

©2021 International Monetary Fund

Climate-Sensitive Management of Public Finances—“Green PFM”

IMF Staff Climate Note 2021/002

Fabien Gonguet, Claude Wendling, Ozlem Aydin, and Bryn Battersby

DISCLAIMER: The IMF Notes Series aims to quickly disseminate succinct IMF analysis on critical economic issues to member countries and the broader policy community. The IMF Staff Climate Notes provide analysis related to the impact of climate change on macroeconomic and financial stability, including on mitigation, adaptation, and transition. The views expressed in IMF Staff Climate Notes are those of the author(s), although they do not necessarily represent the views of the IMF, or its Executive Board, or its management.

RECOMMENDED CITATION: Gonguet, Fabien, Claude Wendling, Ozlem Aydin, and Bryn Battersby. 2021. “Climate-Sensitive Management of Public Finances—“Green PFM.” IMF Staff Climate Note 2021/002, International Monetary Fund, Washington, DC.

ISBN:	978-1-51358-304-4 (Paper) 978-1-51359-027-1 (ePub) 978-1-51359-060-8 (PDF)
JEL Classification Numbers:	H61, Q54, Q58
Keywords:	Public financial management, green budgeting, green public financial management, mainstreaming, climate change adaptation, climate change mitigation.
Authors' email addresses:	FGonguet@imf.org CWendling@imf.org OAydinSakrak@imf.org BBattersby@imf.org