy of accounting and reporting on foreign exchange transactions of residents and nonresidents, per established procedure;
- request documents and information related to the conduct of foreign exchange transactions;
- establish a procedure for submitting reports on foreign exchange transactions;
- present demands to remedy discovered violations and take other actions, which shall be binding on all residents and nonresidents within the Republic of Uzbekistan.

The foreign exchange oversight authorities may require submission only of those documents that are directly related to the foreign exchange transaction being conducted. The CBU oversees foreign exchange transactions conducted by banks of the Republic of Uzbekistan.

Resident and nonresident individuals may export cash in domestic and foreign currency in an amount not exceeding the equivalent of 100,000,000 UZS. Export of larger amounts should be carried out in accordance with the procedure determined by the Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan. (Previously, the export of cash foreign exchange by individuals within an amount equivalent to US$5,000 could be performed without any permission. The completion of customs declaration in case of export by an individual (resident or nonresident) of cash foreign exchange up to the equivalent of US$2,000 was not required. In the case of the export by an individual of cash foreign exchange in excess of an amount equivalent to US$2,000, the total amount of exported cash foreign exchange was declared in writing. Export of an amount more than US$5,000 was carried out as follows: by residents – with the permission of regional offices of the CBU; by nonresidents – based on the customs declaration completed at the time of entry of the Uzbekistan, where the amount of cash foreign exchange is not less than the amount to be exported. In case of export of foreign exchange cash in excess of the established amount by nonresidents who are prizewinners or participants in competitions, contests, and Olympiads organized in Uzbekistan, the basis for the export of foreign exchange cash was a document confirming the legality of receipt of the foreign exchange cash.)

The main objectives of monetary policy are (1) low and stable inflation and (2) a sufficient level of official foreign exchange reserves. Specifically, the RBV aims for CPI inflation in the 0%–4% range and aims to maintain foreign reserve cover of at least four months of imports. The RBV achieves these objectives by pegging the vatu to an undisclosed basket of currencies, targeting excess reserves in the banking system through its open market operations, and periodically adjusting its rediscount rate and the statutory reserve requirement in line with economic and financial conditions.

Commercial banks may freely trade within a band set by the RBV.

Foreign exchange bureaus may operate after obtaining a license from the Department of Finance (government). Such bureaus may not deal directly with the RBV. Currently, there are 3 focusing on exchange and transfer and 3 Chinese stores that include exchange in their retail activity.

The RBV has a dealing facility with the local commercial banks for the purchase and sale of US dollars and Australian dollars against the vatu.

Five commercial banks participate in the interbank foreign exchange market. There are no limits on the bid-ask spreads and commissions of market participants.

Banks operate mainly over the counter.

The RBV does not deal in the forward exchange market; however, commercial banks provide forward exchange facilities to their customers.
customers at their own expense. The RBV does not deal in derivative instruments.

Positive list  Yes.
Negative list  Yes.  The importation of frozen chicken pieces, T-shirts bearing a Vanuatu motif, firearms and ammunition, animals and plants, and transistor and telephone equipment is restricted through import-licensing arrangements. A similar restriction is applied to the importation of rice, sugar, flour, canned fish, and tobacco products. Bans are in effect for health reasons on imports of animals and animal products from Europe and the United Kingdom, as well as on imports of chicken and poultry products from Victoria and New South Wales, Australia.

Open general licenses  n.r.
Licenses with quotas  n.r.
Other nontariff measures  Yes.  The RBV has the authority to restrict import requests to the equivalent of US$100,000 an individual.

Import taxes and/or tariffs  Yes.  The import duty structure consists of eight rates, ranging from 0% to 30%, with the 30% rate applying to most goods. Most basic items are subject to a 5% duty. Approved goods imported under the MSG, PICTA, and PACER trade agreements are duty free. These goods require certificates of origin issued to exporters and importers by the member countries. Goods imported or delivered from bonded houses are also duty free. A 35% duty applies to certain imported products in the protected goods category, except for six items covered under the MSG trade agreement, to which a 40% duty applies. In addition, a 40% duty, which decreases by 2% a year, is applied to ice cream, fruit juice, meat, and soap, and duties of VT 350 and VT 315 a liter are applied to fuel and paint, respectively. As a result of free trade under the MSG trade agreement, excise tax rates have been increased and extended to additional excisable products (domestic and imported). Customs uses the harmonized system of tariffs (2007... version). Vanuatu became a WTO member in 2012 and has agreed to bind all its tariff rates.

Exchange Arrangement

Currency | Yes. | The monetary unit of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela is the bolivar “soberano,” in accordance with Article 318 of the constitution of the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela (Special G.O. No. 5,908 of February 19, 2009) and Article 106 of the Decree with the Status, Effect and Force of Law of the Central Bank of Venezuela (Special G.O. No. 6,211 of December 30, 2015).

Other legal tender  No.

Exchange rate structure

Unitary

Dual

Multiple  Yes. Complementary Floating Market Exchange Rate (DICOM) is the single official exchange rate in Venezuela. The DICOM rate is determined through an auction system. Article 28 of the Exchange Agreement No. 39 indicates that the exchange rate to be used by public and private sectors for all settlement operations in foreign currency will be the DICOM exchange rate. The DICOM rate stood at BsF/US$5,189.56 (buying) and BsF/US$5202.57 (selling) on May 13, 2019. In addition to the official DICOM exchange rate, there is a parallel market that is widely used by the private sector and individuals. As of May 13, 2019, the parallel exchange rate stood at 5698.53 bolivars per dollar, according to DolarToday. Since March 10, 2016, the rate established as the DICOM under Exchange Rate Agreement No. 35 of March 9, 2016 (G.O. No. 40,865 of the same date). Pursuant to Article 17 of that Agreement, until the alternative foreign exchange markets provided for in Exchange Agreement No. 33 are replaced, the DICOM will be the rate referenced in Article 24 of the latter Exchange Agreement. It should also be noted that pursuant to Article 13 of the aforesaid Exchange Agreement No. 35, all foreign exchange operations not expressly stated in the Exchange Agreement (EA) will be settled through the alternative foreign exchange markets regulated by the exchange regulations at the DICOM. The transactions of sale of foreign currency for payment of consumption and advances of cash with credit cards and acquisition of cash for minors, because of trips abroad, were applied the DICOM rate of exchange in effect at the time when the transaction is made or when the cash is delivered. The sale of foreign currency from the activities of exportation to the VCB made by natural persons and private legal persons was made at the DICOM rate of exchange reduced by 0.25%.

Effective May 2, 2019, individuals and private companies can buy and sell foreign currency through local commercial banks and exchange houses with no constraints on prices or amounts. The new market has been established where private foreign exchange buyers and sellers interacted under BCV’s control. Individuals are still transacting small amounts in euros in cash in DICOM with government-owned banks. The BCV continues publishing the DICOM rate daily, resulting in two legal foreign exchange rates.

As of May 13, 2019, the parallel exchange rate stood at 5698.53 bolivars per dollar, according to DolarToday. Article 31 of the Exchange Agreement No. 39 establishes that the conversion of foreign currency for the determination of the taxable amount of tax obligations derived from customs operations will be carried out at the DICOM exchange rate in effect on the date of the operation. Article 33 indicates that the exchange rate to be used for foreign currency conversion for the determination of the amounts to be paid because of the customs and tax penalties regimes will be the DICOM exchange rate at the date of the corresponding sanction. The tax obligations established in special laws, as well as the rates, commissions, surcharges, and public prices that have been set in the corresponding regulations in foreign currency, may be paid alternatively in the currency in which they are denominated, in their equivalent in other foreign currency in accordance with the price published for that purpose by the Central Bank of Venezuela (BCV), or in bolivars applying the DICOM in force at the date of the transaction. (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 34).

Effective May 2, 2019, individuals and private companies can buy and sell foreign currency through local commercial banks and exchange houses with no constraints on prices or amounts. The new market has been established where private foreign exchange buyers and sellers interacted under BCV’s control. Individuals are still transacting small amounts in euros in cash in DICOM with government-owned banks. The BCV continues publishing the DICOM rate daily. The de facto exchange rate arrangement is classified as other managed.

DICOM is the single official exchange rate in Venezuela. The DICOM rate is determined through an auction system. Article 28 of the Exchange Agreement No. 39 indicates that the exchange rate to be used by public and private sectors for all settlement operations in foreign currency will be the DICOM exchange rate. The DICOM rate stood at Bs/US$79,800 (buying) and Bs/US$80,000 (selling) on May 29, 2018. The operations of sale of foreign currencies to the BCV must be carried out at the exchange rate set forth in Article 11 of Exchange Agreement No. 39, reduced by 0.25% (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 28). The value of the exchange rate in bolivars resulting from the auction will be the lowest price proposed by the legal entities demanding foreign currency that is awarded, that is, the marginal value on the claims awarded to legal persons (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 3). All operations for settlement of foreign currencies not expressly provided for in this agreement are subject to the conditions and regulations established for the determination of the taxable amount of tax obligations derived from customs operations. (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 34).
Exchange Agreement will be processed through the alternative markets regulated in the exchange regulations, at the DICOM (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 30). Pursuant to Article 17 of that Agreement the DICOM will be the rate referenced in Article 24 of the latter Exchange Agreement. It should also be noted that pursuant to Article 13 of the aforesaid Exchange Agreement No. 35, all foreign exchange operations not expressly stated in the Exchange Agreement will be settled through the alternative foreign exchange markets regulated by the exchange regulations at the DICOM. The transactions of sale of foreign currency for payment of consumption and advances of cash with credit cards and acquisition of cash for minors, because of trips abroad, were applied the DICOM rate of exchange in effect at the time when the transaction is made or when the cash is delivered. The sale of foreign currency from the activities of exportation to the VCB made by natural persons and private legal persons was made at the DICOM rate of exchange reduced by 0.25%.

Effective May 2, 2019, as per BCV’s Resolution No. 2019-05-01 establishes that the price published daily by BCV will be the official rate as per Article 9 of Exchange Agreement No. 1: New Exchange Framework. The BCV will publish a reference rate based on the daily weighted average exchange rate of the transactions conducted by exchange operators. The reference exchange rate must apply to all foreign currency settlement operations of public and private sector banks. Foreign currency sales operations carried out by the BCV will be carried out at the reference exchange rate while foreign currency purchase operations will be at the reference rate reduced by 0.25%.

Other monetary framework Yes. In light of the regulatory framework for foreign exchange, monetary policy is a result of the interaction of exchange and fiscal policy and is tailored to both these policies.

Exchange tax No.

Exchange subsidy Yes. Since March 10, 2016, the concepts associated with imports of goods on the list of food and health sector products, pensions for old age, retirement, partial disability, incapacity, and survivors, and with the recovery of health, sports, culture, scientific research, and face-to-face academic activities abroad under Exchange Agreement No. 35 of March 9, 2016, are settled at the selling rate of Bs/US$10.00.

Foreign exchange market Yes.

Spot exchange market Yes. DICOM is the single official exchange rate in Venezuela. The DICOM rate is determined through an auction system. Article 28 of the Exchange Agreement No. 39 indicates that the exchange rate to be used by public and private sectors for all settlement operations in foreign currency will be the DICOM exchange rate. The DICOM rate stood at Bs/US$79,800 (buying) and Bs/US$80,000 (selling) on May 29, 2018. In addition to the official DICOM exchange rate, there is a parallel market that is widely used by the private sector and individuals. As of May 30 2018, the parallel rate stood at 1,684,848 bolivars per US dollar according to BolivarCucuta; at 1,614,820 bolivars per dollar according to AirTM; at 2,151,163 bolivars per dollar according to Cotizaciones. In comparison, DICOM was trading at only 80,000 bolivars per dollar during the same period. Exchange Agreement No. 39 regulates three types of transactions: (1) auctions of foreign currency, conducted through the new system at the supplementary floating market exchange rate (DICOM), (2) direct sales of foreign currency, and (3) transactions involving the negotiation in local currency of securities denominated in foreign currency issued by private sector issuers. Exchange Agreement No. 39 revokes Exchange Agreement Nos. 38 and 35. Article 37 stipulates that Exchange Agreement No. 39 has precedence over any other regulation issued in the past. Individuals and legal entities who wish to sell foreign currency for an amount of €8,500 or its equivalent in any other foreign currency, or less, can sell such foreign currency directly to the authorized exchange operators (which are, essentially, universal banks incorporated or domiciled in Venezuela and authorized to act in such capacity by the exchange control governmental authorities), at the DICOM exchange rate in force and effect as of the date of such sale, without having to resort for that purpose to the auctions of foreign currency conducted through the new DICOM system (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 15). The authorized exchange operators must make the sale of the foreign currencies received: (1) In the case of foreign currencies acquired on the occasion of the settlement of purchase operations through bank account transfers, they must be offered in full in the Market Floating Supplementary Exchange Rate System (DICOM), at the exchange rate of acquisition, increased by 1%. If said position is not awarded, it may be acquired by the BCV. (2) In the case of foreign currency in cash, they must be sold weekly to the BCV, at the exchange rate of acquisition, increased by 1%, under the terms indicated in the instructions issued for this purpose (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 15). The exchange rate of reference for the sale of the securities referred to in this Chapter must be that provided for in Article 11 of this Exchange Agreement, and the exchange rate applicable for the purchase must be the same rate of exchange reduced by 0.25%, applicable to the market value of the negotiable instrument, or to the value freely agreed by the parties involved in the transaction, when the instrument has no reference value in the market (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 22). Foreign exchange allocated by Centro Nacional de Comercio Exterior (CENCOEX) is sold by foreign exchange dealers licensed by the BCV once CENCOEX has approved the foreign currencies in question. Trading, in domestic currency, of foreign exchange regulated by Chapter II of Exchange Agreement No. 33 of February 10, 2015, (Special G.O. No. 6,171 of the same date) is settled on the second business day following the agreement. Retail foreign exchange operations regulated by Chapter III of Exchange Agreement No. 33 of February 10, 2015, (Special G.O. No. 6,171 of the same date) are settled by foreign exchange dealers the same day. Trading, in domestic currency, of securities regulated by Chapter IV of Exchange Agreement No. 33 of February 10, 2015, (Special G.O. No. 6,171 of the same date) is settled three bank business days from the date of the agreement for value on that day.

Effective May 2, 2019, individuals and private companies can buy and sell foreign currency through local commercial banks and exchange houses with no constraints on prices or amounts. The new market has been established where private foreign exchange buyers and sellers interact under BCV’s control. Individuals are still transacting small amounts in euros in cash in DICOM with government-owned banks.

Operated by the central bank Yes.
Foreign exchange standing facility No.

Allocation Yes. Allocations of foreign exchange are authorized by CENCOEX in accordance with the availability of foreign exchange and the country’s needs.

Auction Yes. DICOM is the single official exchange rate in Venezuela. The DICOM rate is determined through an auction system. Article 28 of the Exchange Agreement No. 39 indicates that the exchange rate to be used by public and private sectors for all settlement operations in foreign currency will be the DICOM exchange rate. The DICOM system allows the sale and purchase of foreign currency (typically, euros) in exchange for local currency, through auctions of foreign currency administered, regulated, and directed by the Committee of Foreign Currency Auctions (the Committee), which is an internal specialized body within the BCV. Individuals and legal entities of the private sector can participate in the new DICOM system as offering parties (sellers) or bidding parties (purchasers) of foreign currency. On the other hand, public sector legal entities cannot participate in such system. To participate in the DICOM system, the respective person must electronically register with the system and provide certain information, make a sworn statement as to the origin and destination of the funds, hold a demand or term account denominated in foreign currency with a universal bank organized or domiciled in Venezuela and authorized to operate as such under Venezuelan banking legislation (a Local Account in Foreign Currency), and be up to date with the national tax obligations and the social security. The Committee must call auctions at least once a week and the calls must be made two banking days prior to the date of the auction. To participate in an auction of foreign currency, the bidding parties (purchasers) of foreign currency must submit their bids in terms of price and amount, and the offering parties (sellers) of foreign currency must submit their offers in terms of amount, electronically through the system, and indicate the validity term for their bids and offers (which can be no less than seven days nor greater than 30 days). The award of foreign currency starts by awarding foreign currency to the purchaser-bidders of foreign currency who have submitted bids for the highest admissible exchange rate and thereafter to the other purchaser-bidders of foreign currency based on the exchange rate submitted in their bids from the highest to the lowest exchange rate, until the point where the foreign currency offered (and, therefore, the foreign currency that can be awarded) at the respective auction is exhausted. In addition, the system is designed so that at least 10% of the foreign currency offered at each auction is awarded to individuals. The exchange rate applicable to each sale and purchase transaction of foreign currency conducted through the auctions can differ for each transaction because the same will be, for each such transaction, the exchange rate that the respective purchasing-bidding party of foreign currency, to whom the foreign currency has been awarded, submitted in its bid. The settlement of the foreign currency awarded through the auctions will be made by crediting them to a Local Account in Foreign Currency. The auctions of foreign currency are conducted on the basis of a floating exchange rate system, based on an American auction type, where the offer (sale) and demand (purchase) bids of foreign currency are technologically matched (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 2). The BCV publishes on its website the exchange rate resulting from every auction of foreign currency. This exchange rate will be the lowest exchange rate at which a bid for the purchase of foreign currency was submitted in the auction by a legal entity (as opposed to by an individual) and was awarded foreign currency at the auction (which the rules refer to as the “marginal value of the awarded bids”). The exchange rate in force and effect at any given moment will be this exchange rate published by the BCV for the latest auction conducted as of the relevant moment (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 3). The Committee has discretion to determine the methodology for the award of the foreign currency under the new DICOM system. The DICOM system has limitations on the maximum amount of foreign currency purchases made through it. Individuals can purchase up to a maximum of €420 or its equivalent in any other foreign currency a calendar quarter. Private sector legal entities can purchase a monthly amount equal to 30% of the average monthly gross income declared for income tax purposes in the immediately preceding fiscal year, provided such amount does not exceed €340,000 or its equivalent in any other foreign currency a month. On the other hand, the said system has no limitations on the maximum amount of sales of foreign currency (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 9). The current exchange rate will be that of the last auction. As well as the amounts awarded of foreign currencies, the list of individuals and legal entities (who won the auction) will be published on the website of the BCV, as well as on the website www.dicom.gob.ve, of the Market Floating Complementary Exchange Rate System (DICOM), corresponding to every auction made (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 11). The institutions of banking, insurance and securities market sectors, as well as savings banks and funds, trust funds, companies, and reciprocal guarantee and venture capital funds may not participate in the DICOM (Exchange Agreement No. 39, Article 19). Special foreign exchange and/or securities auctions are held by CENCOEX through Sistema Complementario de Asignación de Divisas (SICAD) and are administered and managed directly by it in accordance with the provisions of Exchange Agreement No. 26 of April 3, 2014 (G.O. No. 40,391 of April 10, 2014). CENCOEX is solely responsible for regulating the terms and conditions of these special auctions. CENCOEX handles the bid selection process for each auction based on the methodology approved for this purpose by its board of directors and informs the CB so that it may determine the exchange rate applicable to the auction in question, or the implicit exchange rate generated by the bid price for the purchase and sale in bolivars of securities denominated in foreign currencies, as appropriate.

<td>Yes. Under the provisions of Article 26 of Exchange Agreement No. 1 of February 5, 2003, the purchase of foreign exchange by individuals or legal entities for imports of goods and services is limited and subject to the requirements and conditions established by CENCOEX. The prior authorization of CENCOEX is required for the purchase of foreign exchange, subject to compliance with the provisions of Ordinance No. 119 of September 24, 2013, which establishes the relevant requirements and procedure for the authorization of the purchase of foreign exchange intended for imports. Decree No. 6,168 of June 17, 2008, establishes temporary guidelines to streamline the procedures for obtaining authorization for the purchase of foreign exchange (AAD) and authorization for payments in foreign exchange (ALD) intended for imports of capital goods, inputs, and raw materials by companies in Venezuela’s manufacturing and processing sectors. Resolution No. 3,276 issued by the then Ministry of Popular Power for Economy and Finance establishes the said guidelines and updates the list of goods that benefit from the streamlined procedures for obtaining the AADs and ALDs, which may not exceed US $50,000. Ordinance No. 121 of October 30, 2013, corrected for material error by the Official Notice of November 19, 2013, regulates the requirements and procedure for obtaining the AAD and ALD intended for imports of capital goods, inputs, and raw materials indicated by Resolution of the Ministry of Popular Power for Economy and Finance under Decree No. 6,168 of June 17, 2008. As well, applications for authorization to purchase foreign exchange referred to in the said ordinance may be made up to a maximum amount of US$50,000 or its equivalent in other currencies for each customs import operation, as understood in the terms indicated in the said ordinance. Commission for Foreign Exchange Administration (CADIVI) Ordinance No. 063 of November 30, 2004, establishes the regime for obtaining authorizations for the purchase of foreign exchange (AADs) for the payment, inter alia, of imports of non-tangible goods. Joint Resolution Nos. DM/3240, DM/044, DM/077, DM/063, DM/086, DM/073, and DM/024 issued by the Ministries of Popular Power for Planning and Finance; Trade; Basic Industries and Mining; Agriculture and Land; Health; Energy and Oil; Science, Technology and Intermediate Industries; and Food establish the lists of goods that do not require a Certificate of Insufficient Production or Certificate of No National Production (CIP) or (CNP) and the goods that do require such certificates for purposes of AAD. - Borrowing abroad: No. Banks may maintain accounts abroad for their regular operations.
- Maintenance of accounts abroad: No. Banks may maintain accounts abroad for their regular operations.
- Lending to nonresidents (financial or commercial credits): No. The regulations establish rules for the credits and types of credit, terms and requirements, and the processes to be followed. Articles 58 and 62 of the Decree with the Status, Effect and Force of Law on Banking Sector Institutions (G.O. No. 40,557 of December 8, 2014).
- Lending locally in foreign exchange: Yes. The financial sector grants loans only in domestic currency, except for the export promotion loans granted by public banking institutions under the provisions of Exchange Agreement No. 4 of October 3, 2003, and Article 5 of Exchange Agreement No. 34 of August 30, 2016.
- Purchase of locally issued securities denominated in foreign exchange: Yes. Individuals and legal entities can sell and purchase foreign currency indirectly from any other individual or legal entity (except for the persons indicated below, as regards the purchase of foreign currency) through the negotiation in bolívares of securities denominated in foreign currency issued by any private sector issuer, whether domestic or foreign, which is listed in a regulated market and is subject to public offering. The only exception to the above broad base of participants is that institutions from the banking, insurance and securities market sectors, savings funds, trusts, and reciprocal guarantee and venture capital entities and funds, cannot participate in those transactions as purchasers (indirectly) of foreign currency.
- Differential treatment of deposit accounts in foreign exchange: Yes. Exchange Agreement No. 20 of June 3, 2012, allows the holding of funds in foreign currencies in national financial system banks.
Exchange Agreement No. 31 allows the opening of foreign exchange accounts in microfinance banks. BCV Resolution No. 12-09-01 of September 6, 2012, Article 2, sole paragraph, and Articles 8 and 10 of which were amended by BCV Resolution No. 13-02-01 of February 8, 2013, partially amended by BCV Resolution No. 13-03-01 of March 22, 2013, on “Foreign Exchange Accounts in the National Financial System,” which establishes that individuals who are of age and resident in the national territory and legal entities domiciled in Venezuela may hold funds in foreign exchange in sight or term accounts in universal banks. BCV Resolution No. 14-08-01 of August 21, 2014, which repeals Article 7 of Resolution No. 12-09-01 of September 6, 2012, and Article 1 of which establishes the possibility for the board of directors of the BCV to grant exceptions to the requirement for authorized banks that receive deposits in foreign exchange to credit said deposits to the BCV, within the framework of its exchange policy implementation strategy. BCV Official Notice of July 30, 2013, containing the Regulations for the Opening of accounts with universal banks authorized to receive foreign exchange deposits in accordance with the provisions of Exchange Agreement No. 20.

Reserve requirements

Yes.

Article 6 of BCV Resolution No. 14-03-02 established that the reserve requirement for foreign exchange operations must be established in legal tender (bolívares); however, the calculation, reporting, and monitoring of the reserve requirement for foreign exchange operations will take place separately from the reserve requirements for operations in domestic currency. As well, Articles 13 and 15 establish that a minimum reserve requirement of 21.5% applies to these operations. Article 1 of BCV Resolution No. 14-08-01 of August 21, 2014, establishes the possibility for the board of directors of the BCV to grant exceptions to the requirement for authorized banks that receive foreign exchange deposits to credit said deposits to the BCV within the framework of its exchange policy implementation strategy. Article 55 of the Decree with the Status, Effect and Force of Law on the BCV provides that the portion of the reserve requirement deposited with the BCV may be interest-bearing for monetary and financial policy reasons under the relevant terms and conditions established by the board of directors of the BCV.

Stabilized arrangement | Yes. Clause 2, Article 15 of Decree No. 70/2014/ND-CP of July 17, 2014, states that: (1) The official exchange rate is determined based on demand and supply in the foreign exchange market under State Bank of Vietnam (SBV) regulations. The SBV regulates the exchange rate by deploying monetary policy instruments and intervening in the foreign exchange market. (2) The de jure exchange rate arrangement is managed floating and is determined by the SBV based on a currency basket of countries with trade, financing, and investment | relationships with Vietnam, consistent with macroeconomic targets of each period. Decision No. 2730/QD-NHNN specifies that the central exchange rate is announced daily, based on reference of the interbank-weighted exchange rate, exchange rate developments in global markets of some currencies that are of Vietnam’s major investment, credit, and trading partners, monetary and macroeconomic balances, and monetary policy targets. The dong–US dollar exchange rate might fluctuate around the average interbank foreign currency market exchange rate announced by the SBV within a daily transaction band of ±3%. In 2019, the dong remained stabilized within a 2% band against the US dollar. The de facto exchange rate arrangement is classified as a stabilized arrangement.

Foreign exchange market Yes. The exchange rate band applies only to dong–US dollar transactions. Credit institutions (CIs) may set their own rates in transactions for all foreign currencies, except US dollars. ADs may freely set their exchange rates in transactions with their clients within the dong–US dollar band.

Spot exchange market Yes. As of December 31, 2019, there were 120 CIs and foreign bank branches authorized by the SBV to provide foreign exchange services, including four state-owned commercial banks and joint-stock commercial banks in majority state ownership, including...
Agribank, Vietinbank, Vietcombank, and Bank for Investment and Development of Vietnam (BIDV); 31 joint-stock commercial banks, 3 joint-venture banks, 9 banks that are 100% foreign owned, and 49 foreign bank branches. Foreign exchange bureaus operate as agents for CIs. There were 688 such bureaus licensed by SBV branches in cities and provinces as of December 31, 2019. These bureaus may not conduct foreign exchange transactions directly with the SBV. They may use dong to buy foreign exchange from individuals, but may not sell foreign exchange to individuals for dong (except bureaus located at international border gates in isolated areas).

Auction No.
Fixing No.

Interbank market Yes.

The CIs must have permission and register with the SBV to become members of the foreign exchange interbank market as follows: They must be credit organizations and/or foreign bank branches (1) permitted under the Law on Credit Organizations; (2) licensed by the SBV for the operation, business, and provision of foreign exchange services in Vietnam’s foreign exchange market; and (3) have the necessary systems to carry out foreign exchange transactions, such as the Reuters Dealing System or other means approved by the SBV from time to time.

Currently, 70 CIs and foreign bank branches are members of the foreign exchange interbank market. The SBV grants the license. The limit on the bid-ask spread is the SBV trading band (±3%). The CB intervenes directly with market participants at their quoted rates set by the CB from time to time.

Over the counter No.
Brokerage No.
Market making No.
Forward exchange market Yes.

There has been no regulation on market maker. The SBV intervenes directly with interbank market participants.

The SBV permits authorized CIs to enter into dong and foreign currency forward and swap transactions with minimum maturities of 3–365 working days since the transaction day. The maturities of forward and swap transactions of foreign currencies are negotiated between authorized CIs and their customers. The dong–US dollar forward rate is based on (1) the spot rate on the day the contract is signed; (2) the difference between the spot refinancing rate announced by the SBV and the Federal Funds Target Rate (announced by the Federal Reserve); and (3) the maturity of the contract. Authorized CIs may not purchase options from economic entities or other organizations and individuals. Nonresidents are allowed to enter into spot transactions with authorized CIs only, as stipulated in Paragraph 4, Article 4, Circular No. 15/2015/TN-NHNN of October 2, 2015.

Official cover of forward operations No.

Implementation of Provisions Restricting the Use of Foreign Exchange within the Territory of Vietnam specifies the following cases when foreign exchange may be used in Vietnam: (1) Customs offices, public security (police) offices, border-guard forces offices, and other government agencies at border points and in bonded (customs) warehouses may list in and collect in foreign exchange or cash foreign currency from nonresidents various types of taxes, entry and exit visa fees, fees for services and other types of fees, and charges in accordance with the law. (2) Banks, nonbank CIs, and foreign bank branches authorized to conduct foreign exchange business and provide foreign exchange services (hereinafter referred to as authorized CIs) may transact, make payments, list, advertise, quote, set prices, and record prices in contracts and agreements in foreign exchange within the scope of their foreign exchange business and provision of foreign exchange services authorized by the SBV in accordance with the law. (3) Other institutions authorized to provide foreign exchange services may transact and list prices in foreign currency within the scope of their permitted foreign exchange services. (4) Resident legal entities may transfer capital internally by foreign currency transfers—for example, between the account of such an organization and accounts of its subsidiaries that are not legal entities and vice versa. (5) Residents may contribute foreign currency capital to implement a foreign investment project in Vietnam. (6) Residents may perform contracts entrusting imports or exports in accordance with the following provisions: (a) Resident importers may record prices in import authorization contracts in foreign currency and receive payment in foreign currency from the import entrusting party. (b) Resident exporters may record prices in export authorization contracts in foreign currency and make payments in foreign currency to the export entrusting party. (7) Residents who are domestic or foreign contractors are permitted the following: (a) With respect to foreign expenses for a tender package via international tendering in accordance with the Law on Tendering, tenderers may submit their tenders in foreign currency and receive payment in foreign currency from the investor or head contractor to make payments and disbursements and remit money overseas. (b) With respect to implementation of tender packages in accordance with the Law on Petroleum, tenderers may submit their tenders in foreign currency and receive payment in foreign currency from the investor or head contractor to make payments and disbursements and remit money overseas. (8) Resident insurance enterprises are permitted as follows: (a) They may quote, set, and record prices of insurance services in contracts in foreign currency and receive payment in foreign currency from insurance purchasers in the case of goods and services for which offshore reinsurance must be purchased. (b) If losses arise that are covered by offshore reinsurance, resident organizations purchasing insurance may receive... the amount of insurance indemnity in foreign currency from the foreign reinsurer via the domestic insurance enterprise to make payment of expenses for remedying the loss offshore. (9) Resident organizations conducting business in duty-free goods may list prices of goods in foreign currency and receive payment in foreign currency or cash for the supply of goods. Foreign currency used in transactions at duty-free shops must be handled in accordance with the Law on the Business of Sales of Duty-Free Goods. (10) Resident organizations providing services in separated areas at international border gates or organizations conducting business in bonded warehouses may list, quote, fix prices, and record prices in contracts in foreign currency and receive payment in foreign currency or cash for the supply of goods and services. (11) Resident organizations acting as agents for foreign transportation firms on the basis of agency contracts signed between the two parties are permitted (a) to represent the foreign transportation firm in quoting, setting, and recording prices in contracts in foreign currency with respect to international freight charges. Payment must be made in dong; (b) to make payment in foreign currency on behalf of a foreign transportation firm of the purchase price of goods and services at international seaports and at separate areas of international airports; and (c) to make payment in foreign currency cash on behalf of a foreign shipping firm of salaries, bonuses, and allowances to nonresidents when so delegated with authority by a foreign shipping firm. (12) Resident export processing enterprises are permitted (a) to record prices in contracts in foreign currency and to make payment in foreign currency when purchasing goods from the domestic market to produce, process, recycle, or assemble export goods or export them, except for prohibited export goods. Domestic enterprises may quote and set prices in foreign currency and receive payment in foreign currency when selling goods to export processing enterprises; and (b) to quote, set, and record prices in contracts in foreign currency and to make and receive payments in foreign currency with respect to other export processing enterprises. (13) Resident organizations conducting business in the aviation transport, hotel, and tourism sectors may list and advertise prices of goods and services in dong and the equivalent in foreign currency on websites and in specialized publications (excluding menus and service price lists) in foreign languages. (14) Residents and nonresident organizations may agree to pay salaries, bonuses, and allowances in labor contracts in foreign currency or cash to nonresidents and residents who are foreigners working for such organizations. (15) Nonresident diplomatic offices and consulates may list in foreign currency and collect fees for entry and exit visas and other types of fees and charges in foreign currency or cash. (16) Nonresidents are permitted (a) to send foreign currency to other nonresidents; (b) to record prices in contracts in foreign currency and to make payments for the exportation of goods and services in foreign currency to residents. Residents may quote and set prices in foreign currency and receive payment in foreign currency when they supply goods and services to nonresidents; and (c) the nonresident can deposit via transferring foreign exchange to participate in auctioning to buy the shares at initial public offering and disinvestment of the state-owned enterprise approved by the Prime Minister (effective May 13, 2019). (17) For cases related to national security and defense, oil, and other necessary cases, entities may be able to use foreign exchange within Vietnam’s Territory subject to the consideration and approval of the SBV in written form based on the real situation and necessity of each case.

In case of an international treaty, to which Vietnam is a contracting party, the foreign ownership provisions of the international treaty apply (Article 6, International Treaty Law). In case of public companies doing business or investment in which the Law on Investment and relevant laws prescribe foreign ownership limit (FOL), the provisions of that law apply. For public companies operating in conditional business lines and trades applicable to foreign investors, with no specific provision on FOL in place, the maximum FOL is 49%. In cases where a public company has various businesses with different corresponding FOLs, the applicable FOL should not exceed the lowest one applied to that company’s licensed business, unless otherwise provided in international treaties. For the banking sector, the maximum FOL is 30% of the charter capital of any Vietnamese commercial bank. For public companies not covered by the above-mentioned cases, the FOL is not limited, unless otherwise provided in the charter of the company (Article 77, Securities Law 2006).

Foreign organizations and individuals must open a portfolio investment capital account in dong to sell or purchase listed securities on the stock exchange. Payments for and receipts from securities transactions must take place through these accounts. Supplemental regulations are introduced on direct and inward portfolio investment in Vietnam and Vietnam’s outward portfolio investment. Regarding foreign portfolio investment in Vietnam, the ordinance stipulates the responsibility of foreign investors regarding the use of dong accounts for portfolio investment, supplements guidance on the use of nonresident foreign investors’ legitimate income, and prescribes SBV authority to issue regulations on capital transfer transactions.

Foreign indirect investment in Vietnam must continue to be executed in dong through an account at a licensed bank in Vietnam. Foreign investors must register with, and receive a trading code from, the Vietnam Securities Depository (VSD) through depository members prior to investing in the Vietnam stock market.

Sale or issue locally by nonresidents  Yes.

Foreign investors must register with, and receive a trading code from, the VSD through depository members prior to investing in the Vietnam stock market. Foreign organizations and individuals must open a securities trading account denominated in dong to sell or issue listed securities on the stock exchange. All payments for and receipts from securities transactions must be effected through these accounts.

Shares denominated in dong may be issued only in Vietnam. Circular No. 40/2015/TT-NHNN of December 31, 2015, regulates the opening and using of securities issuance account denominated in dong of nonresident organizations in Vietnam. Article 62 of Government Decree No. 58/2012/ND-CP on public offerings of securities of foreign institutions stipulates that foreign institutions are eligible for listing issued securities on Vietnam’s Stock Exchanges, subject to specific requirements.

Purchase abroad by residents  Yes.

Resident individuals and entities may invest abroad in shares, subject to the requirements set by the SBV. CIs may conduct offshore indirect investment, subject to the legal regulations on investment and the SBV law. Residents other than CIs, after receiving a license for offshore indirect investment, may open an account to transfer capital overseas and transfer legal capital, profits, and earnings from indirect investment abroad to Vietnam under SBV regulations.

Article 1, Decree No. 135/2015/ND-CP of December 31, 2015, regulates the offshore indirect investment in the form of purchase and sale of securities, other valuable papers or via overseas securities investment funds or other intermediary financial institutions. Supplemental regulations are introduced on outward portfolio investment. Regarding outward portfolio investment, the ordinance supplements regulations to establish a transparent legal basis for such investment. The SBV provides guidance on the use of accounts, transfers of investment capital overseas, and transfers of the original capital and profits from outward portfolio investment activities to Vietnam.

Sale or issue abroad by residents: Yes.

Decree No. 58/2012/ND-CP stipulates detailed conditions on the public offering of securities abroad by resident enterprises and guidance on documents related to public offering of securities abroad. In particular, Article 29 regulates the conditions for security offerings as the basis for offerings of depository certificates overseas; Article 30 stipulates the registration of security offerings overseas. Chapter VII, Circular No. 162/2015/TT-BTC also gives detailed guidance on security issuance of Vietnamese enterprises overseas (Article 28 on Public Offering of Securities; Law on Securities).

As stipulated in Article 10, Decree No. 70/2014/ND-CP Guiding the Implementation of Ordinance on Foreign Exchange and Amended Ordinance on Foreign Exchange, and Article 6, Circular No. 39/2015/TT-NHNN on Opening Foreign Exchange-Denominated Capital Account for Securities Issue Abroad by Resident, resident organizations issuing or selling foreign-currency-denominated securities abroad are required to open a securities issuance account in foreign currency at an authorized CI. All payments and receipts related to the issuance of securities must be effected through this account. When a resident institution is permitted to issue foreign currency securities abroad, it must do so under the guidance of the SBV (for example, on the use of foreign exchange accounts at authorized CIs for payments and receipts in connection with securities issued). This does not imply that the SBV is authorized to grant licenses for issuance of securities abroad. The issuance of securities by resident institutions must comply with the Securities Law and other relevant laws.

Circular No. 39/2015/TT-NHNN of December 31, 2015, provides detailed guidance on the opening and using of overseas securities issuance account denominated in foreign currency of resident organizations. Securities issuer must open a securities trading account denominated in foreign currency at an eligible CI prior to each public offering of securities.

As stipulated in Section 3, Article 6 of Law on Securities and Article 28 of Circular No. 212/2012/TT-BTC of December 5, 2012, guiding the establishment, organization, and operations of fund management companies, Vietnamese fund management companies are allowed to mobilized capital to register to fund establishment as per host country’s law and regulations.

Bonds or other debt securities: Yes.

Purchase locally by nonresidents: Yes.

Foreign investors can invest in government, government guaranteed, local government, and corporate bonds without limitation, unless otherwise provided by relevant laws of issuing organizations.
is no requirement about minimum holding period for such bonds. Foreign organizations and individuals must open a portfolio investment capital account denominated in dong to sell or purchase listed securities on the stock exchange. All payments for and receipts from securities transactions must be effected through these accounts. Prior to any investment activities in Vietnam’s stock market, foreign investors must register for a trading code with VSD through depository members.

Supplemental regulations introduced on direct and inward portfolio investment in Vietnam stipulate the responsibility of foreign investors on the use of dong accounts for portfolio investment activities; supplement guidance on the use of nonresident foreign investors’ legitimate income; and prescribe SBV authority regarding legitimate capital transfer transactions related to portfolio investment activities.

Sale or issue locally by nonresidents

Yes.

Conditions for foreign organizations’ securities listing on Vietnam Stock Exchanges are as follows:

1. Foreign organizations’ securities offered through initial public offering in Vietnam must be placed in accordance with the Vietnamese Law on Securities.
2. The number of securities registered for listing is equivalent to the number of securities eligible for sale in Vietnam.
3. The listing requirements in Article 53 or Article 54 of this Decree must be satisfied.
4. A commitment must be made to fully implement the legal obligations and liabilities of listing companies under Vietnamese law.
5. Consultation must be received from a securities company established and operating in Vietnam on securities listing.
6. Vietnamese regulations on foreign exchange management must be followed.

Prior to taking investment activities in Vietnam’s stock market, foreign investors must register for a trading code with VSD through depository members.

After receiving a permit to issue securities in Vietnam, nonresident organizations must open securities trading account denominated in dong at authorized CIs to sell or issue listed securities on the stock exchange. All transactions related to security issuance in Vietnam must be conducted via this account. Nonresidents must comply with regulations in the Law on Securities and other related regulations on issuing securities by nonresidents in Vietnam.

Decree No. 58/2012/ND-CP of the government stipulates the requirements of issuing bonds denominated in Vietnamese dong by international financial institutions.

Purchase abroad by residents

Yes.

Resident individuals and entities may invest abroad in securities, subject to the requirements set by the SBV. CIs may conduct offshore indirect investment, subject to the legal regulations on investment and the SBV law. Residents other than CIs, after receiving a license for indirect investment abroad, may open an account to transfer capital overseas and transfer legal capital, profits, and earnings from indirect investment abroad to Vietnam under the SBV regulations.

Supplemental regulations are introduced on outward investment.

Regarding outward portfolio investment, the ordinance supplements regulations to establish a transparent legal basis for such investment. The SBV provides guidance on the use of accounts, transfers of investment capital overseas, and transfers of the original capital and profits from outward portfolio investment activities to Vietnam.

Sale or issue abroad by residents

Yes.

Resident organizations that issue or sell foreign-currency-denominated securities abroad must open a securities issuance account in foreign currency at an authorized CI prior to each public offering, and payments and receipts must be effected through this account. Companies and government-owned commercial banks must receive approval from the appropriate authority and the SBV, respectively, before issuing international or foreign bonds that are not guaranteed by the government and must follow guidelines and restrictions in SBV Circular No. 17/2013/TN-HNN of July 16, 2013, and Government Decree No. 163/2018/ND-CP on Companies’ Issuance of International Bonds.

Decree No. 58/2012/ND-CP stipulates detailed conditions on the public offering of securities abroad by resident enterprises and guidance on documents related to public offering of securities abroad.

| Purchase abroad by residents | Yes. | Resident investors can invest only in permitted instruments. Investment abroad in derivatives and other instruments by residents is not allowed. According to Article 4, Circular No. 10/2016/TT-NHNN of June 29, 2016, guiding some regulations in Decree No. 135/2015/ND-CP of December 31, 2015, on Offshore Portfolio Investment, proprietary traders and trust organizations can trade on a proprietary basis or invest on behalf of their clients in: (1) shares listed on a foreign stock exchange; (2) security investment fund certificates; and (3) bonds, T-bills, bills issued by governments and organizations rated by international rating agencies: Standard and Poor’s, Moody’s Investors Service, and Fitch Ratings. Also, as stipulated in Circular No. 10/2016/TT-NHNN (Chapter II), individual investors of Vietnamese nationality are allowed to invest in bonus shares issued abroad by bonus share issuers after receiving registration from the SBV. Revenues and payments generated from trading of bonus shares must be performed through an account open by the bonus share issuer at an eligible domestic CIs. |
| Sale or issue abroad by residents | Yes. | After receiving the license to issue securities denominated in foreign currencies overseas in the form of stock investment fund certificate, resident organizations must open a portfolio investment capital account denominated in foreign currencies at an authorized CI. All receipts and payments from securities transactions must be performed through this account as regulated by the SBV’s Circular No. 39/2015/TT-NHNN. |
| Controls on credit operations | Yes. | Enterprises are subject to annual overall external borrowing ceilings and the fulfillment of certain other conditions. |
| Commercial credits | Yes. | Resident CIs may extend commercial credits in accordance with SBV regulations. Lending by resident economic entities must be approved by the prime minister. Once approved, firms must open a foreign exchange account with an AD for loan disbursement and... |
To residents from nonresidents Yes.

Enterprises (including CIs) can borrow from abroad without government guarantee subject to conditions. The purposes of offshore borrowing include the restructuring of loans with lending costs not exceeding the cost of the current offshore loan. Medium- and long-term offshore borrowings without the government’s guarantee (except for deferred payment for imported goods) must be registered with the SBV. For medium- and long-term loans, firms must register the borrowing and repayment schedules with the SBV before disbursement, within 30 days of signing the loan contract. For extended loans, firms must register loans within 30 days of signing an extension contract for short-term loans whose total period, including the extension, exceeds one year. Firms' external borrowing must be within the government-approved annual limit and meet the SBV’s requirements. The borrowing and repayment schedules must be reported periodically to the SBV. Resident individuals must borrow and repay overseas loans based on the principle of self-borrowing and are self-liable in accordance with government regulations.

Enterprises with more than 50% state-owned charter capital receiving offshore loans without government guarantee are subject to stricter regulation. Government-owned economic groups and general corporations must be approved by line ministries and the MOF before borrowing from abroad. Commercial banks with more than 50% state-owned charter capital follow the same process and procedure of offshore loan and offshore loan adjustment registration as other kinds of enterprises do, except that commercial banks with more than 50% state-owned charter capital receiving high-value offshore loans as stipulated by 2014 Law on Enterprise must gain approval from the representative of state ownership (the SBV).

Enterprises with offshore loans with government guarantee are subject to guidance of the MOF and registration with the SBV.

Financial credits Yes.

By residents to nonresidents Yes.

Lending by resident legal entities, except CIs, is subject to permission by the prime minister. The SBV provides guidance on account opening and use, outward fund transfers, overseas debt collection, registration for lending and collection of overseas debts, and other fund transfers for overseas lending and debt collection of economic entities.

To residents from nonresidents Yes.

External borrowing of enterprises (including CIs) without government guarantee is subject to conditions. The purpose of offshore borrowing includes the restructuring of loans if the cost of the new loan does not exceed the borrowing cost of the restructured loan. Medium- and long-term offshore borrowings without the government’s guarantee (except for deferred payment for imported goods) must be registered with the SBV following Circular No. 03/2016/TN-NHNN of February 26, 2016, providing guidelines on some issues related to the foreign exchange management of borrowing and repayment of overseas loans applied to enterprises (replacing Circular No. 25/2014/TN-NHNN of September 15, 2014, and Circular No. 09/2004/TN-NHNN of December 21, 2004). Circular No. 03/2016/TN-NHNN provides guidelines on some new issues, including (but not limited to) the following:

Regulations on management principles for deferred payment for imported goods: Deferred payment for imported goods is not subject to registration requirements under foreign borrowing regulations.

Regulations on opening and using borrowing and repayment accounts: In principle, borrowers may open borrowing and repayment accounts at an eligible bank providing account services in Vietnam. This account may only be used for the purposes of withdrawing fund, repayment of foreign loans and other money transfers related to borrowing, repaying, and guaranteeing overseas borrowings.

Enterprises may be able to make registration, registration on changing foreign loans online via the enterprises’ borrowing, and repayment of overseas loans management website.

Enterprises with more than 50% state-owned charter capital receiving offshore loans without the government’s guarantee are subject to stricter regulation under MOF Circular No. 153/2014/TT-BTC of October 20, 2014, on reviewing, investigating, and approving offshore loans of enterprises with more than 50% state-owned charter capital.

Enterprises with offshore loans with the government’s guarantee are subject to guidance of the MOF and registration with the SBV as guided by Circular No. 22/2013/TT-NHNN of September 24, 2013, on the registration and modification procedure of offshore loans and international bond issuance with the government’s guarantee.

For medium- and long-term loans, firms must register the borrowing and repayment schedules with the SBV before disbursement, within 30 days of signing the loan contract. For extended loans, firms must register loans within 30 days of signing an extension contract for short-term loans whose total period, including the extension, exceeds one year. Firms’ external borrowing must be within the government-approved annual limit and meet the SBV’s requirements. The borrowing and repayment schedules must be reported periodically to the SBV. Resident individuals must borrow and repay overseas loans based on the principle of self-borrowing and are self-liable in accordance with government regulations.

Outward direct investment

Outward direct investment requires an MPI permit. Firms engaged in these investments must open an account with a bank with foreign exchange authorization and register such accounts and outward investment flows with SBV branches. All related transactions must go through these accounts. Firms engaged in outward direct investment in the gas and petroleum sector that need to transfer foreign currency abroad before receiving a license for investment to study and prepare for the gas and petroleum projects under the current legal provisions on outward direct investment must register with the SBV regarding the overseas transfer of foreign currency and obtain SBV confirmation of the registration in writing before transferring foreign currency abroad.

Inward direct investment

depends on the scope and areas of investment. Foreign investment projects must be approved by the government, the MPI, or the Provincial People’s Committee. The types of foreign investment are regulated by the Investment Law. Foreign firms engaged in this type of investment must open a specialized capital account, and all payments for and receipts relating to FDI projects in Vietnam must take place through this account. The account is a basis for compiling statistics and monitoring capital flows related to FDI. Effective September 6, 2019, Vietnamese investors may contribute investment capital with their own foreign currency sources.

When closing an investment project, investors must inform the license-granting agency, follow liquidation procedures, and return the investment certificate. Liquidation must be completed within six months of the decision to close the project. There is no limit on the amount that may be transferred abroad.

Foreign currency deposits of foreign CIs are subject to a 1% required reserve ratio. There is no difference in liquid asset requirements for deposits of nonresidents and residents.

In regard to offshore direct investment, commercial banks must comply with the provisions of the law on investment and the law on foreign exchange management applicable to offshore direct investment activities (Investment Law and guiding documents, Circular No. 12/2016/TT-NHNN). In regard to offshore indirect investment, commercial banks must meet the conditions and regulations at Decree No. 135/2015/ND-CP and Circular No. 10/2016/TT-NHNN.

Foreign investors’ shares in Vietnamese commercial banks’ charter capital are limited to: (1) 5% for a foreign individual investor; (2) 15% for a foreign institutional investor, with some exceptions; (3) 20% for a foreign strategic investor; (4) 20% for a foreign investor and its affiliates; and (5) 30% for aggregate foreign shareholding. The total foreign ownership at a Vietnamese nonbank CI is subject to legal regulations for holding companies and listed companies. In special cases, to ensure the safety of the financial system, for the restructuring of CIs in difficulty, the prime minister can allow a foreign institution, a foreign strategic investor, and all foreign investors to hold shares exceeding 15%, 20%, and 30%, respectively, of the charter capital.

The aggregate open foreign exchange position limit is 20%, but the SBV may exempt banks in special circumstances. Forward, option, and spot positions are included in the calculation of open-position limits. These regulations apply to all authorized banks.

The SBV provides guidance on account opening and use, outward fund transfers, overseas debt collection, registration for lending and collection of overseas debts, and other fund transfers related to overseas lending and debt collection activities of economic entities. It also provides details on foreign exchange controls for offshore loans and collection of guaranteed debts from nonresidents. Borrowers must abide by the borrowing and repayment conditions agreed with the offshore lender. The borrower must register the offshore loan with the SBV.

Article 17 of Decree No. 135/2015/ND-CP of December 31, 2015, of the government stipulates that enterprises must register their overseas portfolio investment limits with the SBV and are obliged to do investment within registered limits after receiving certificate of registration from the SBV. Clause 1, Article 9 of the Decree stipulates that overseas portfolio investment with total amount of D 800 billion and above by enterprises with state ownership of 65% and above, other enterprises, after receiving approval from competent authority, will be decided by the prime minister. According to Clause 2, Article 9, the SBV, in coordination with relevant ministries and agencies, reports about overseas portfolio investment as stipulated in Clause 1 to the prime minister for approval. The Decree delegates the SBV to make decision on overseas portfolio investment instruments (Article 8).

Article 16, Circular No. 105/2016/TT-BTC of June 29, 2016, of MOF stipulates that total amount of portfolio investment should not, in all cases, exceed equity minus the larger number of chartered capital or payment solvency and realized outward FDI. Insurance companies are allowed to invest in authorized tools as stipulated by the SBV but should not exceed 5% of total circulated securities of a foreign institutions and should not exceed limits registered with the SBV.

According to Article 62 on investment using idle capital from insurance reserve fund, Decree No. 73/2016/ND-CP:

- Non-life-insurance companies and foreign non-life-insurance companies’ branches are allowed to invest limitlessly in treasury bonds and bills and to use up to 35% to invest in stocks, corporate bonds, fund certificates, and contribute capital in other enterprises.

- Life and health insurance companies and foreign life and health insurance companies’ branches are allowed to invest limitlessly in treasury bonds and bills and to use up to 50% to invest in stocks, corporate bonds, fund certificates, and contribute capital in other enterprises.

According to Item 8, Article 4, Circular No. 32/2013/TT-NHNN regulates that residents being insurers are allowed to make quotations, fix prices, write prices of insurance services in contracts in foreign currency or receive payments in foreign currency by transfer from the insurance-buying parties for goods and services required to purchase the reinsurance in foreign countries. Cases of arising damages for part reinsured abroad, residents being the insurance-buying organizations may be allowed to receive amounts for compensation in foreign currency by transfer from foreign reinsurers through the insurers so as to pay costs for overseas damage remedy.

After an adjustment of 16.4% in April 2016, the official exchange rate has remained steady at about Yrls 250. The de facto exchange rate arrangement is classified as a stabilized arrangement.

Crawling peg

Pegged exchange rate within horizontal
The official exchange rate is determined on each working day by reference to the market rate as quoted by banks and money changers for the US dollar against the rial. Cross-rates for the other currencies are then derived from Reuters. The official exchange rate is used for CBY transactions vis-à-vis commercial banks and the government, which include (1) settlement of installments and interest due on official foreign debt, (2) transfers of salaries and other embassy allowances abroad, (3) transfers of grants and allowances of Yemeni students on government scholarships abroad, and (4) LCs for public sector companies and government agencies and purchases and sales of foreign exchange from and to these entities. The CBY sells foreign exchange to commercial banks only for the importation of basic commodities and budget transactions related to international liabilities at the official rate.

The stated monetary anchors comprise reserve money and broad money supply (M2). An exchange rate anchor vis-à-vis the US dollar has also been used periodically to stabilize the rial.

Foreign exchange market

Yes. Commercial banks may freely set their exchange rates in transactions with their clients.

- Spot exchange market
  Yes. There are 19 banks, including the CBY, and 556 licensed money changers (exchange bureaus) in operation. Of these, 30 are incorporated companies that exchange foreign currency and transfer money in and out of Yemen. All are licensed by the CBY. Exchange bureaus may maintain accounts abroad. Individual dealers may only purchase and sell foreign currency and traveler’s checks. Foreign exchange bureaus incorporated as companies may also accept transfers and bank drafts issued by banks operating in Yemen or abroad.

- Operated by the central bank
  Yes. There is no formal interbank market. The CBY is the main supplier of foreign exchange, because it receives most foreign exchange inflows and facilitates interbank transactions before an intervention (sale).

- Foreign exchange standing facility
  Yes. The CBY sells foreign exchange to banks to finance imports of basic commodities.

- Allocation
  No.

- Auction
  No. Foreign exchange auctions are currently suspended.

- Fixing

Payments arrears Yes.

Official Yes. After the 1996–2001 Paris Club agreements, official creditors had to renegotiate the terms of their loans to Yemen to conform to Paris Club conditions. Rescheduling agreements have been signed with almost all creditors. With the start of the conflict in 2014, new arrears with respect to some external creditors have accumulated. Agreements have not yet been reached with a few creditors, and there is still a payment moratorium on installments and interest due to them.

Exchange Measures

The IMF staff report for the 2019 Article IV Consultation with Zambia, states that as of August 2, 2019, Zambia maintained an exchange restriction, which is subject to IMF approval under Article VIII, arising from limitations imposed by the government on access to foreign exchange for the making of payments and transfers for current international transactions, which is evidenced by the existence of external payments arrears accumulated prior to October 4, 1985. The de jure and de facto exchange rate arrangements are classified as floating. The official exchange rate is determined in the interbank market. The Bank of Zambia (BOZ) intervenes primarily through transactions with ADs, which are registered commercial banks that meet the prescribed eligibility criteria under the Interbank Foreign Exchange Market (IFEM) Framework. The BOZ interventions are published as historical data, and its foreign exchange transactions are published in the biweekly statistics. Data on interventions are published on a biweekly basis with a 3-month lag.

In May 2019, the Kwacha depreciated by 11.26% against the US dollar following Moody’s downgrade of Zambia’s credit rating to Caa2 from Caa1 and changed the outlook to negative from stable, citing intensifying external vulnerabilities and liquidity risks as some of the reasons for the downgrade. In June 2019, Fitch also downgraded Zambia’s debt rating by two notches to “CCC”, eight steps below investment grade, citing similar reasons as Moody’s.

Another notable episode was in November 2019 when the Kwacha depreciated by 9.67% because of an elevated demand of foreign exchange for imports of petroleum products, electricity, and agricultural inputs.

The foreign exchange interbank rates are used to determine the BOZ official exchange rates: The BOZ buying rate is the simple average of the AD bid rates, and the selling rate is the simple average of the AD offer rates. The simple averages of the real-time rates collected from the ADs are published on the BOZ website as official rates. The daily official publication times on the BOZ website for 09:30 hrs, 12:30 hrs, and 15:30 hrs are simple averages of the real-time rates collected from the ADs at these respective times. Transactions between the BOZ and the market, and between the BOZ and the government use the mid-exchange (official) rate, calculated as the average of the bid and offer exchange rate quotes provided by ADs in the IFEM. Other members of the public like research institutions and academia use historical exchange rate data published on the BOZ website to conduct research work. In some instances, members of the public request for this information to facilitate awards and compensation for court cases.
In April 2012, the BOZ introduced the policy rate as a key policy instrument to signal the monetary policy stance and anchor inflation expectations. Under this framework, the BOZ manages liquidity conditions in the market so as to ensure that the interbank rate remains within the policy rate corridor, defined as ±2 percentage points around the policy rate. The policy rate corridor is ±1 percentage point around the policy rate. Government, through the Minister of Finance, sets the inflation target range. The Board of the BOZ is composed of the Governor, who is the Chairperson, and six other Directors appointed by the Minister of Finance. The Directors are appointed from among persons with professional or academic experience in business or financial matters and who are not officials or employees of the Bank. The Secretary of the Treasury is an ex-officio member of the Board and without power to vote and does not count for a quorum.

In Zambia, the price stability objective is attained through the achievement and maintenance of inflation within the target range of 6%–8%. Bi-annual publication of the Monetary Policy Statement as required by Law. Currently, the BOZ publishes its inflation forecasts for a period of six months in its Monetary Policy Statement.

Commercial banks negotiate rates for transactions with their nonbank counterparties. For interbank transactions, commercial banks designated as ADs are obliged to provide firm two-way quotes to fellow ADs for the market lot ranging from US$0.5 million to US $1.0 million. For amounts outside the market lot, the two-way quote provided is subject to negotiation.

Eighteen commercial banks are licensed by the BOZ to trade in the IFEM. Commercial banks are the only financial institutions that may engage directly with the BOZ in buying and selling foreign exchange. Foreign exchange bureaus may operate in Zambia and are also licensed by the BOZ. As of June 30, 2020, there were 73 licensed exchange bureaus. They may transact with the public and commercial banks but may not maintain accounts abroad.

Transactions of foreign exchange bureaus are limited to the OTC sale and purchase of foreign exchange banknotes and traveler’s checks.

Foreign currency trades must take place in the IFEM: 17 ADs participate. The BOZ intervenes directly with the ADs at prevailing market rates.

ADs act as market makers to provide firm two-way quotes during business hours. Interbank trades are quoted in lots of US$0.5 million to US$1 million. The bid-ask spread may not exceed K 0.05. For amounts outside the market lot, the two-way quotes provided are subject to negotiation.

Import taxes and/or tariffs
Yes. MFN tariff rates range from 0% to 25%. A number of products are subject to specific rates. Most imports from SADC (since 2012) and COMESA (since 2000) countries are duty free with the exception of goods in the exclusion list of the SADC and COMESA protocols. Some imports are exempt under the Investment Act. Imports from signatories of the COMESA Free Trade Agreement are tax exempt. Effective January 1, 2019, there is an import levy of 5% on copper and cobalt concentrates.

To mitigate the effects of COVID-19 on the economy, various tax relief measures were introduced through Statutory Instruments (SIs). Effective April 1, 2020, to September 30, 2020, the customs duty on specified medical supplies was suspended. Effective April 1, 2020, to December 31, 2020, the import duty on copper ores and concentrates of heading 2603 was suspended. Effective March 1, 2020, the excise duty on ethyl alcohol used in the production of alcohol-based sanitizer by a licensed manufacturer was suspended.

Exchange Measures

The IMF staff report for the 2017 Article IV Consultation with Zimbabwe states that, as of June 19, 2017, the Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe (RBZ) maintained a foreign exchange priority list to direct the allocation of foreign exchange by commercial banks to certain domestic import substitution industries, exporters, and strategic imports. This measure gives rise to an exchange restriction subject to IMF approval under Article VIII, Section 2(a). Staff is also monitoring the authorities’ imposition of other measures to assess whether they give rise to any exchange restriction or MCP subject to Article VIII, Section 2(a) and Section 3. Zimbabwe has also a longstanding exchange restriction subject to IMF jurisdiction arising from unsettled balances under an inoperative bilateral payments agreement with Malaysia. (Country Report No. 17/196)

Exchange Arrangement

Effective March 29, 2020, Notwithstanding SI No. 142 of 2019, any person may pay for goods and services chargeable in Zimbabwe dollars, in foreign currency using his or her free funds at the ruling rate on the date of payment.

Effective June 24, 2019, the currency of Zimbabwe is the Zimbabwe dollar and is the sole legal tender. All other foreign currencies will no longer be legal tender. Previously, effective February 20, 2019, the trading of Real-Time Gross Settlement (RTGS) balances and bond notes was formalized, and thus, the RTGS dollars became part of the multicurrency system. The multicurrency system included nine foreign currencies—the US dollar, South African rand, euro, pound sterling, Botswana pula, the Australian dollar, Chinese renminbi, Indian rupee, and Japanese yen. Earlier in 2016, the RBZ issued bond notes and bond coins, at parity with the US dollar, to alleviate the domestic liquidity conditions. The SI prescribed that a tender of payment of bond notes and coins issued by the RBZ was exchangeable at par value with any specified currency prescribed as legal tender in Zimbabwe and was legal tender in all transactions in...
Zimbabwe.

Effective March 29, 2020, Notwithstanding SI No. 142 of 2019, any person may pay for goods and services chargeable in Zimbabwe dollars, in foreign currency using his or her free funds (funds lawfully held or earned in foreign currency by any person) at the prevailing rate on the date of payment. Previously, effective June 24, 2019, the multi-currency system in place since 2009 was discontinued and the Zimbabwe dollar was the sole legal tender.

Effective February 20, 2019, Zimbabwe adopted a de jure floating exchange rate arrangement, previously a “no separate legal tender” arrangement. The RBZ denominated legally, through SI No. 33 of 2019, the existing RTGS balances, bond notes, and coins in circulation as RTGS dollars making them part of the multi-currency system in Zimbabwe. An interbank foreign exchange market was established to formalize the trading of RTGS dollar balances and bond notes with the US dollars and other currencies on a willing seller-willing buyer basis through banks and bureau de changes. This decision to establish a flexible exchange rate market was taken in consultation with government and business taking into consideration the distortions in the market caused by multi-pricing.

From February 2019, the exchange rate stabilized with one steep realignment in April 2019, followed by increased flexibility while still being managed. Accordingly, the de facto exchange rate arrangement was reclassified to other managed from floating, effective February 20, 2019.

Effective June 24, 2019, the currency of Zimbabwe is the Zimbabwe dollar and is the sole legal tender, replacing at par with the previous RTGS dollar, and the multi-currency system in place since 2009 was discontinued.

Effective June 23, 2020, the RBZ introduced a foreign exchange trading system where the RBZ regularly sells a given amount of foreign exchange through a bidding process and buys foreign exchange in the intervening periods at the previous auction-determined rate.

Monetary aggregate target  Yes.  Effective February 20, 2019, the monetary policy framework is based on targeting monetary aggregates. The RBZ will use reserve money as the operational target for monetary policy. Specifically, the RBZ will target an appropriately calibrated growth in broad money (M3) of about 15% in 2019 (excluding revaluation changes), with a view to help stabilize the macroeconomic environment, support the new currency, and restore investor confidence. To achieve this, the RBZ will use base money (comprised of bond notes and coins, and RTGS dollar balances of banks with RBZ) as an operational target for monetary policy. To achieve these targets, the RBZ will use all instruments at its disposal, including interest rates, changes in the minimum reserve requirements, and open market operations (securities discount window), as needed. Previously, the monetary framework was an exchange rate anchor vis-à-vis the US dollar.

Previously, the RBZ issued bond notes and bond coins, traded at parity with the US dollar.

Foreign exchange bureaus may operate with a license from the RBZ. They may buy and sell foreign currency, receive international receipts, make international money transfers to individual natural persons, and make domestic money transfers.

There are 26 registered money transfer agents (MTAs) and 39 foreign exchange bureaux de change as of June 30, 2020.
Effective June 23, 2020, the RBZ introduced a foreign exchange trading system where the RBZ regularly sells a given amount of foreign exchange through a bidding process and buys foreign exchange in the intervening periods at the previous auction-determined rate.

ADs do business on the international market, either with their foreign parent banks or with unrelated counterparties. ADs also do business among themselves. There were 15 commercial banks, 1 merchant bank (under provisional judicial management of the Deposit Protection Corporation), 5 building societies, and 1 savings bank as of June 30, 2020.

Arrangements for Payments and Receipts

Prescription of currency requirements Yes. International payments may take place only through foreign exchange accounts, which may hold funds in the nine official foreign currencies.

Controls on the use of domestic currency No. There are no controls in the use of domestic currency.

Use of foreign exchange among residents Yes. Effective March 29, 2020, Notwithstanding SI No. 142 of 2019, any person may pay for goods and services chargeable in Zimbabwe dollars, in foreign currency using his or her free funds at the ruling rate on the date of payment. Previously, effective June 24, 2019, residents may not use any foreign currency for transactions in Zimbabwe. Before that residents could conduct business in any of the nine official foreign currencies.

Payments arrangements Yes.

Bilateral payments arrangements Yes.

There are arrangements with Botswana, Libya, Malawi, Malaysia, Namibia, and South Africa.
Regional arrangements  Yes.  Zimbabwe is a member of several regional economic blocks—that is, the SADC and COMESA.

Clearing agreements  Yes.  Zimbabwe is a member of the COMESA Clearing House.

Barter agreements and open accounts  No.

Administration of control  Yes.  Exchange Control is administered by the RBZ under authority delegated to it by the Ministry of Finance and Economic Development (MOFED) through the Exchange Control Act (Chapter 22:05), Exchange Control SI No. 145 of 1997 and Nos. 109 and 110 of 1996, and Exchange Control directives. The SIs are being amended to reflect the liberalization of the Exchange Control framework and are awaiting promulgation through the government gazette.

Payments arrears  No.

Official  No.

Private  No.

Controls on trade in gold (coins and/or bullion)  Yes.  No one, either as principal or agent, may deal in or possess gold unless that person is (1) the holder of a license or a permit, (2) the holder or the distributor of a registered gold mining location, or (3) an employee or an agent of (1) or (2) and is authorized to deal in or possess gold already in the lawful possession of the employer or principal. A mining commissioner may issue to any person a permit authorizing the acquisition, possession, or disposal of less than one troy ounce of gold. For larger amounts, permission must be issued by the secretary for mines. Under the Gold Trade Act, three types of licenses may be issued: gold dealing, gold recovery, and gold assaying. Gold obtained from a registered mining location must be turned over to the holder of its gold dealing license no later than the 10th day of the month, except with specific permission from the mining commissioner or the appropriate minister. Smelting of gold or articles containing gold requires a license from a district commissioner in accordance with the Secondhand Goods Act, which authorizes the possession of smelting equipment. The 2014 National Budget Statement presented by the minister of finance and economic development on December 19, 2013, states that only Fidelity Printers and Refiners (an RBZ subsidiary) may buy and export gold.

On domestic ownership and/or trade  Yes.  Exportation of unmanufactured gold is controlled and licensed by the Ministry of Mines and Mining Development and the MOFED; these controls do not apply to the RBZ. Producers and exporters must apply to the MOFED for a gold license and to Fidelity Printers and Refiners for a gold export certificate after assaying. Exporters must apply to the RBZ for authorization to export gold. The importation of gold is controlled by the Gold Trade Act. Gold producers may sell their gold for foreign currency and retain the proceeds indefinitely in their foreign exchange accounts. Fidelity Printers and Refiners is the sole buyer and exporter of gold.

Controls on exports and imports of banknotes  Yes.

On exports  Yes.

Domestic currency  No.

Foreign currency  Yes.  The limit on the amount of cash that can be exported in baggage or on person is US$2,000 a trip. Amounts above this threshold are subject to specific approval from the RBZ. The limit applies to both individual residents and nonresidents.

On imports  No.

Domestic currency  No.

Foreign currency  No. Foreign currency and traveler’s checks may be imported without restriction but must be declared on entry to facilitate re-exportation and checks on money-laundering tendencies.

Resident Accounts

Held domestically  Yes. Individuals and firms may open with an AD up to nine foreign exchange accounts denominated in US dollars, South African rand, Botswana pula, pounds sterling, euros, Chinese renminbi, Australian dollars, Japanese yen, and Indian rupees. These may be (1) individual foreign exchange accounts—the balance may be transferred abroad without restriction, including for capital account transfers; (2) general corporate foreign exchange accounts—these hold balances of locally earned foreign currency of companies, state enterprises, and public entities and may be freely transferred abroad for current account transactions. Capital account transfers require Exchange Control approval; and (3) export corporate foreign exchange accounts—these hold foreign currency earned by resident companies (including state enterprises and public entities) through exports and may be freely transferred abroad for current account transactions. Capital account transfers require Exchange Control approval. Funds may be held in these accounts indefinitely. Account holders may withdraw any amount of cash from their foreign exchange accounts. Individuals may deposit any amount with banks on a know-your-customer basis. The designation of Foreign Currency Accounts (FCAs) was changed in 2015. To reduce the administrative burden on ADs and account holders, the RBZ transformed the FCA framework that was based on Source of Funds Concept into a new FCA framework based on the Account Holder Concept. Under the new framework, the RBZ re-designated FCAs with a view to providing operational simplicity, convenience to the account holder, and reduction in costs. The FCAs were re-designated and consolidated using the Account Holder Concept into the following two categories: (1) Corporate FCAs (CFCAs) and (2) Individual FCAs (IFCAs).

Approval required  No.

Held abroad  Yes. Foreign exchange accounts held abroad require approval from the RBZ. The balances may be repatriated according to the Exchange Control approval conditions.

Approval required  Yes. Firms may open accounts with Exchange Control approval. Banks may open accounts abroad on notification to Exchange Control. Individuals do not require approval from the RBZ.

previously a “no separate legal tender” arrangement. The RBZ denominated legally, through Statutory Instrument No. 33 of 2019, the existing Real-Time Gross Settlement (RTGS) balances, bond notes, and coins in circulation as RTGS dollars making them part of the multi-currency system in Zimbabwe. An interbank foreign exchange market was established to formalize the trading of RTGS dollar balances and bond notes with the US dollars and other currencies on a willing seller-willing buyer basis through banks and bureaux de change. This decision to establish a flexible exchange rate market was taken in consultation with Government and business taking into consideration the distortions in the market caused by multi-pricing.

From February 2019, the exchange rate stabilized with one steep realignment in April 2019, followed by increased flexibility while still being managed. Accordingly, the de facto exchange rate arrangement was reclassified to other managed from floating.

The currency of Zimbabwe is the Zimbabwe dollar and is the sole legal tender, replacing at par with the previous Real-Time Gross Settlement dollar, and the multi-currency system in place since 2009 was discontinued.

The RBZ introduced a foreign exchange trading system where the RBZ regularly sells a given amount of foreign exchange through a bidding process and buys foreign exchange in the intervening periods at the previous auction-determined rate.

The monetary policy framework was changed from exchange rate anchor to monetary aggregate target.

The existing Real-Time Gross Settlement (RTGS) balances, bond notes, and coins in circulation were denominated as RTGS dollars, and trading was formalized of RTGS balances and bond notes with US dollars and other currencies on a willing-buyer willing-seller basis through banks and bureaux de change. Previously, the RBZ issued bond notes and bond coins, traded at parity with the US dollar.

The RBZ introduced a foreign exchange trading system where the RBZ regularly sells a given amount of foreign exchange through a bidding process and buys foreign exchange in the intervening periods at the previous auction-determined rate.

The RBZ introduced a foreign exchange trading system where the RBZ regularly sells a given amount of foreign exchange through a bidding process and buys foreign exchange in the intervening periods at the previous auction-determined rate. Previously, the RBZ did not provide significant foreign exchange to the economy and most foreign currency trading took place in the private market.

Residents may not use any foreign currency for transactions in Zimbabwe. Previously, residents could conduct business in any of the nine official foreign currencies.

Any person may pay for goods and services chargeable in Zimbabwe dollars, in foreign currency using his or her free funds at the ruling rate on the date of payment.
